GOV. ROOSEVELT TELLS PLANS TO AID THE FARMER

Charges Hoover Did Not Try To.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Topeka, Kas., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Admitting there is no political magic which overnight will lift the American farmer into Utopian prosperity, Franklin D. Roosevelt today told a gathering of Kansas farmers that he stands ready and eager to work with them "toward a lasting solution of their problems."

The Democratic candidate for the presidency, addressing himself to all farmers over the nation, laid down his idea of six essentials as the keystone of a plan for immediate farm relief.

He pledged himself to take steps to achieve a permanent betterment of the farmer's lot, and meanwhile to find effective means of giving emergency aid toward lifting his blight of debt and taxation.

Cut Off the Air.

Standing for more than an hour under a blazing midday sun, Mr. Roosevelt loosed blasts of criticism against President Hoover and the Republican administration which outscorched even the heat of the Kansas sun.

Gov. Roosevelt began to receive telegrams, immediately after he delivered his address, from citizens in far parts of the country who had listened to him over the radio. It was revealed that the radio broadcast, put on a national hookup, was abruptly cut off when Gov. Roosevelt was only two-thirds through his speech, and the end of the address, in which the governor's blasts against President Hoover were touched off, were lost entirely to the radio audience.

Several thousand sons of earth inured in their own fields to that Kansas sun, stood in the grounds of the state capitol building, from the steps of which the Democratic candidate spoke. They applauded the candidate for the promises he held out for their salvation. The Roosevelt managers accounted it a rousing and most satisfactory reception.

"Shadow of Peasantry."

As the governor drew a picture of "the shadow of peasantry" hanging over six and a half million farm families his listeners stood patiently while he sketched out his plan for their permanent relief. This may be gained, he declared, by letting down the tariff walls which make it impossible for foreign nations to buy American farm products; by reorganizing the department of agriculture to weed out useless and costly "underbrush," and by setting forth upon a program of national planning which he thinks will result in preventing price killing surpluses and establishing crop controls.

The Kansans cheered longest and loudest when Mr. Roosevelt proposed as a permanent relief for agriculture a cutting down of the tax rates on land, a clearing away of "governmental underbrush," and an end to an extravagant bureaucracy at Washington.

Gives Sixfold Plan.

For "immediate relief"—and when the New York governor came to this phrase the attention of his audience was at its best—the governor put out his sixfold plan. Stated succinctly, the program holds at the outset that any plan to be adopted for the relief of agriculture must provide that the producers of farm products must be given a tariff benefit over world prices which will be equivalent to the tariff benefits given to industry.

The governor, while thus proposing that farm prices should be sustained, did not advocate any specific method to accomplish this end.

Mr. Roosevelt hurled against President Hoover and the Republican leadership the most devastating condemnation he has yet visited upon his opponent since the campaign began.

The Democratic candidate charged that the President has doomed the nation's farmer and their families to "starvation," and that the Hoover policy has "closed the last door of hope," to the tillers of the soil.

The Republican farm tariff is a "ghastly fraud," Gov. Roosevelt cried out, and his voice rose as he declared that the Republican tariff bill had imposed taxes in greatest measure on imports which American farmers do not and could not raise at all, such as rubber, silk, coffee and tea.

"The list includes such American farm products," declared the governor ironically, "as elephants' tusks, skins of the Russian ermine and wallaby; and elks' hides. The truth

Disclose Story of Insull's Ouster

LOAN TO RESCUE BROTHER LEADS TO RESIGNATION

Last Days as Utility Receiver Bared.

Samuel Insull was relieved of his connection with the Middle West Utilities receivership and all of his official connections in the companies he had created June 6, when it became known that he had signed vouchers for money to be used by his brother, Martin, in supporting the latter's speculative transactions in the stock market.

This news became known yesterday through the statement of a financier who has been closely associated with the attempts to unravel the Insull snarl.

Samuel Insull, who at the peak of his financing might have sold his holdings for above a hundred millions, was a large trader in the market, chiefly in his own issues. Many of the higher executives in the various Insull companies also were engaged in stock market trading. They are said to have felt encouraged to buy to the limit in view of the apparent success of the companies.

Disaster When Market Fell.

These purchases of stock were most often on margins, supported by the rising prices of the stocks. When the market began falling there was no new support and these officials found themselves staring into bankruptcy. Among these officials have been found those whose promissory notes, made payable to various Insull companies, represent losses which probably never can be made good within a normal lifetime.

Martin Insull was among those who maintained trading accounts in La Salle street. The account in question as affecting the retirement of Samuel Insull is said to have required margins well in excess of $100,000. It was to supply these margins that money was drawn from the treasury of one of the principal companies. The money was furnished on the authority of Samuel Insull.

Judge Lindley's Ruling.

When this record came to the attention of the men active in the receivership it was reported to Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley. Judge Lindley instantly ruled that Samuel Insull should no longer remain in his position as receiver even though it had seemed necessary to retain him as being the one person who could explain the thousand and one intricacies of his utilities financing.

In the meantime the situation was being discussed by a group of bankers. The result of the conference was a decision that Stanley Field, as representative of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company, should present to Insull the only step for him to take—complete abdication of all his authority.

"Mr. Insull listened quietly to the ultimatum," is the way the story is reported. "He did not offer the slightest objection but instantly complied with the terms laid before him. Resignations to all his positions, including receiverships, were signed and he immediately retired from all participation."

Last Days of the Empire.

But another glimpse of Insull before his retirement is discovered in the remarks of an old friend and associate.

"I was out of Chicago for several days," said this man. "Every day I had a telephone call from Mr. Insull. Most often these calls would come before I was out of bed. And the conversations were always of the lightest character. Never about business.

"'How are you feeling?' he would ask. 'How is your golf game?' And when I would ask after his health Mr. Insull would invariably answer that he was in fine fettle.

"The day I returned to Chicago he telephoned to me. It was something important, he said, too important to explain on the telephone. He said he would send a man from his office. And soon after a man came from his office to tell me that Mr. Insull had resigned from everything.

"Glad It's All Over.

"When I saw Mr. Insull next I asked him why he resigned after telling me he was in such fine health and spirits.

"'I didn't tell you the truth,' he said. 'I haven't had a decent night's rest in weeks. I wanted to talk to you, so I telephoned. I have been

THE FIRST BOWLDER OF THE LANDSLIDE

POLICE CAPTAIN'S SON, 17, PROVES THIEF'S UNDOING

Joseph Maher, 17 years old, son of the late Police Captain Thomas Maher and brother of Sergt. Thomas Maher, secretary to Commissioner Allman, last night followed the family tradition while playing at being a detective. He grappled and captured an automobile thief after trailing him through north side streets.

Maher was riding in his automobile when he saw four men in a car at Lawrence and Kenmore acting suspiciously. He followed them. At 6214 Winthrop avenue the car stopped and one of the men stepped into an automobile parked at the curb and drove away with Maher following through numerous twistings and turnings. Finally the thief became suspicious and sped into Devon avenue. At Sheridan road the stolen car hit a tree and the driver leaped out and fled on foot. Maher ran after him.

The thief ran into the path of an automobile and was knocked down. Maher leaped upon him and held him until Policeman Walter Shea made the arrest. At the Rogers Park police station the man gave his name as Emil Dambrowski, 22 years old, 2039 Crystal street. His injuries were treated at the Rogers Park hospital. Police said he has a record as an auto thief. J. T. Schack, 6214 Winthrop avenue, owner of the stolen car, signed a complaint against him.

TEXAS' SENATE SENDS GREETING TO MAINE VOTERS

Austin, Tex., Sept. 14.—(AP)—The Texas senate today commended the people of Maine for restoring the Democratic party to power in that state.

The senate adopted unanimously a resolution congratulating the citizens of Maine for "having taken the reins of government from the hands of special privilege and having pointed the way by which the people may take charge of the national government."

William Z. Foster Stricken; Cancels Red Campaign Tour

William Z. Foster, communist candidate for President, who is in Chicago, is seriously ill and has canceled all campaign speeches, it was announced last night by his party headquarters in New York. Dr. Solon Bernstein of New York is quoted as saying that it would be suicide for Foster to continue his tour, because he is suffering from angina pectoris, a form of heart disease which may cause instant death.

Cermak Home Today; Plan Parade in Loop

As workmen polished the brass doors of the city hall yesterday in anticipation of Mayor Cermak's return from his European vacation, details of the parade and civic celebration which will welcome the mayor home today were made public by County Recorder Clayton F. Smith, a member of the committee on arrangements.

The mayor and the officials and party leaders who met his ship at New York will arrive at 1 o'clock in the La Salle street station. A parade will escort Mayor Cermak to the La Salle street entrance of the city hall. On a platform there 150 civic, business and labor representatives will be waiting for a program of speeches.

Among those who will ride in the parade in the white official city automobile with Mayor Cermak will be Col. A. A. Sprague, commissioner of public works.

Rufus C. Dawes, president of the Century of Progress exposition, and George W. Rossetter, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, will also ride with the mayor. They and Col. Sprague are among the scheduled speakers.

Police to Head Parade.

The parade will be headed by a squadron of mounted police, who will start the line of march at La Salle street and Jackson boulevard. Following them will be detachments of police and firemen, on foot, and a 30 piece band. Next will march representatives of the first ten wards of the city, headed in most cases by their aldermen. The official car, with Mayor Cermak, Col. Sprague, Mr. Rossetter, and Mr. Dawes, will appear next.

Following them will be representatives of the other wards.

No banners or badges of any description will be permitted in the parade except the official badges distributed by the arrangements committe, Mr. Smith said. These are small heart shaped tags bearing a picture of Mayor Cermak and the inscription, "Welcome Home—Our Mayor."

CERMAK SEES BANKERS

New York, Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Mayor Anton J. Cermak, accompanied by the delegation which came here to welcome him back from Europe, left for Chicago late this afternoon after a busy day in which banking and political conferences were held.

The Chicago mayor's first official act after his arrival on the liner Bremen was to begin laying the groundwork to obtain money for city employés. While the executive was still relaxing aboard his ship, Controller M. S. Szymczak had arranged for the mayor to be the guest of honor at a bankers' luncheon in the private dining room of the Chase National bank.

No Request for Money.

The meeting was held at noon today with fifteen officials of the leading New York banking and insurance companies present.

"We made no specific request for money and there was no offer of a loan," said Controller Szymczak just before the Chicagoans left for home.

Mayor Cermak told the bankers what had been done to reduce the budget and straighten out the tax situation in Chicago. He pointed out that the tax assessment machinery was being reorganized and that the county budget had been greatly cut and the city budget for 1932 had been reduced 24 per cent under the former year. He told them what had been done and was being done to insure normal collections of taxes, explained to them that the city had not defaulted on any of its bonds and that it was not bankrupt.

The controller said Mayor Cermak had made a splendid impression on the bankers and that "the atmosphere was favorable."

Hoover Warns Bonus Would Wreck Nation

Legion Votes Today

The American Legion in its national convention in Portland expects to vote today on the hotly fought issue of full and immediate payment of the soldier bonus. The legislation committee by a vote of 21 to 9 demands immediate payment. Details on page 2.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—President Hoover, not waiting for the action of the Portland convention of the American Legion, today came out with a statement reiterating strongly and in detail his opposition to immediate payment of the bonus.

Carrying out his behest of yesterday when he said that leaders of his campaign must make a "renewed and stronger effort that the people may fully understand the issues at stake," the President asserted that he had opposed payment of the bonus and would continue to do so.

He wished, he said, to make his position plain before the country and the veterans.

Nor was the payment of the bonus the only issue to receive the official and political attention of the President.

Plans to Invade Central West.

Mr. Hoover decided today, following Gov. Roosevelt's speech at Topeka, that he, too, will invade the central west and give a Republican answer to the Democratic nominee's exposition of the farm problem.

In his declaration concerning the bonus the President reminded the veterans that his duty lay not alone in seeing that the ex-service man received his due, but that he also must regard the welfare of the rest of the nation.

"I have the duty not alone to see that justice and a sympathetic attitude is taken by this nation toward the four million veterans and their families, but also to exert myself for justice to the other twenty-one million families to whom consummation of this proposal at this time would be a calamity," President Hoover said.

"Cash payment of face value of certificates today would require an appropriation from the treasury of about $2,800,000,000. No matter how or in what form the payment to the veterans is imposed it will come out of all these families, but, of more importance, it will indefinitely set back any hope of recovery for employment, agriculture, or business and will impose infinite distress upon the whole country. We owe justice and generosity to the men who have served under our flag. Our people have tried to discharge that obligation. Regular expenditures on account of the veterans already constitute nearly a billion a year, or almost one-fourth of our whole federal budget.

Must Think of Nation as a Whole.

"Every right thinking man has the deepest sympathy for the veteran suffering from disability, for those out of work, or for veterans on farms struggling with the adversities of the depression. No one who began life in the humble circumstances that I did and who at the earliest and most impressionable age learned the meaning of poverty from actual experience, can be lacking in feeling and understanding of the problems and sufferings of these men and their families. I have seen war at first hand. I know the courage, the sacrifice of our soldiers.

"But there are many million others in the same circumstances. They, too, must be entitled to consideration. Their employment and their farm re-

Police and Gunmen in Thrilling Battle.

Four bystanders were shot and several thousand pedestrians were imperiled by bullets and careening automobiles when a carload of gunmen drew three police cars into a running gun fight through downtown streets at the height of the traffic rush last evening. The wounded are:

EDWARD SLIWA, 20 years old, 5135 McVicker avenue, a tailor, shot in the left lung. He is in critical condition at the county hospital.

CHESTER LONG, 40 years old, a postoffice clerk of 6234 Ingleside avenue, shot in the left arm below the shoulder. He was treated at the Iroquois hospital.

WALTER PARKER, 17 years old, a newsboy of 1037 South Lytle street, struck in the right leg. He was treated at the Iroquois hospital and sent home.

WILLIAM MAGINNI, 48 years old, 901 Galt avenue, a steamship agent and former captain in the Italian army. Shot in the left shoulder. He was taken to Columbus Memorial hospital.

All the six or seven gunmen in the fight escaped. The police, believing one or more of them to have been wounded, were checking hospitals and doctors' offices last night.

Use Stolen Auto.

The stolen car in which the hoodlums fled was rammed by a coal truck in the final phase of the chase. It wabbled on for a few blocks until, at Taylor and Newberry streets, a wheel dropped off. The gunmen fled on foot, finding cover in adjacent alleys. Fresh bloodstains were found on the cushions of the abandoned car and the tonneau contained several bullet holes.

Observers said the battle was the most spectacular in Chicago since gang enemies of Jack Zuta waylaid him in State street several years ago and foiled pursuit with a smoke screen. Police estimated that 50,000 persons witnessed various stages of the chase.

On Way to Accident.

The clash was precipitated by the casual gesture of a South Park traffic policeman stationed at Michigan avenue and Monroe street. Two city policemen, Fred W. Mueller and E. C. Douglas of the accident prevention bureau, were driving south in Michigan to investigate an accident on the south side.

The investigators wished to swing east over Monroe street to the outer drive. The traffic officer signaled them to continue straight ahead.

The signal, the officers later surmised, must have been seen by the gangsters, riding in a closely curtained, blue sedan in another traffic lane just ahead. The hoodlums, it is supposed, construed the signal as an indication they were suspected.

Race Down Avenue.

Had they driven on quietly, no shooting would have followed. Evidently they were seized with panic. The sedan squeezed out of the traffic lane and, with gathering speed, raced down the avenue at 50 miles an hour.

Police whistles shrilled and the siren on the pursuing police car began to screech. Pedestrian traffic parted before the speeding sedan. The fugitives, disregarding a red traffic light, swung west into Jackson for a block and then turned north in Wabash avenue.

The siren's wail rose above the roar of elevated trains. Wabash avenue street cars jolted to a stop. The department stores were pouring shoppers into Wabash avenue and traffic policemen kept pedestrians off the streets, believing fire trucks were in motion.

Narrowly Misses Post.

Weaving between street cars, taxis and elevated pillars, the sedan shot north to Madison street. Narrowly missing an elevated post, it skidded west without slacking speed. A block west, at State and Madison streets, so-called busiest corner in the world, another red light showed.

The siren of the pursuing car opened a lane. The sedan streaked across the "busiest corner," at 55 miles an hour while thousands of pedestrians stared. The shoppers saw the butt of a shotgun poked through the sedan's rear windows, to be replaced an instant later by the muzzle.

Police Get Reinforcements.

Here the accident prevention men got their first reinforcement. Detective Henry Jansen, chauffeur for Chief of Detectives Schoemaker, was in the chief's car, which was parked at the Madison street entrance of the Boston store, facing west.

Hearing a siren and a blast of gunfire, Jansen shoved his machine into gear and joined the chase. At Dearborn street bullets from the sedan chipped the pavement at the feet of Policeman Edward Moriarty, directing traffic there.

Recognizing Chief Shoemaker's car, Moriarty drew his pistol and swung on the running board as the chauffeur slowed down. Bullets from two cars were now peppering the fugitive sedan.

Gain on Gangsters' Car.

Dodging between street cars, passenger cars and trucks, Policemen Mueller and Douglas gained on their quarry. They had moved up within thirty feet of the sedan and their bullet proof windshield was being spattered with bullets when the fugitives made another desperate effort to shake off pursuit.

Slowing down to about 40 miles an hour they whirled south in Clark street, the sedan skidding on two wheels.

The first casualties occurred in the Clark street chase. Sliwa and Charles Long were among the pedestrians who crowded into the lobby of the Princess theater at 319 South Clark street as the cars shot past. Bullets, richocheting from the pavement behind the sedan, struck them down.

At Van Buren street the pursuing police got further reenforcements. Lieut. Walter Storms and his chauffeur, Patrolman Arthur Fitzgerald, were at Clark and Van Buren streets waiting for the traffic light to change.

Storms Joins Chase.

As the curtained sedan whizzed by, Storms, who is deputy chief of detectives, ordered his chauffeur to join the chase. The deputy's car swung in behind the other three.

The race turned east in Van Buren street. Bullets were streaming from four cars and two more bystanders fell. Maginni was standing in front of 59 West Van Buren street when hit. The newsboy, Parker, was at his stand at the corner.

The chase went only one short block on Van Buren street, the speed of the fugitives being lessened by the posts of the elevated line. At Dearborn street they turned south once more, raced to Harrison street, and there turned west in the hope, apparently, of losing the police in the alleys of the near southwest side.

Struck by Truck.

At Wells street the traffic was against them. The coal truck, bearing down upon them from the south, rammed the rear of the sedan, swinging the light car in a half arc and jolting loose the rear bumper and loosening the left rear wheel.

The sedan straightened out and sped on, gaining many yards as the truck for three minutes cut off the pursuers. The chase zigzagged through alleys and side streets until, at Taylor and Newberry streets, the wheel twisted off the axle and the sedan swerved to the curb.

Spectators saw the occupants, one of whom wore a light hat and a blood stained coat, leap from the car and scatter to the adjacent alleys. Police came upon the auto three minutes later, and checked the license plates of the sedan.

The machine, they learned, had been reported stolen last Sunday at 10:30 p. m. from in front of the home of the owner, William S. Berman, 5625 Winthrop avenue.

HOOVER WARNS AGAINST BONUS AND TELLS WHY

Cash Payment Now Would Wreck Nation, He Says.

covery, as well as that of the veterans, can be secured only by the restoration of the normal economic life of the nation. To that end we have been and are devoting our best efforts. Anything that stands in the way must be opposed. The welfare of the nation as a whole must take precedence over the demands of any particular group."

The President was confident the attitude of the veterans was based on a misunderstanding of the bonus law. He pointed out that to pay the bonus now would require not only the aggregate of the 13 annual installments of 112 million dollars which the government is to pay into the bonus retirement fund before the certificates mature in 1945, but that it would also mean that the treasury must furnish the compound interest on the installments.

To pay the bonus now therefore, the President explained, would add about two and a half billion dollars to the sum the people were obligated to pay when congress passed the bonus law.

"No such sum is available," President Hoover went on. "It cannot be raised by adding to the crushing burden of taxes which drain every family budget in our country today and weigh heavily on business struggling in the midst of depression. It cannot be borrowed without impairment of the credit of the national government and thus destroy that confidence upon which our whole system depends.

Warns Against Flat Money.

"It is unthinkable that the government of the United States should resort to the printing press and the issuance of fiat currency as provided in the bill which passed the house at the last session of congress under the leadership of the Democratic vice presidental candidate. Such an act of moral bankruptcy would depreciate and might ultimately destroy the value of every dollar in the United States. It would cause the collapse of all confidence in our government and would bring widespread ruin to the entire country and to every one of our citizens."

The President recalled Daniel Webster's warning against tampering with the currency, then concluded:

"Let us not forget that while we have lost much in this depression we still have much more to lose. And our whole future may be said to depend upon early recovery.

Perils Recovery, He Asserts.

"For many months the right thinking men of both parties have been engaged in organizing and mobilizing the resources of the nation to promote the economic recovery which is the one sure and effective means of restoring the standard of living of all of our people and rescuing millions of them from suffering and misery.

"The proposal to levy over two billions of dollars and to pay it to a particular group constitutes a fatal threat to the entire program of recovery, to the success of which all must look for their well being, security and happiness. In my judgment the enactment of any such proposal into legislation would be a deadly blow at the welfare of the nation. I was elected to protect and promote the interests of all of the people. As long as I am President I shall continue to do so and to oppose with all of the strength and influence at my command any demand that runs counter to the common welfare."

The exact time and place for the President's farm speech have not been settled.

Legion Convention to Vote Today on Payment of Bonus

Portland, Ore., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Full and immediate cash payment of the soldier bonus was recommended today by the legislative committee of the American Legion, but debate and a vote on the subject by the annual convention was delayed until tomorrow. The committee announced it could not make a full report on all resolutions before it until then.

Chicago was formally selected as the 1933 convention city of the Legion. The time of the convention will be left to the executive committee.

Report Censure Plan Beaten.

An authoritative Legion source said tonight the resolutions committee of the American Legion had rejected a proposal offered by the Pennsylvania delegation censuring President Hoover for evicting the bonus marchers from Washington, D. C., by use of troops.

The informant, who refused to permit the use of his name, said a milder substitute for this resolution likewise was rejected.

The decision, it was said, was reached in an executive session of the committee and the members were pledged to secrecy until the resolutions committee reports tomorrow.

The legislative committee announced it had voted 21 to 9 in favor of the bonus, and the Nebraska delegation, while not intending to bring out a minority report, made it known it would fight adoption of the majority report.

Majority for Payment.

A majority of departments, in state conventions, already have voted in favor of immediate payment.

Resolutions favoring repeal of national dry laws, denouncing adherence of the United States to the world court and opposing cancellation of European war debts were recommended by subcommittees, while the convention approved a resolution expressing vigorous opposition to official recognition of soviet Russia.

The bonus resolution finally agreed upon was a consolidation of forty-three separate proposals, twenty-eight of them asking immediate payment, thirteen containing qualifying clauses, and two opposing immediate payment.

A compromise resolution submitted by Robert W. Reed, head of the Missouri delegation, proposing payment of the bonus "as soon as it can be done in safety to the financial structure of the nation," was tabled by the committee. The action was taken, it was explained, on the ground the Legion could not commit itself on any plan of payment.

Nine departments opposed the bonus in the committee hearing. They were Arizona, Connecticut, Delaware, Missouri, Nebraska, South Carolina, Vermont, Wyoming, and the Hawaiian islands.

Before bonus payment is brought to the floor for the vote of the 1,389 delegates to the convention, Brig. Gen. Frank Hines, veterans bureau administrator, asked the Legionnaires to study "with an open mind" expenditures for veterans' relief.

Points to High Taxes.

"Taxes now represent roughly $1 per acre for each acre of farm land in the United States," he said, and added, "There is already a tendency on the part of some of our legislators who have hitherto been our most loyal defenders to criticize further demands as unwarranted."

Hines pointed out that veterans appropriations have grown from 442 million dollars in 1923 to 927 million this year.

Demands for increase in the strength of the army and navy were enthusiastically approved by the convention in adopting the national defense committee's report.

Griffin Bill Assailed.

Another resolution condemned the Griffin bill and "other legislation which would admit aliens to citizenship without the requirement of an oath to bear arms in defense of the nation."

The Legion commended the activities of "those posts which in the last year have boldly resisted radical and communistic activities."

The Chicago Board of Trade Legion post band won the 1932 national convention band contest and the $1,000 first prize today. The Jacob E. Miller post band of Beaver Dam, Wis., won second prize of $500, and the North Dakota 40 and 8 department band third and $250. Armin F. Hand of Chicago, director of the championship band, was awarded a bugle offered by a local music house. Sam Deitsch, drum major of the Chicago band, was awarded a baton.

WOMAN DRIVER IS HELD AFTER AUTO KILLS MAN

Police Recover Liquor Thrown from Car.

Mrs. A. J. Beck, 34 years old, 4923 North Kildare avenue, was charged with manslaughter by the Albany Park police last night as the inquest into the death of Louis Kortum, 57 years old, 3098 Addison street, a tile setter, was continued until Oct. 4. Kortum was fatally injured earlier in the day when he was struck by Mrs. Beck's automobile in front of his home.

At the inquest in the undertaking rooms at 5310 Belmont avenue witnesses testified Mrs. Beck was speeding and threw a bottle of liquor from her car after the accident. The bottle was not broken.

Says Liquor Was for Cold.

Mrs. Beck said she purchased the liquor on a prescription for a cold. Deputy Coroner Emil Seiten, a graduate pharmacist, declared the liquor to be moonshine. The inquest was continued to permit an analysis.

Kortum's car broke down Tuesday evening. A friend, Emil Timm, 3641 North Albany avenue, towed him to his home after midnight. As Kortum was loosening the tow rope he was struck by Mrs. Beck's car and crushed against Timm's machine. Kortum's left leg was severed in the accident, and he died in the Belmont hospital.

Kortum's death and one other raised the 1932 Cook county motor toll to 806. The other victim:

John Mruk, 25 years old, 2923 North Francisco avenue. Fatally injured when he was thrown from a truck being driven north in North Wood street by his cousin, Walter Boyea, 2031 North California avenue, when they struck rough pavement at Division street.

Driver Held for Death.

Adolph Mogil, 29 years old, 1113 North Mozart street, a lamp manufacturer, was held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter yesterday at the coroner's inquest into the death of Attorney William A. Quinn, 74 years old. He died in the county hospital of injuries received Monday when he was struck by an automobile at Lake and La Salle streets, near his office.

Mogil, it was testified, took Attorney Quinn to the hospital, telling a policeman that he had found the injured man lying in the street at Lake and Halsted streets.

Dr. Michael Marcowich, 30 years old, a dentist of 3495 Pennsylvania street, Hammond, was booked at Hammond police station on a manslaughter charge last night an hour after his car struck and killed William Reiner, 23 years old, a seaman of Philadelphia, who had come to Hammond on a freighter. Three other motorists, seeing the dentist drive away, captured him.

William Walters, 21 years old, 813 West 10th street, Michigan City, a chauffeur, was killed early this morning when the truck he was driving collided with a large sedan driven by George Powers, 6717 South Sangamon street, Chicago, chauffeur for Patrick Sullivan, a member of the Board of Trade, a mile and a half east of Gary on the Dunes' highway. Powers was not injured but Miss Anna Brewer, 1907 West Washington street, Michigan City, who was riding with him, received a broken arm. Powers was held on a manslaughter charge.

GOTHAM SOCIETY GIRL RUN OVER BY TRAIN IN SUBWAY; MAY DIE

New York, Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Miss Martha Turner, 23 years old, member of New York's younger set and whose family is socially prominent, was run over and critically injured early today by a northbound I. R. T. local on the east side subway line.

For four hours she was on the operating table at Bellevue hospital and underwent the amputation of the right hand, three fingers of the left and a blood transfusion. She also is suffering from a compound fracture of the left leg.

Miss Turner is the daughter of Harold M. Turner of the firm of Turner, Halsey & Co., cotton converters, and she is a graduate of the Bearley school.

BULLETS IMPERIL WOMEN AS RIDE VICTIM ESCAPES

Three women were endangered by stray bullets yesterday when a supposed gang assassination went awry in the rear of 5609 South Peoria street. The intended victim escaped from two men who fired at him. A short time before the shooting a telephone call informed New City police that two men were driving south in Ashland boulevard with a third man, apparently a prisoner, struggling to get out of their automobile.

In the rear of the Peoria street address the intended ride victim got free and fled under the fire of his captors. He dashed into the kitchen in which were Mrs. William O'Carroll and her daughter, May, 18 years old, as four bullets smashed glass and woodwork in the room.

"For God's sake, call the police," the man pleaded. "They're trying to get me."

He ran on through the house and escaped by the front door. Another bullet fired by the two men in the car went through a passageway in the building in which the O'Carrolls live and struck the front porch of a building across the street, at No. 5606. Mrs. Gertrude Peutz, who lives there, was standing a few feet away.

The two gunmen escaped.

GROCER IS KILLED RESISTING THREE BANDITS IN STORE

John Luptak, 37 years old, was shot and fatally wounded last night when he resisted a holdup by three bandits in his grocery at 3733 North New England avenue. Luptak died in the arms of his wife and two children, Rudolph, 9 years old, and Ellen, 10 years old, who ran to him from their living quarters in the rear of the store as the robbers fled.

JOHN LUPTAK.

Luptak was waiting on Edward Nichols, 11 years old, 3647 North New England avenue, when the bandits entered. One of them asked for a pound of boiled ham. Luptak called to his wife in the living quarters to fill the order. Before she could enter the store one of the robbers drew a revolver and demanded money. Luptak lunged for the weapon. Another of the bandits pulled out a gun and fired. Luptak was shot twice in the abdomen.

EDITH M'CORMICK CREDITORS FILE ESTATE CLAIMS

Claims against the estate of Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick for the flowers used at her funeral, for her box at the opera and her opera guarantee pledges, and for groceries delivered at her Lake Shore drive home were filed against her estate yesterday with N. J. Bonelli, assistant to Probate Judge Horner.

The bill of John Mangel, owner of a florist shop in the Palmer house, for the flowers totaled $3,135 and listed these items: Two hundred and fifty white orchids, $1,250; sprays of orchids, $40; palms and ferns, $150; 21 boxes of tuberoses and gardenias, $525; 2,000 yellow roses, $850; 125 ferns, $45; 1 door spray of 20 orchids, 5 dozen tuberoses, $115; 4 door spray of 15 orchids and 300 valley tuberoses, $135; one ball of 300 roses, $25.

Herbert Johnson, vice president of the Chicago Civic Opera company, filed claims of $2,500 for a guarantee pledged by Mrs. McCormick for 1931 and 1932, and $1,600 for her box at the opera last season. The grocery bill, filed by the State market, 943 North State street, was for $1,749.

MOTHER OF 8 HANGS HERSELF.

Mrs. Fanny Uding, 56 years old, 2625 North Halsted street, mother of eight children, hanged herself yesterday in the attic of her home. Her husband, Herman, told police that she was despondent over ill health.

FEDERAL BLDG. CLEANING TIED UP BY STRIKE

Cleaning of the federal building is at a standstill with more than half of the work yet to be done as the result of a strike in the Tuckpointers and Building Cleaners' union. Collector of Customs Anthony Czarnecki yesterday admitted there had been "some labor trouble." Federal officials would not comment, but it was learned from other sources that the immediate cause of the trouble was a dispute over working hours.

When the contract was awarded to the Superior Sandblasting company of Rochester, N. Y., there were protests that the work should have been given a Chicago concern. Trouble was averted when the company agreed to use members of the Chicago union in all except a few key positions.

Charges Doctor Left His Scissors in Abdomen; Sues

Logansport, Ind., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Charging that the defendant sewed up a five inch pair of scissors within her abdomen during an appendicitis operation and that they remained there for almost a year, Mrs. Della Stewart, 33, has filed a $25,000 damage suit against Dr. Stanley Cotton of Goldsmith, Ind.

DELAY INQUEST INTO DEATH OF BANDIT VICTIM

The inquest into the death of Ernest Krampert, butcher at 5956 South Halsted street, who was killed Tuesday evening by a bandit, was held in the Englewood hospital yesterday while about 150 persons waited outside.

The crowd, however, offered no violence to Francis Crotty, 21 years old, the confessed slayer, when he was led to the inquest by members of the homicide squad under Lieut. Otto Erlanson. The inquest was continued without taking any testimony until Sept. 27 to permit the appearance of Edward Kirsch, 6137 Kenwood avenue, Krampert's helper, who also was wounded by Crotty.

Crotty and Peter Balciulis, 21 years old, his companion in the robbery, were captured before Krampert died, when police discovered their automobile, a window smashed by a policeman's bullet, parked beside an apartment building at 7903 Rhodes avenue in which they were hiding. They asserted that they did not know the name of the third member of their gang.

Drum Major of G.A.R. Here on Way to Encampment

D. W. Edgar, 84 years old, of Seattle, Wash., a civil war drummer boy, now the national drum major of the G. A. R., arrived yesterday in Chicago for a visit with his daughter, Mrs. Harry Edgar, 24 East 84th street. With his wife, who is 81 years old, Edgar is en route to the national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic in Springfield, Ill.

Los Angeles Veterans Censure Hoover on B. E. F.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—A resolution applying the terms "unwarranted, reprehensible, and un-American" to the action of President Hoover in causing forcible expulsion of the bonus expeditionary forces from Washington was adopted by the Second Division association of Los Angeles, according to H. E. McGee, president of the group.

OCEAN FLYERS OVERDUE; LAST SEEN OVER SEA

Fear American Nurse Lost Its Way.

ROME, Sept. 15.—[Thursday.]—(AP)—Apprehension grew apace at Ciampino airport near here today as dawn approached without recent word of the trans-Atlantic plane American Nurse, which left New York bound for Rome at 6:16 o'clock Tuesday morning, Chicago time.

Aboard the plane are William Ulbrich, pilot; Miss Edna Newcomer, undergraduate nurse and co-pilot, and Dr. Leon M. Pisculli, New York physician.

At 5:30 a. m. today [11:30 p. m., time] the plane had been out more than 41 hours. It had been due here about midnight—36 hours after the takeoff.

Last Reported by Ship.

The last authentic reports of the plane were made by the liner France at 4:50 p. m., Greenwich time, or more than 10 hours before. The liner reported the plane about 400 miles southwest of Cape Fastnet, Ireland. At that time the plane had traveled 2,300 miles at a speed of a little less than 100 miles an hour. Some authorities felt she could last 43 hours before her gas gave out, but others placed the limit at 40 hours.

In the absence of incontestable proof that various sightings of a plane over the Atlantic and Mediterranean actually involved the American Nurse, officials declined to speculate as to what may have occurred.

May Have Lost Way.

An eclipse of the moon occurred early last evening, making the route of the flyers over the Mediterranean extremely dark, and it was believed possible they may have lost their way. Sighting of the plane would be extremely difficult in this darkness, and the plane's lack of radio eliminated any method of contact.

A report that the American Nurse had been sighted over Sardinia at 9 o'clock last night [3 p. m., Chicago time] was dispelled by information from carabinieri headquarters in three of the island's provinces which said nothing had been seen or heard of the plane up to 1:45 a. m. [7 p. m., Wednesday, Chicago time].

May Rescue Hutchinsons Again.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Sept. 14.—The fishing trawler Lord Talbot may again go to the rescue of the Hutchinson "Flying Family" and at the same time perform a service for the Danish government.

It was indicated today that the Lord Talbot, after completing its fishing cruise, will pick up the party of eight stranded trans-Atlantic flyers, whose plane was wrecked off Greenland at Angmagsalik, and land them in about three weeks at Aberdeen, Scotland.

TRAPPED IN SPIDER'S WEB

SPIDER TIGHTENS GRASP ON SNAKE IN EPIC STRUGGLE

An Enemy May Lure Jailer to Destruction.

The epic struggle at St. Charles, between an eight inch garter snake and a common black spider was still in progress last night at the end of the 24th day.

A naturalist looked on with interest at the spectacle which was presented in the brick shack that houses an automatic pump at the base of the water tower in the town. An investigator from the Illinois Humane society lent his indignant presence. Two fashionably dressed women who visited the scene in a limousine uttered little screams as the spider tossed additional silken loops about the head of his victim.

Snake Gets Sympathy.

All the sympathy went to the snake. He hung by his head from the spider's web, his tail trailing on the ground. His form was emaciated after 24 days without food and water. Walter Necker of the Museum of Natural History, who was present, predicted that the spider would eventually triumph although the snake may live a week or more.

Nor was the spider revealing himself as a sportsman in his moment of triumph. Perched a few inches from the bound body of his enemy, he looked on smugly. Somtimes he retired to lunch at his ease on some succulent delicacy, such as a fly's wing, and then returned to watch the squirmings of the prisoner.

Under a magnifying glass the snake was seen to be as securely bound as if in chains. He has no chance to escape, Mr. Necker declared.

Pump House Moist.

"I know of one case in which a rattlesnake lived for months without food or water," said Mr. Necker. "I wouldn't give this small fellow more than a month to live under the same conditions. He has been kept alive this long because the pump house is cool and damp and he has been getting some moisture in that manner. Snakes need water to live."

But a sinister enemy lies in wait for the spider, also, other experts on insects declared. The spider's usual term of life is one season. He is born in the spring, he grows to maturity and mates in the fall and after mating he usually dies. Nature's mating call may lure the spider to his destruction, it seemed.

The experts seemed to agree that the spider, because of his small size, is a male. This would increase the hazards of his mating, it was explained, because a female spider, much larger than the male, sometimes eats a suitor when he comes a-wooing.

A Real Thriller.

Thus, death may be the real victor in the contest with the snake a victim of his own daring and the spider a sacrifice to love. It will be a real thriller during the next few days, Mr. Necker believes.

The investigator for the Illinois Humane society made a protest to Mayor I. G. Langum against continuation of the struggle and urged freeing of the snake immediately. Mr. Langum, a ruthless naturalist, refused to interfere.

"The scriptures say that the Lord, He made small creatures to confound the mighty," said Mayor Langum to the investigator who departed, crushed.

Body of Bern Case Mystery Woman is Found in Slough

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—The body of a woman found in Sacramento river slough, near Walnut Grove, today has been definitely identified as that of Dorothy Millette, missing "mystery woman" in the life of Paul Bern, film executive and husband of Jean Harlow.

Japanese fishermen found the body enmeshed in brush. The body was clad in a dark silk dress and the shoes were missing. The woman's hair was described as a reddish blonde. The Japanese notified a rancher who in turn telephoned the authorities.

Miss Millette, with whom Bern had lived for years prior to his entering the picture field in Hollywood, disappeared from the river boat Delta King, en route from this city to Sacramento the night after Bern's suicide. Her coat and shoes were found beside a railing on the upper deck of the steamer.

The point where the body was found is about ten miles downstream from Courtland, opposite the river point where it has been established that Miss Millette disappeared.

Officials dragged the main channel of the Sacramento for several days in a vain search for Miss Millette's body.

Bern Will Is Located.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 14.—(AP)—A will in which Paul Bern, film executive who committed suicide, bequeathed all of his fortune to his bride of two months, Jean Harlow, film star, was produced today by Irene Harrison, for six years his secretary. The two principal parts of the document read:

"I give, devise and bequeath all of my property of whatever kind, real and personal, and wheresoever situated, after the payment of any just debts that may constitute a claim upon it at the time of my death, to my beloved wife, Harlean Bern.

"I do hereby name and appoint my beloved wife, Harlean Bern, the sole executrix and administratrix of this, my last will and testament, to act without bond."

ROOSEVELT WILL WIN ILLINOIS, FARLEY TOLD BY MAYOR CERMAK

New York, Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chicago was a caller at Roosevelt headquarters, where he chatted with Chairman James A. Farley today. He told Mr. Farley that Gov. Roosevelt would carry Illinois in November by a majority of at least 200,000, and possibly as high as 300,000.

Besides Mr. Farley, Mayor Cermak met and talked with Senator Pat Harrison and Senator David Walsh.

To show the Democratic ascendancy in Illinois, Mayor Cermak said that with one important exception, state's attorney, Democrats were filling all county offices in Cook county and approximately one-half of the county offices throughout the state.

Princeton Student Dies in Motorcycle Crash

Erie, Pa., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Two motorcycle policemen of the Peninsula state park were killed tonight in a head-on collision of their vehicles. The victims were William Paradine, 23, a student at Princeton university, and George Kruth, 32. Coroner W. G. Stroble said the officers "must have been speeding when the accident occurred." Paradine son of a prominent Erie family, met death on his final night on the force. He had planned to return to Princeton in a few days.

Woman Jumps Into River; Saved by Bridge Tenders

Three bridge tenders rescued a 200 pound woman from the Chicago river between the Van Buren and Harrison street bridges last night. She at first refused to give her name, but later said she was Mrs. Adra Jaegel, 26 years old, 415 South Ashland avenue, and that she jumped into the river because during a quarrel her husband told her to "jump in the lake."

PASCHEN BROTHER IS CHARGED WITH SLUGGINGWORKER

A warrant was issued last night by Justice of the Peace Clarence Brown of Waukegan for the arrest of Frank Paschen, brother and business partner of Chris Paschen, building commissioner under the former city administration, who is under federal sentence for income tax fraud. The warrant charges Frank Paschen with assault with a deadly weapon. Earlier in the day Paschen was released on bond of $25 on a disorderly conduct charge after he is alleged to have slugged one of his workmen.

The Paschen contracting company is building a new postoffice in Waukegan. The Paschens had trouble several days ago because they were hiring Chicago instead of Lake county labor, but the difficulty was adjusted on their promise to employ local workmen.

Yesterday Jacob Paschen, a third brother, saw Nils Andersen, a laborer, sitting down and ordered him to go to work. Andersen, it was reported, said that he wouldn't work for "such a bunch of slave drivers" and was told to go to the office to get his time.

Frank Paschen followed him, Andersen charged, and struck him with a milk bottle, fracturing his jaw in two places. Alderman Charles Staben of Waukegan arrested Paschen. After his release on the disorderly charge Attorney James G. Welch, who investigated the case at the request of State's Attorney A. V. Smith, advised prosecution on the assault charge.

JEHOSAPHAT WORDS SLAIN.

Jehosaphat Words, 30 years olds, colored, 2313 South Wabash avenue, was shot and killed by another Negro with whom he quarreled in front of 3411 South Wabash avenue last night. The slayer escaped.

Hotel Elevator Drops 15 Feet; 2 Women Hurt

Two women were injured and a dozen others were shaken up yesterday afternoon when an elevator in the Wedgewood hotel, 6400 Woodlawn avenue, dropped 15 feet from the first floor to the basement. Mrs. Oscar Larson, 41 years old, 8137 Phillips avenue, suffered a fracture of the right knee and was taken to the Illinois Central hospital. Mrs. Jane Helediman, 48 years old, 1645 Oak street, Chicago Heights, was bruised. The women had been attending a bridge party.

EXPECT KENKORA RUM CASE TO BE SETTLED TODAY

Final disposition of the Kenkora yacht case, in which Kenneth G. Smith, millionaire toothpaste manufacturer, was embarrassed by the finding of more than 200 bottles of liquor on board his $500,000 pleasure craft, is expected to be made in Washington this morning.

Following a conference in the national capital yesterday between Weymouth Kirkland, attorney for Mr. Smith, and Commissioner of Customs F. X. A. Eble, it stated that the customs department probably would announce its findings today. There are reports both in the Federal building here and in Washington that the government will not confiscate the yacht, but will assess a fine, probably a stiff one, and return the yacht.

For two weeks the craft has remained at anchor in the Chicago harbor with a customs guard aboard. Yesterday Collector of Customs Anthony Czarnecki gave the crew permission to cruise out in the lake to ship fresh water.

The Kenkora was seized by the government following a customs inspection when the Smith party returned from a cruise in Canadian waters. In addition to the charge of shipping contraband liquor Mr. Smith faces a $2,000 fine because he, his wife and his wife's parents disembarked in Chicago without first having their baggage cleared. The federal prohibition bureau has apparently kept hands off in this case.

53 TRAPPED BY FLAMES; PLANE DROPS FOOD

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Sighted by Paul Mantz, flying forest patrolman, who dropped food to them from his airplane, fifty-three men who have been trapped two days by the Santa Barbara national forest fire were reported today to be in no danger, although they were encircled by flames. Meanwhile reports from Ventura said the fire, which has burned over 100,000 acres of brush and timber lands in eight days, was progressing more slowly in all sections and that improved property in the national forest was out of danger.

DAVID I. WALSH WILL SPEAK AT DEMOCRAT RALLY

Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts, who led the fight in the Democratic national convention for the dripping wet plank which committed the party to repeal of the 18th amendment and modification of the Volstead act, will be the principal speaker at the Democratic outing Sunday in Riverview park. In the national convention Senator Walsh was a leader in the movement to nominate Al Smith. His address is to mark the opening of real activities by the Democrats in Cook county.

Announcement of Senator Walsh's acceptance of an invitation to speak was made over long distance phone yesterday by the Chicagoans who were in New York to greet Mayor A. J. Cermak. It was also announced that the mayor will make an address at the outing.

Other speeches are to be made by Judge Henry Horner and others.

INSULL UTILITY A DAZE-MAZE OF SECURITY DEALS

Tangle of Borrowing and Lending and Pledging.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The lending, borrowing, and pledging of securities by Insull Utility Investments, Inc.—in a last effort to prevent its collapse—is a crossword puzzle presented to Federal Judge Walter Lindley by the receivers of the investment concern.

The borrowing started last September, "chiefly in order to supply the various banks' demands for additional collateral," said the report of the audit made by Arthur Andersen & Co., and filed in the federal court on Tuesday.

"These demands steadily increased as the collateral previously pledged to the loans declined in value," said the report. "Unpledged securities in the company's portfolio were not acceptable for collateral purposes.

Borrowed and Pledged.

By last April 16, the point to which the audit has been completed, all of the securities borrowed were pledged as collateral for the bank loans or loaned to affiliated companies, which in turn, we are informed, used the securities for collateral for their obligations."

When the crash came, with a loss of $226,000,000 in Insull Utility Investments, Inc., securities with a book value of $227,892,050 had been pledged. This was all the securities held by Insull Utility Investments except $24,584,209, which were unacceptable to bankers. The market value of these unpledged securities was only $1,646,580 on April 16, when receivers were appointed for the investment corporation.

Altogether Insull Utility borrowed securities which had a market value of $2,038,582 on April 16. The larger part of these were obtained from the Middle West Utilities company.

Deal with Middle West.

From that company Insull Utility Investments got 11,000 shares of Commonwealth Edison company stock of a value of $764,500 as of April 16; 5,052 shares of Peoples Gas, worth $330,906, and 4,500 shares of Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, worth $274,500—a total of $1,369,906 (April 16 value).

For these borrowed securities Insull Utility Investments put up with the Middle West Utilities 250,000 shares of Central and Southwest Utilities common stock valued at $500,160, and 27,402 shares of North American Light and Power common valued at $719,376.

Midland Utilities Helps.

From the Midland Utilities company, Insull Utility Investments borrowed securities with a market value of $623,316 as of April 16. These consisted of 4,162 shares of Commonwealth Edison valued at $289,259, 2,621 shares of Peoples Gas valued at $171,675, and 2,662 shares of Public Service of Northern Illinois valued at $162,382.

As collateral for these pledged securities, the investment corporation gave to the Midland Utilities company shares valued on April 16 as follows:

Shares.	Name of stock.	Value.
228,600	Middle West Utilities	$64,600
1,178	Midland Utilities 7% pr. lien	5,600
663	Midland Utilities 7% pref.	2,915
4,962	Midland Utilities 6% pr. lien	22,815
3,401	Midland Utilities 6% pref.	17,458

In this transaction Insull Utility Investments borrowed securities valued at $623,316 on collateral valued at $113,175.

But the Insull Investment company loaned more than it borrowed. It loaned to Corporation Securities 6,824 shares of Commonwealth Edison stock valued on April 16 at $474,268; 23,515 shares of Peoples Gas valued at $1,540,232, and 14,990 shares of Public Service company valued at $914,390. As security for the return of this $2,928,890 worth of stock Corporation Securities gave Insull Utility Investments 548,832 shares of its own common stock.

"We were informed," reads the auditors' report, "that all of the securities loaned to Corporation Securities had been pledged by that company as collateral for its obligations."

There is not much hope that any of the securities loaned will be returned. The auditors have set up a reserve on the assets of Insull Utility Investments of $4,875,000 for losses on securities loaned.

Other Investments Gone.

The investments of the corporation in subsidiaries are also gone. These investments may be summarized as follows:

In Insull, Son & Co. the investment corporation acquired a book value interest of $3,245,000. In the first place Insull Investments bought capital stock of Insull, Son & Co.—valued at $1,250,000—with stock of Insull Investments. Then Insull, Son & Co. declared a stock dividend of $1,995,000.

In the Public Service Trust, Insull Investments acquired a book value interest of $3,937,330. As a starter, Insull Investments put up $208,040 in cash for a small interest and later gave its own stock for $3,937,330, and then paid a transfer tax of $467.

The Second Utilities syndicate was acquired by giving it $1,630,300, book value, of Insull Investments' own stock.

These transactions indicate how involved were the operations of Insull Investments, although as a sample they are of the simpler variety.

GROVER NEFF NAMED PRESIDENT OF MIDDLE WEST UTILITIES CO.

GROVER C. NEFF.

Grover C. Neff, chief operating executive of the Wisconsin Power and Light company, yesterday was elected president of the Middle West Utilities company to succeed Martin J. Insull. It was announced by Edward N. Hurley and Charles A. McCulloch, receivers of Middle West.

The receivers had been seeking for some time a man of experience to direct the workings of the intricate holding corporation, with its forty operating companies serving 2,800 communities in thirty states. A number of utility executives both inside and outside the Insull group had been considered for the post.

Mr. Neff, who is 46 years old, has been chief operating executive of the Wisconsin Power and Light company, a subsidiary of Middle West, for a number of years.

SAMPSELL MOVES TO CITY; SILENT ON INSULL LOAN

Marshall E. Sampsell, one of Samuel Insull's chief lieutenants who recently was shown to have borrowed $400,000 from one of the Insull companies, moved yesterday from his Highland Park estate to a Chicago apartment at 237 East Delaware place.

Mr. Sampsell refused to say whether he was making the move to save expenses, but said his principal reason was that two of his four sons will attend school in Chicago this year. Mrs. Sampsell died, a suicide, two months ago.

Mr. Sampsell refused, as on previous occasions, to discuss his affairs as head of the Central Illinois Public Service company, one of the Insull concerns, or as director of numerous other Insull enterprises. Asked whether he believed he would be able to repay the $400,000 loan, discovery of which was reported a few days ago by auditors, he again refused to reply.

RECEIVERS CUT OVERHEAD OF MIDDLE WEST

A statement giving an optimistic view of some phases of the Middle West Utilities company was issued yesterday by the receivers, Edward N. Hurley, and Charles A. McCulloch.

They said that the overhead expenses in the Chicago office which formerly amounted to $2,100,000 a year have been reduced to $350,000. They also said that the operating expenses in the western subsidiary companies have been reduced $1,912,000 on an annual basis in the last five months.

These operating companies have improved their cash position, by increasing the cash on deposit by $1,648,000, and by reducing the floating debt of $3,655,000, according to the statement.

DISCLOSE STORY OF INSULL EXIT FROM UTILITIES

Last Days as a Financial Leader Revealed.

feeling terribly. I am glad it is all over."

The person who told this inside story of how Insull was swept out of his high place concluded by saying:

"Insull will never come back to America. He is now in Paris. I doubt if Martin Insull ever comes back. He is now in a small Canadian town. They saw their meager beginnings mount to a fortune of more than a hu dred millions and to the control of many times that much money and then melt away from them like an ice cream cone in a teakettle. The air is too full of the subject."

DEBT OF $7,000,000

From three different sources in the last three days a report has been picked up that Martin J. Insull not only lost his fortune in the collapse of the Insull utility empire but also has accumulated about $7,000,000 of debts.

Martin Insull is the younger brother of Samuel Insull, who built and ruled the empire. While a graduate and trustee of Cornell university, Martin is said to have lacked the ability and judgment of his older brother. He is now in retirement in the little town of Orillia, Ont., 84 miles north of Toronto.

Martin Insull's personal financial affairs and his management of the Middle West Utilities company are said to have been one of the chief worries of Samuel Insull in the six months before his retirement last June.

Ousted from Control.

So unsatisfactory was Martin Insull's management of the Middle West Utilities, of which he was president from July 24, 1924, that Samuel Insull in effect removed him last January. To soften the blow it was announced that Martin was in ill health and that Samuel had taken over complete control and management of Middle West.

Martin was nominally president until he formally resigned on May 3 after Charles McCulloch and Edward N. Hurley had been appointed receivers by Federal Judge Walter Lindley, but it is said that he was not permitted to handle the company's affairs during those four months.

His investing of $27,000,000 in New England textile and news print plants, his lending of $18,000,000 to the Mississippi Valley Utility Investment company, an Insull concern, and his borrowing $178,000—previously printed as $168,000—from that same corporation were looked upon as "poor judgment."

Eastern Bankers Get After Him.

But it is said to have been Martin Insull's borrowing of cash in the east which caused the New York bankers to "lay down hard" on Samuel Insull. Martin is said to have obtained in the east the major part of a $7,000,000 loan.

The bankers asked for payment on account and for more security. Neither request was readily complied with. This happened last December. Samuel Insull provided all the security he could, threw in his own personal fortune, and told the bankers about the middle of December he had nothing more to put up as collateral.

In Insull Utility Investments, Inc., alone Martin Insull invested $1,572,028. He bought at the outset 4,924 shares of preferred stock at $100 a share and 94,122 shares of common at the bottom price of $7.54 a share.

Later he bought 24,620 more shares of common stock at $15 a share. At the peak price of $149 a share for this stock alone he had a paper fortune, for a day, of $17,062,652. That is all gone and 7 million dollars of debts is reported to be piled on top of it.

What peeved the eastern bankers most, it is said along La Salle street, was the extent to which they had lent money to Martin Insull. When the receivers were appointed for the Middle West, Insull Utility Investments, Corporation Securities, Mississippi Valley Utility Investment, and other Insull corporations, the New York bankers announced at once they would auction off the securities—Commonwealth Edison, Peoples Gas, and Public Service of Northern Illinois—which they held as collateral for loans to these other companies.

Federal Judge Lindley stepped in with a restraining order, upon an application of the receivers for an injunction. The eastern bankers then became aggrieved at Samuel Insull because they surmised that he was instrumental in petitioning for the injunction. The attorneys for the eastern bankers reported back that this impression was wrong, and it is said their dislike then switched back and became more vehement against Martin Insull.

It is now reported that the debenture holders of Insull Utility Investments, Inc., and of Corporation Securities and the receivers were responsible for the application for the injunction.

Square Deal to Investors.

Judge Lindley, by granting the restraining order, indicated that he believes the investors in these companies should have fair treatment. In the country's most severe depression he reasoned that the eastern bankers should not sell practically all of the marketable assets of the two companies at low price levels and leave nothing for the thousands of investors who had put 393 million dollars into the two corporations.

These eastern bankers, it is claimed, are getting enough dividends from the securities they hold as collateral to pay the interest on the loans they made to the two Insull investment companies.

Since Judge Lindley issued his restraining order, the value of the securities held by the bankers has increased more than an estimated $6,000,000, at market quotations.

Judge Lindley yesterday ordered a continuance of the hearing on his restraining order until next Monday. This is the twenty-third continuance on the order since it was first issued on May 5.

Saw a Prospective Profit.

Around the federal building there is a report that Judge Lindley at the outset of this dispute granted the attorneys for the eastern bankers a conference at which he is said to have asked them who would buy the securities they proposed to sell. In reply the lawyers are reported to have said the banks would buy them in and then retain them among the securities of the banks.

That reply is said to have aroused the judge's feeling against what he looked upon as the injustice of the proceeding. As he, according to rumor, looked upon the plan, the eastern banks would sell the securities to themselves at the market price, write off the loss, retain the securities, and await the inevitable market rise to sell them later at a profit. The judge insisted that the injunction stand.

Now Before Appeals Court.

No verification of that report was obtained, but persons acquainted with the judge said he has repeatedly performed in the federal court in such a way as to show that he stands for "square shooting," as one federal official phrased it. The United States Circuit Court of Appeals is now determining its opinion of the Lindley injunction.

Two holders of debentures of Insull Utility Investments, Inc., said yesterday that they still have hope of retrieving part of their investment. They have the second lien, technically, after the notes held by banks for money lent to the corporation. Actually, the debenture holders claim they have an equal lien with the bankers because the debentures when sold provided that the buyers should have equal security with others who might lend money to the company.

SAMUEL INSULL, IN PARIS, WANTS TO BE A FORGOTTEN MAN

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Copyright: 1932: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Sept. 14.—Samuel Insull today sat in the lobby of his small but comfortable hotel in the Etoile quarter of Paris and chatted with this correspondent regarding every topic under the sun but the huge losses in the Insull utilities.

"Since my arrival in France I have steadily refused to speak for publication and I see no reason to change this policy," Insull declared. "If I ever decide I have something to say I will say it when the time comes."

When submitted a list of specific questions regarding his financial standing since his retirement, his connection, if any, with the enterprises he formerly controlled, the financial operations which preceded the downfall of his empire and his plans for the future, the former financier considered them with interest and hesitated before replying.

"Some of those questions might get me in trouble with the people back in Chicago because they concern others besides myself," he remarked.

"But some of them are purely personal, notably what amount your pension is and when you intend to return to Chicago," he was reminded.

"I cannot see how I would do myself any good by answering them," he replied.

Explaining his unshakable silence about business affairs which has made him a man of mystery since his arrival in Paris, Insull said:

"I wanted to drop out of sight completely and not be talked about any more. Consequently I decided if I said nothing the papers would soon stop writing about me.

Insull seemed cheerful and in good humor.

State's Attorney Swanson is expected to make formal announcement today of an inquiry by his staff into the affairs of the Insull corporations. It became known yesterday that the prosecutor had called a meeting with some of his chief assistants for this morning to discuss the disclosures made so far in the Insull affairs.

Mr. Swanson was reluctant to initiate an inquiry without formal complaint because of the fact that the Insull corporations are under federal court receiverships. However, this objection, it was pointed out by some of the prosecutor's advisers, can easily be overcome by presenting the situation to Judge Walter C. Lindley, who appointed the receivers, and asking for whatever assistance the receivers can render in an inquiry to determine whether any state laws have been violated.

Those summoned to the meeting for this morning are Acting First Assistant William A. Rittenhouse, Homer A. Dodge, second assistant, and John Hampton.

"I do not mean to indicate that at this time I have any facts at hand which would call for action," said Mr. Swanson. "However, the Insull affairs are the talk of the town and rumors of all kinds, which may or may not be true, are being spread. I deem it my duty as chief law enforcing official of the community to investigate these stories."

Assistant State's Attorney Hampton is an expert in handling intricate financial cases. It was he who after months of painstaking work penetrated the financial structure built up by Harrison M. Parker, the promoter who formerly headed the Coöperative Society of America. Parker was convicted of embezzling $100,000 of the funds of the North American Trust company, one of the many concerns in which he had an interest.

The federal prosecuting authorities have assumed an attitude of watchful waiting. District Attorney Dwight Green and E. P. Aldrich, chief postoffice inspector, point out that they have received no formal complaints and that without such complaints they would be powerless to start a federal inquiry. However, it became known that a postoffice inspector has been assigned to watch what is going on so that in the event of a complaint the department will have some knowledge of the situation.

District Attorney Green, who went to Washington Tuesday, denied that his trip had anything to do with the Insull case.

Kane Co. Adopts $378,000 Budget; a Cut of $63,500

The Kane county board of supervisors yesterday adopted its budget for the coming year at $63,500 less than the $441,500 budget of last year. Under a retrenchment program salaries of county employés have been cut from 10 to 25 per cent and the funds of county departments have been reduced 20 per cent. Of the $378,000 budget for the coming year $218,000 will be raised by taxation and the remainder will be gathered through fee offices.

HORNER VISITS VILLAGES; CHATS WITH FARMERS

Candidate Is Making Few Formal Speeches.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Freeport, Ill., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Choosing to campaign as an individual, Judge Henry Horner, Democratic candidate for governor, made leisurely visits to half a dozen villages in the northwestern corner of Illinois today, all but abandoning formal speeches in favor of personal contact with the voters.

His evening address at Freeport was the only strictly political move of the day. Morning and afternoon he chose to spend walking about the streets of hamlets in this farming region, stopping in a store here, a bank there, in the friendly manner of one not concerned with votes as a primary consideration, but rather with the desire to learn the needs of those he expects to govern.

Anxious to Hear Views.

Thus, he arrived in Milledgeville in mid-morning at an ideal time. With Martin A. Brennan, candidate for congressman at large, and John C. Martin, candidate for state treasurer, his traveling companions, Judge Horner found a small group waiting for him in front of the barber shop—farmers, most of them, and working men anxious to hear his ideas on tax reduction and cutting the costs of government.

What began as an earnest and intimate discussion on a bench in front of the shop was necessarily expanded within a few minutes as other men and women joined the group. The judge was obliged to mount a convenient step to reach all his listeners. Finally from across the street came a score of women who interrupted their canning of food for the poor this winter in order to meet the candidate. Hastily wiping berry stained hands on their aprons, they were introduced and joined the group.

Farming is the life of this region, and Judge Horner promised his sober faced listeners that if they elect him he will give them a square deal, sympathetic attention, and the kind of state aid they think they should have. A final round of handshaking and the party moved on to Chadwick.

Stops in Stores.

Here the process was even more informal. The judge walked alone down the business street, stopping in stores for a word of greeting. Invariably, the surprised and pleased proprietor got word to friends next door and more times than not the incident was turned into a voluble doorway conference with the judge the center of an attentive dozen.

At Mount Carroll the crowd waiting beneath the rustling elms and maples on the lawn in front of the old red brick courthouse was of such a size that the judge mounted a concrete stand and talked for more than an hour in a firm but genial vein.

In Stockton, the next town visited, the candidate for governor climbed upon a hayrack drawn up on the main corner and from this homely forum discussed the issues as he sees them to a group of men and women who had waited more than two hours for him.

Visits Elizabeth Fair.

On then to Elizabeth, where he was the principal attraction of the first day of the Elizabeth community fair—a small sized municipal carnival, replete with stock and poultry exhibits, a Ferris wheel and a merry go round Not against his wishes the judge inspected the entire outlay before driving Freeport for dinner and his evening address.

Here, as everywhere in this territory so long a rock ribbed Republican stronghold, the crowd greeting the Democratic leader was of record size.

MISS HELEN CANT.

Returns to U. S.

New York, Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Miss Helen Parke Cant, of Douglaston, L. I., who was "Miss America" in the recent international beauty contest in Spa, Belgium, arrived today on the French liner Rochambeau. She expressed dissatisfaction with the outcome of the competition, in which "Miss Turkey" was chosen as "Miss Universe," saying she believed international politics might have influenced the decision of the judges. In her opinion, Miss Cant said, "Miss Germany" was the most beautiful girl in the contest and should have been chosen "Miss Universe."

STEADY STREAM OF EMPTY KEGS HEADED FOR U. S.

BERLIN, Sept. 14.—A steady stream of empty beer barrels is continuing to pour into the holds of German ships bound for America. The Berlin newspapers interpret these mysterious consignments as heralding the impending end of the "noble experiment."

2 Army Men Killed; Auto Plunges Into Hawaiian Bay

HONOLULU, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Glenn O. Traynor and George W. Nunnally, enlisted men of the United States army, were killed late last night when their automobile plunged from the Koko head cliff 200 feet into Hanauma bay. The men were attached to Fort Kamehameha, near Honolulu.

FEAR 120 KILLED AS TROOP TRAIN GOES INTO RAVINE

32 Cars Plunge with 500 French Legionnaires.

ORAN, Algeria, Sept. 14.—(AP)—A troop train carrying 500 officers and members of the famous French Foreign Legion plunged into a ravine near Tlemcen today, The Havas News Agency said probably 120 legionnaires had been killed and another 150 seriously injured.

The train left the track in the mountainous district between Zelboun and Turenne and plunged 250 feet to the bottom of the ravine. The wreck was believed to have been caused by a mushy roadbed which had been affected by heavy rains recently.

The 500 troops were en route from Sidi Bel Abbes, Algeria, to Ujda, Morocco, the territory made famous by Abd el Krim a few years ago during his stubborn resistance against French and Spanish troops in this area.

32 Coaches Fall in Ravine.

Thirty-one cars and a baggage coach made the plunge down the ravine with the locomotive. From the wreckage came the heart breaking cries and groans of the buried soldiers. One of the two officers commanding the detachment was killed and most of the train crew were among the dead.

Rescue work was made most difficult by the limited means of communication, but the whole population of the town of Turenne turned out to help. These people were headed by Gen. Paul Rollet, inspector of the Foreign Legion, and local authorities, who arrived in a special train late today.

The train turned about and took the first of the injured who had been extricated from débris to Tlemcen.

IN MOUNTAIN FOOTHILLS.

The territory in which the wreck occurred is in the foothills of the Atlas mountains which stretch from the Atlantic ocean across northwestern Africa to Tunis, on the Mediterranean sea.

The district is devoid of railroad lines except for the Coastal line from Morocco to Algeria. The French army authorities frequently use the line for transportation of troops, although it is the principal public conveyance medium along the northern coast.

The Foreign Legion maintains headquarters in both Sidi Bel Abbes and Ujda, and it was presumed this was one of the regular troop movements that occurred.

Tlemcen or Tiemsen, is 70 miles southwest by south of Oran and is at an altitude of 2,703 feet, indicating the nature of the rise from the sea to the mountains.

BRITAIN TO ACT TO END GERMAN REARM DEMAND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 14.—The British government, it was indicated today, will begin preliminary conversations with France, Italy, and other European powers soon in an effort to settle the Franco-German arms dispute when the steering committee of the disarmament conference meets at Geneva on Sept. 21.

It is now taken for granted that Germany, which threatened to bolt the conference unless she is granted arms equality, will not be represented when the committee sits. Baron Konstantin von Neurath, German foreign minister, will be at Geneva, however, for the concurrent league of nations session. Great Britain will not assume alone the task of bringing the French and Germans together, but will base the conversations of the European powers on the post-Lausanne "confidence accord."

It is understood that Great Britain is letting tomorrow pass without asking for a moratorium on war debts due Dec. 15. The British are not expected to mention debts until after the American presidential election.

GEMS AND GOLF CLUBS STOLEN.

Norton Burnette, 7329 Merrill avenue, yesterday reported to the police that burglars entered his home Tuesday night and took jewelry and golf clubs valued at $1,000.

MINE PICKETING OPENS AGAIN IN ILLINOIS FIELDS

One Hurt in Clash Near Galesburg.

Galesburg, Ill., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Between 800 and 900 striking coal miners established a picket line around the mines of the Knoxville Mining company today and prevented thirty workers from reaching the mines. The strikers were in full control of the situation due to their large numbers and their massed attacks, and Sheriff Lou Wilson and his deputies were powerless to prevent them from having their way but did succeed in preventing violence.

Only one man was reported hurt, James Johnson of Yates City, one of the 30 who have been working at the place despite the strikers' edicts to the contrary, and who are working on a nonunion, coöperative basis, receiving a straight wage of $5 a day and all working supplies free instead of the union scale of $6.10, under which they buy their own supplies.

Turned Back by Pickets.

A solid wall of humanity greeted the 30 when they attempted to report today. They were turned back. Trucks loaded with coal were stopped by the picketers and turned back. The picketers came from Galesburg, St. David, Canton, Farmington, Peoria, Hanna City, Middle Grove and other towns.

At Alpha, Ill., part of the miners of the Shuler Coal company returned to work this morning under the $5 scale after having been kept idle by picketers since Aug. 19. At Benton, Ill.,

Plan to Invade 3 Counties.

It is reported the Progressive Miners plan to enter three counties, peacefully if possible, and set up their pickets. Some were reported en route from Gillespie, Ill., and bound for Franklin, Perry and St. Clair counties. Perry county officials said no attempt would be made to prevent peaceful picketing.

At Springfield it was learned the striking miners were picketing the hotel where John L. Lewis, international president of the union from which they seceded, is staying. Their purpose was not revealed.

G.O.P. OPENS FIRE ON ROOSEVELT'S TARIFF DOCTRINE

More Dangerous Than League Plan—Smoot.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

With Senator Reed Smoot of Utah as party mouthpiece, Republican national headquarters accused Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of advocating in his tariff doctrine, as expounded yesterday at Topeka, Kas., a "new internationalism" more dangerous than that of the league of nations. As a counterargument to the Roosevelt speech opening the Democratic presidential campaign in the midwest agricultural states the Republicans shot out a statement that the Roosevelt program on tariff would prove a blow at American farms and factories.

"The Roosevelt 'new deal,'" it said, "is a new deal for peasant labor abroad and a raw deal for the producer in America."

Listen to Roosevelt.

Everett Sanders, Republican national chairman, and others at Palmer house headquarters listened in over the radio to the Roosevelt speech. The Republican managers picked the tariff as the first item to answer and elected Senator Smoot to serve as party spokesman. They got in touch with the Utah senator by long distance phone and last night sent out the statement which he had issued.

The Utah senator opened fire on the following quotation from Gov. Roosevelt's speech:

"The Democratic tariff policy consists in large measure in negotiating agreements with individual countries permitting them to sell goods to us in return for which they will let us sell to them goods and crops which we produce."

"Foreign countries," said Senator Smoot, "will hope that such a policy can win in America. There is a strange affinity between the new internationalism of the Democratic candidate and that league of nations internationalism with which he became imbued while a member of the last Democratic régime. It is a more dangerous type of internationalism because it strikes home at every American farm and at every American factory.

"Industries Not for Sale."

"Mr. Roosevelt must know that every industry—in field or factory—receiving protection in the United States receives such assistance because of unfavorable competition from abroad. Our agriculture and our industry are not for sale.

"He must know that any tariff favor extended to one nation must extend automatically and without reciprocal favor to all of the fourteen nations with whom the United States has pledged its national honor in most favored nation treaties.

Rich Cash Market.

"Gov. Roosevelt did not explain to his agricultural audience how we might 'revive' our foreign trade with the Argentine, with Australia, and with South Africa, all of them great agricultural producers, without utterly disrupting the domestic market for farm products.

"He failed to explain that he proposes to throw open the doors of the richest cash market in the world by means of his new 'deals' with our competitors without possibility of cash return.

"He fails to show the logic of trading our proven domestic market for unproven foreign markets.

"The Democratic candidate becomes absurd the moment he becomes specific."

R. F. C. SELECTS SIX MANAGERS OF LOAN BANKS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—The Reconstruction Finance corporation tonight announced the appointment of managers and boards of directors for six of the recently established agricultural credit corporations. Personnel for seven branch offices was also announced. The corporation has set up ten main regional corporations and thirteen branch offices to make loans directly to farmers and live stock men, under the emergency relief act.

The branch office at Kansas City, Mo., was the only regional one in the Chicago land bank district for which personnel was announced. Harry C. Jobes, investment banker of Kansas City, was named manager of the branch office. Managers and boards of directors for the branch office at Chicago and the main office at St. Louis are expected to be named soon.

Main office managers appointed tonight were: Sioux City, Ia., C. C. Jacobsen, vice president, Security National bank, Sioux City; Minneapolis, John W. Barton, banker, now with Reconstruction Finance corporation in Washington; Salt Lake City, S. Grover Rich; Spokane, R. E. Towle, manager Helena branch federal reserve bank in Minneapolis; Wichita, Kas., C. W. Floyd, banker and stock man, Sedan, Kas.; Fort Worth, A. E. Thomas, former vice president and manager of Continental National bank, Fort Worth.

Among the branch office managers named by the corporation were Charles C. Kuning, former vice president Cedar Rapids National bank, Cedar Rapids, Ia., who will head the branch office at Omaha, Neb.

5 CITY WORKERS OUSTED BY CIVIL SERVICE BOARD

Two policemen, two firemen and one elevator operator employed by the city were ordered discharged from the municipal service yesterday after hearings before the civil service commission.

Charges of intoxication resulted in the dismissal of Capt. Frank J. O'Connor of hook and ladder company No. 18 and Patrick Woods, elevator operator at the police building, 11th and State streets. Fireman James Joy of engine company No. 11 was discharged for inefficiency.

Two policemen, Elmer J. Eletson and James Curley, of the Deering station were discharged on the technical count of conduct unbecoming a policeman. They were accused of taking money from a liquor violator.

GOV. ROOSEVELT'S SPEECH AT TOPEKA ON PLANS TO AID AGRICULTURE

Topeka, Kas., Sept. 13.—(AP)—In his address, directed to the farmers of the nation, Franklin D. Roosevelt said:

"I have come here not alone to talk to you about farms and farming. I have come just as much and even more to listen and to learn. On this whole trip I am seeking, as on many previous occasions, first hand contacts with that section of the nation which is responsible for the major part of the food supply of the nation.

"In my contacts here and in the discussions that I have I want to hear from men and women of all parties and of all views on the question of farm relief. I am going to follow one simple principle in this discussion and that is complete and absolute frankness.

"This question is too serious to be trifled with by empty political platitudes for specious and ingenious tricks of language or of thought. In dealing with this subject I want to avoid on the one hand political skywriting and on the other political wise-cracking.

Not a Simple Problem.

"In keeping faith with this principle of getting down to business, let me say what I think we all recognize—that there is no single remedy that will by itself bring immediate prosperity to the agricultural population of all parts of the United States. You know that, and I know that, and it is a good point to start from.

"I see no necessity for discussing in detail the acute distress in which the farmer finds himself. You all know that better than any one can tell you. You have felt it in your own lives and experiences. And you have seen it reflected in limiting the opportunities that you have wanted to give your families. This experience of yours is far more moving than any phrases of mine or of any one else.

Want in Midst of Abundance.

"This distress has grown for more than eleven years over a radius of hundreds of miles from where I stand, in as productive and fertile a country as the world has ever seen. We have poverty and want in the midst of abundance. With incomparable natural wealth within the reach of these progressive farmers they struggle with poverty and unbelievably hard times.

"They try to hold their farms under conditions produced by corn, hogs, cotton, wool, and cattle, and wheat selling on the farm at prices as low or lower than at any time in the history of the United States. There has been some slight rise from these low levels, but in spite of it there remains in millions of farm homes continuing uncertainty and apprehension.

"This means that the farmer misses not only the things that make life tolerable but those that made decent living possible. It means—and this is most important—that the farmer's children must suffer the denial of those chances for education that justice and fairness should assure to them. We all of us hoped that our children would have a 'better break' than we had. But the economic turn has almost blasted that hope for the farm parent. This means nothing less than the shadow of peasantry.

22 Per Cent of Population.

"There are six and one-half million families to whom this deepening shadow is a grim reality. These six and one-half million families represent 22 per cent of the total population of the United States. They are the people actually living on farms. It is fair to ask what percentage of the national income comes each year to this 22 per cent of the population.

"Let us remember these figures: In 1920 this 22 per cent of the population got 15 per cent of the national income; in 1925 it received 11 per cent. By 1928 agriculture's share had dropped to only just above 9 per cent and the most recent estimate based on the figures of the United States department of agriculture itself shows that farm income has today dropped to about 7 per cent.

"Remember well that during the last four years when he has been the chief executive of the nation, and also as a member of the cabinet during the previous six years, the dominant factor in our governmental economic policies has been the distinguished gentleman who is running against me.

"But let us not stop at our six and one-half million farm families. Let us remember that fifty million men, women, and children within our borders are directly and immediately concerned with the present and the future of agriculture.

National Prosperity Concerned.

"Again, let us not stop there. Another fifty or sixty million people who are engaged in business or in industry in our large and small city communities are at last coming to an understanding of the simple fact that their lives and futures are profoundly concerned with the prosperity of agriculture. They realize more and more that there will be no outlet for their products unless their fifty million fellow Americans who are directly concerned with agriculture are given the buying power to buy city products.

"If we would get to the root of the difficulty we will find it in the present lack of equality for agriculture. Farming has not had an even break in our economic system. The things that our farmers buy today cost 9 per cent more than they did before the world war. The things they sell bring them 43 per cent less than then. These figures, as of Aug. 1, which are authenticated by the department of agriculture, mean that the farm dollar is worth less than half of what it represented before the war. Remember this, friends: The things that farmers buy, protected by Mr. Grundy's tariff, are 9 per cent above pre-war; the things that farmers sell—and remember world prices fix domestic prices—are 43 per cent below pre-war prices.

Blames Present Administration.

"There are two undeniable historic facts of the past twelve years.

"First, the present administration and the two previous administrations, in all of which the President was an important member, failed utterly to understand the farm problem as a national whole, or to plan for its relief; and, second, they destroyed the foreign markets for our exportable farm surplus beginning with the Fordney-McCumber tariff and ending with the Grundy tariff, thus violating the simplest principle of international trade and forcing the inevitable retaliation of foreign countries. I cannot forbear at this point expressing my amazement that in the face of this retaliation—inevitable from the day the Grundy tariff became law and predicted by every competent observer at home and abroad—not one effective step to deal with it or to alleviate its consequences has been taken or proposed by the national administration.

"In that attitude the Republican leadership, from the President down, shows an incredible disregard of facts, combined with stubborn indifference to the consequence of their folly.

Offers His Suggestions.

"Of some steps which should have been taken and which should now be taken to meet this situation I have already spoken and I shall have more to say. At this moment I want to speak of other phases of the problem of permanent farm relief.

"Let us pause to take a look at the problem in the longer perspective. We must have, I assert with all possible emphasis, national planning in agriculture. We must not have, as now, the scattering of our efforts through the heterogeneous and disassociated activities of our government agencies dealing with the problem. On the other hand we must avoid the present tendency to rush from one expedient to another. We need unity of planning, coherence in our administration, and emphasis upon cures rather than upon drugs.

"On my part I suggest the following permanent measures:

"First, I would reorganize the United States department of agriculture, looking toward the administrative machinery needed to build a program of national planning. I should be the last person in the world to become a harsh and thoughtless critic of a department that has done so many good things. But I know enough of government and of the ways of government to know that the growth of a department is often irregular, illogical, and haphazard. It is always easy to add to a department; additions mean more jobs. But to cut away unnecessary functions, eliminate useless jobs, or redirect routine activities toward more fruitful purposes is a task that must be undertaken.

Planned Use of Land.

"Second, I favor a definite policy looking to the planned use of the land. We already have more than enough tilled land to meet our needs for many years to come, since our population has ceased to expand so rapidly and agriculture is becoming from year to year more efficient. We have in the 13 original states of the east and a few others great acres of relatively poor land hardly worth cultivation which provide either actual or potential competition with better land.

"This lowers the quality of farm products, depresses the prices of better farm products, creates great added expense because of the faulty distribution of the population, and consumes public and private resources in attempting the development of means of living and communication that should not be needed. The sum total result of all this is waste and hardship.

Reduction of Taxes.

"A third process of permanent relief for agriculture can come through national leadership in the reduction and more equitable distribution of taxes. With respect to this I propose to exert, through the presidency, as I have done through the governorship, such influence as I can, in favor of a national movement to reorganize local government in the direction of eliminating some of the tax burden which now bears so heavily on farms.

"There are too many taxing districts, too many local units of government, too many unnecessary offices and functions. The governmental underbrush which has sprouted for years should be cleared away. In addition, we need a clearer separation of fields of taxation as between the nation, the states and the localities.

"By so doing, we can lift some of the tax burden resting on land, and I mean to stress that objective by every means at my command.

Quick Relief Needed.

"These three objectives are of the sort that will require slow moving development. They constitute a necessary building for the future. In meeting the immediate problem of distress, however, it is necessary to adopt quick acting remedies.

"In the first place, there is the necessity for the refinancing of farm mortgages in order to relieve the burden of excessive interest charges and the grim threat of foreclosure. Much was done in the last session of congress to extend and liquefy and pass on to the federal government the burden of debt of railroads, banks, utilities and industry in general. Something in the nature of a gesture was made in the direction of financing urban homes. But practically nothing was done toward removing the destructive menace of debt from farm homes.

"It is my purpose, if elected, to direct all the energy of which I am capable to the formulation of definite projects to relieve this distress. Specifically, I am prepared to insist that federal credit be extended to banks, insurance or loan companies, or other corporations of individuals which hold farm mortgages among their assets—but that these credits must be made on the condition that every reasonable assistance be given to the mortgagers where the loans are sound, with the purpose of preventing foreclosure.

Tariff Readjustments.

"The second immediate necessity is to provide a means of bringing about, through governmental effort, a substantial reduction in the difference between the prices of the things the farmer sells and the things he buys. One way of attacking this disparity is by restoring international trade through tariff readjustments.

"The Democratic tariff policy consists, in large measure, of negotiating agreements with individual countries permitting them to sell goods to us in return for which they will let us sell to them—goods and crops which we produce. An effective application of this principle will restore the flow of international trade, and the first result of that flow will be to assist substantially the American farmer in disposing of his surplus.

"It is recognized, however, that to take up the slack until international trade is sufficiently restored we must devise means to provide for the farmer a benefit which will give him in the shortest possible time the equivalent of what the protected manufacturer gets from the tariff. You farmers put this well in a single phrase, 'We must make the tariff effective.'

Assails Republican Attitude.

"Support for the trial of some plan to put the tariff into effect seems to be found everywhere except in the administration at Washington. This official lack of sympathy has probably done more to prevent the development of concrete, generally acceptable plans than any single force.

"To me it appears the administration takes a wholly unfair attitude. It says, in substance, that since a perfect plan has not been developed nothing can be done; and at the same time it takes a position wholly inimical to every effort made during the last 11 years to provide workable means of relief. This negative position taken by the administration is more than a mere failure to assume leadership. It is an absolute repudiation of responsibility.

"This negative, even hostile, position has included a disposition on the part of the administration to set proponents of one plan off against another; the apparent object being to create a situation in which it is possible for administration leadership to say, 'How can we do anything for agriculture when it is not agreed within itself as to what it wants to do?'

"It wil be my purpose, my friends, to compose the conflicting elements of these various plans, to gather the benefit of the long study and consideration of them; to coördinate efforts to the end that agreement may be reached upon the details of a distinct policy, aimed at producing the result to which all these efforts and plans are directed—the restoration of agriculture to economic equality with other industries within the United States.

"I seek to give to that portion of the crop consumed in the United States a benefit equivalent to a tariff sufficient to give your farmers an adequate price.

His Sixfold Plan.

"I want now to state what seem to be the specifications upon which most of the reasonable leaders of agriculture have agreed, and to express here and now my wholehearted accord with these specifications.

"1. The plan must provide for the producer of staple surplus commodities, such as wheat, cotton, corn (in the form of hogs) and tobacco, a tariff benefit over world prices which is equivalent to the benefit given by the tariff to industrial products. This differential benefit must be so applied that the increase in farm income, purchasing and debt paying power will not stimulate further production.

"2. The plan must finance itself. Agriculture has at no time sought and does not now seek any such access to the public treasury as was provided by the futile and costly attempts at price stabilization by the federal farm board. It seeks only equality of opportunity with tariff-protected industry.

"3. It must not make use of any mechanism which would cause our European customers to retaliate on the ground of dumping. It must be based upon making the tariff effective and direct in its operation.

Must Shun Bureaus.

"4. It must make use of existing agencies and so far as possible be decentralized in its administration so that the chief responsibility for its operation will rest with locality rather than with newly created bureaucratic machinery in Washington.

"5. It must operate as nearly as possible on a coöperative basis and its effect must be to enhance and strengthen the coöperative movement. It should, moreover, be constituted so that it can be withdrawn whenever the emergency has passed and normal foreign markets have been reestablished.

"6. The plan must not be coercive. It must be voluntary and the individual producer should at all times have the opportunity of nonparticipation if he so desires. I like the idea that the plan should not be put into operation unless it has the support of a reasonable majority of the producers of the exportable commodity to which it is to apply. It must be so organized that the benefits will go to the man who participates.

Must Work Together.

"These, it seems to me, are the essential specifications of a workable plan. In determining the details necessary to the solution of so vast a problem it goes without saying that many minds must meet and many persons must work together. Such coöperation must of necessity come from those who have had the widest experience with the problem and who enjoy to the greatest degree the confidence of the farmers in this country.

"Without in any sense seeking to avoid responsibility, I shall avail myself of the widest possible range of such assistance.

"After all, the farmer's hope for the future must rest upon the policy and the spirit in which his case is considered. It is for him to decide whether he wants the solution of this problem to be committed to leaders who are determined to relieve the inequities which have caused his distress or to leaders whose record clearly shows that they are determined to preserve a staggering subsidy for industry, but to give agriculture only a measure of words and more words.

"The essence of this question comes down to a matter of keeping faith with American agriculture. On my part, I can stand on my own record and on the policies I have just set forth.

Attacks Record Under G. O. P.

"On the opposite side you have the long record of the present administration. When the depression in agriculture began in 1931, Republican leaders first sought to belittle the plight of agriculture. They claimed that the old familiar tariff remedy would suffice; and they offered the Fordney-McCumber tariff act, passed [God save the mark] under the ironic label of farm relief.

"Prior to the war we had paid our interest on our debts to Europe by means of agricultural exports. After the war, because we had changed to a creditor and Europe was in debt to us, it was necessary that we demand either goods or gold in return. The Fordney-McCumber tariff barrier shut off the normal tide of trade. Europe could not pay, so she could not buy. Specifically, she began to stop buying our surplus farm products.

"To offset the harmful effect of this tariff situation intelligent and responsible farm leaders worked out, in 1922, what they called a program for equality for agriculture. Plans to achieve this equality for agriculture were brought before members of the President's cabinet at that time. They moved in the direction of a Republican agricultural conference to consider it.

"The conference met. It took the amazing position that production should be reduced to the demands of the domestic market by the cheerful means, it appeared, of 'starving out' the farmers who had formerly exported to Europe. It is a matter of common knowledge that the President, then the secretary of commerce, was not without influence in the determination of this result.

"The secretary of the treasury in 1926 well phrased the attitude of the administration. He insisted that any attempt to raise domestic prices was a 'subsidy' and he stated that 'if given to five agricultural commodities the government could not logically refuse to give the same treatment to the textile, boot and shoe, coal, and other industries'—sublimely disregarding the plain fact that the tariff was already giving those industries, in effect, the highest subsidy in history.

"Now to put forth, as the secretary of commerce did, the idea of limiting farm production to the domestic market was simply to threaten agriculture with a terrific penalty. Apparently either he did not see or did not care that this meant allowing wheat land in Kansas to remain idle, forcing foreclosure of farm mortgages, wrecking farm families, while our withdrawal from the world's markets principally benefited foreign producers.

"He did not ask the manufacturers to reduce their exports. As secretary of commerce, he made no fight for American agriculture's share of world trade, though he could find time to assist foreign sales of every nonagricultural product.

Calls Farm Board Failure.

"In his campaign speeches of 1928 he offered merely a program of coöperative marketing and self-help. This was to be developed through a farm board as a means of handling the surplus, although he should have known, as responsible farm leaders knew, that the coöperatives obviously could not undertake the burden of controlling the great surplus cut adrift by tariff barriers. He could and should have seen that they handled only a relatively small volume and that it would be impossible for the members to shoulder the load and the cost.

"The idea of 'stabilizing' through speculative operations was conceived and was written into the platform of 1928 and was vigorously supported by the candidate for the presidency. You now know to your cost what stabilizing meant in practice.

"Meanwhile the familiar old song of the benefits to be derived from the tariff was heard. It was a ghastly fraud. The principal items of 'agricultural imports' were rubber, silk, coffee, tea, and the like—a long list of exotic and tropical goods, including such American farm products as elephants' tusks, skins of the Russian ermine and wallaby, and elks' hides. The fact was that imports which competed with products grown in America amounted only to 460 million dollars, and sugar represented over half of this figure. The truth was that our farmers do not produce the items proposed to be protected by a tariff—they consume them. The 'remedy' handed the farmer was not to raise his selling price, but to raise his cost of living.

Must Halt Farm Board.

"Shortly after his inauguration in 1929, the President assembled a special session of congress. He went through the form of fulfilling his campaign promises by the passing of his agricultural marketing act and the Hawley-Smoot tariff. The decline of prices increased, a slump was apparent. The coöperatives could not meet the situation. This resulted in a tremendous undigested surplus overhanging the market; it put a millstone around the neck of the coöperatives. The effort resulted in squandering hundreds of millions of the taxpayers' money. Farm board speculative operations must and shall come to an end.

"When the futility of maintaining prices of wheat and cotton through so-called stabilization became apparent, the President's farm board, of which his secretary of agriculture was a member, invented the cruel joke of advising farmers to allow 20 per cent of their wheat lands to lie idle, to plow up every third row of cotton and to shoot every tenth dairy cow.

"Now after the harm has been done, the President's acceptance speech of 1932 fully recognizes the futility of the stabilizing experiment and merely apologizes for the results. In order to avoid responsibility he claims that the farm board departed "from its original purpose by making loans to farmers' coöperatives and to preserve prices from panic." It was his farm board. Why did he permit such a departure?

Calls It Help for Few.

"And that, if you please, is the record. That is what we have to expect from the present Republican leadership. More Republican tariffs. Implacable opposition to any plan to raise the price of farm products. A program of "starving out" a third of the present production. A splendid prospect, this!

"Reduced to lowest terms, the present administration asks farmers to put their interests into the hands of their bitterest opponents, men who will go to any and all lengths to safeguard and strengthen a protected few, but who will coldly say to American farmers:

"'One-third of you are not needed. Run a race with bankruptcy to see which will survive.' It is no new theory of government. It has been reactionary policy since time immemorial. Help the few; perhaps those few will be kind enough to help the many.

"This is unsound; it is unfair; it is unjust. Industry can never prosper unless the agricultural market is restored and farm buying power returns. Without tariff readjustment the President's program is hopeless; without active assistance, the Grundy schedules can break the farmer long before the farmer can find a market for his goods. It suggests that if industry revives the farmer will be taken care of; though you all know that the boom of 1929 brought nothing but lower prices and more debts to the farm.

Won't Acknowledge Defeat.

"The situation challenges every responsible statesman in America to seek in agricultural circles an active remedial plan. The President has indicated his attitude in advance. His laconic 'I shall oppose them' closes the last door of hope in him.

"I cannot share his view. I will not believe that in the face of a problem like this we must merely throw up our hands. I have unbounded faith in a restored and rehabilitated agriculture. In this profession of faith I invite you to join. May those of us who intend a solution and decline the defeatist attitude join tirelessly in the work of advancing to a better ordered economic life. The times has come. The hour has struck."

was that our farmers do not produce the items proposed to be protected by a tariff—they consume them. The 'remedy' handed the farmer was not to raise his selling price, but to raise his cost of living."

The Hoover administration was charged by Mr. Roosevelt with having put through many congressional measures to pass on to the federal government the burden of debt of railroads, banks, utilities and industry in general, and with having made a "gesture" toward financing city homes.

"But practically nothing was done," he exclaimed, "toward removing the destructive menace of debt from farm homes."

The governor had been paraded to the capitol in an open car through the main streets of Topeka. Beside him was his running mate, John N. Garner of Texas, the Democratic nominee for Vice President.

Gov. Harry Woodring introduced Gov. Roosevelt to the audience standing below the steps of the statehouse—the same steps, incidentally, from which Charles Curtis two weeks ago accepted his renomination.

After completing his address, Gov. Roosevelt went to the state fair grounds. After dining with Gov. Woodring and having further conferences in the evening, Gov. Roosevelt returned to his special train, which left at midnight for Denver.

G. O. P. ANXIETIES ARE INTENSIFIED BY MAINE'S VOTE

Too Many States Listed as Doubtful.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

The Democratic victory in Maine on Monday has accentuated a state of mind in the Republican high command with respect to presidential election prospects that already was bordering on panic.

It was learned yesterday that before the Maine election the Republican national headquarters at the Palmer house had listed as doubtful 12 states, which, if carried by the Democrats in addition to southern states conceded by the Republicans, would give Roosevelt 258 electoral votes, only 8 short of a majority. With Maine's 5 electoral votes now thrown into the doubtful column, Republican calculations give Roosevelt a sporting chance of capturing 263 votes in the electoral college required for a choice.

Too Close for Comfort.

That is entirely too close a margin of safety for comfort of mind at Republican national headquarters, which is just now a welter of conferences on what to do about the parlous situation, attended by much bickering, passing of the buck and blaming of the other fellow for the existing state of affairs.

Although minimizing the Maine overturn in their outgivings for publication, the Republican managers privately view that incident with the gravest forebodings of what is in store for the G. O. P. on Nov. 8. The only ray of hope they perceive is that the Democratic victory in Maine will shock the business and other conservative elements of the citizenry into a vast concerted movement to save the country from Roosevelt as they uprose and saved the country from the menace of Bryan in 1896.

The Republicans are down to their last dime. In fact their last financial report showed the national committee in the red. The Democrats are collecting more funds than the Republicans. Without organization the doubtful states cannot be carried for Hoover, the Republican managers admit, and without ample funds there can be no organization worth the name.

Blame Prohibition Stand.

Leaders who warned the President he was making a fatal error in clinging to prohibition as long as he did and finally straddling the issue regard themselves vindicated by the Maine election, in which prohibition repeal was the most prominent issue. The biggest mistake Mr. Hoover ever made, they will tell you, was in thinking there was one more election for him in prohibition. He jumped, but not, they fear, in time.

The states which the Republicans regard as doubtful and the electoral vote of each are: Maine, 5; Connecticut, 8; Maryland, 8; West Virginia, 8; Ohio, 26; Kentucky, 11; Illinois, 29; Minnesota, 11; North Dakota, 4; Missouri, 15; Oklahoma, 11; Colorado, 6; Washington, 8; total, 150.

The southern states conceded to Roosevelt by the Republicans are: Virginia, 11; North Carolina, 13; South Carolina, 8; Florida, 7; Georgia, 12; Alabama, 11; Mississippi, 9; Louisiana, 10; Arkansas, 9; Texas, 23; total, 113.

Concede "Solid South."

It will be noted that the Republicans concede to Roosevelt all of the erstwhile solid south except Tennessee.

Prior to the Maine election, Connecticut was the only New England state chalked up by the Republican headquarters as doubtful. Maine has now been added, but the Republican managers still think that Massachusetts and Rhode Island, both of which Smith carried, are safely Republican this time.

New York the Republican high command is not worrying about, at least as conditions now obtain.

As pretty much the same conditions obtain in New Jersey as in New York, the Republican managers profess a feeling of easiness regarding that state.

Ohio, Illinois, Minnesota and Missouri are four sizable states that are causing the Republican managers much anxiety. Indiana, on the other hand, which is ordinarily a close state and which has been reported shot through with Republican disaffection, is conspicuous by its absence from the Republican doubtful list.

Split in Illinois Seen.

In Ohio, Illinois and Missouri the Republican management confronts a sea of troubles, partly due to the depression and partly to Republican dissatisfaction with the G. O. P. stand on prohibition. In Illinois the Len Small organization is being viewed with a good deal of suspicion from on high. A sufficient amount of enthusiasm for Mr. Hoover has not been detected therein up to date. If Roosevelt and Small should carry Illinois no one would be less surprised than certain Republican leaders.

Minnesota is rated in bad shape, due to lack of organization, and the President's political secretary, Walter Newton, who formerly was a congressman from that state, passed through here a few days ago on his way to Minneapolis to see what can be done to remedy matters. Iowa, Wisconsin, and Michigan are regarded safe for Hoover by Republican headquarters.

Despite all the polls and other evidence of G. O. P. disaffection in California, Republican managers refuse to concede the President's home state as doubtful. They insist their reports show the contrary.

EXHAUSTED

SENATOR JAMES E. WATSON.

Madison, Ind., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Senator James E. Watson, one of the leaders of the Hoover administration in the senate, stopped in the middle of a campaign speech at a rally here today and announced that he was unable to finish because of exhaustion.

Senator Watson remained on the speakers' platform, however, until the program had been concluded, and was reported in no danger this evening. He said that he experienced similar exhaustion a week ago in a speech at Peru, Ind., where he collapsed after finishing his speech. He suffered three similar attacks recently in Washington, he said.

Mr. Watson is in the midst of a hot campaign for reëlection against Frederick Van Nuys, the Democratic nominee. During his last campaign, six years ago, he was injured in an automobile accident, and spent the remainder of the campaign period in a hospital, winning reëlection by 12,000 votes.

FIVE SENATORS RENOMINATED; ONE DEFEATED

Broussard of Louisiana Loses to Long Man.

Of the half dozen United States senators seeking renomination in Tuesday's primaries five were victorious and one was defeated, according to unofficial returns. Colorado and Georgia, the returns indicate, will have new men in the senate.

Louisiana was the state in which a senator failed of renomination. Senator Edwin S. Broussard lost to Representative John H. Overton, who had the backing of Senator Huey Long for the Democratic nomination, regarded as equivalent to election. Six Long backed men won congressional nominations and in two other districts the results were in doubt.

Crisp Loses in Georgia.

In Georgia, Gov. Richard B. Russell apparently had won the Democratic senatorial nomination over Representative Charles R. Crisp. Gov. Russell was leading 260 unit votes to 108. Under the Georgia system 206 unit votes are required to win. The campaign in Georgia was a lively and hard fought one.

Colorado's Democratic senatorial nominee is Alva B. Adams, Pueblo banker, who defated John T. Barrett, Denver oil man. The Republican standard bearer is Karl C. Schuyler, who defeated Nate C. Warren. The opposing candidates for governor will be Lieut. Gov. Edwin C. Johnson, Democrat, and James D. Parriott, Republican.

Moses Renominated.

Senator George H. Moses was renominated by the Republicans in New Hampshire. His opponent will be Fred H. Brown, former governor and Democratic leader. Gov. John H. Winant was renominated and his Democratic opponent will be Henri T. Ledoux.

Vermont gave Senator Porter Dale the Republican nomination again. The Republicans also renominated Gov. S. C. Wilson and Representative E. W. Gibson. The Democratic candidate for governor is Fred C. Martin.

Senator Jones Wins.

Senator Wesley L. Jones, author of the "five and ten" dry law, was renominated by Washington Republicans over Adam Beeler, Seattle lawyer. Homer T. Bone, Tacoma lawyer, is the choice of the Democrats for senator. Representative Ralph Horr, militant wet, was defeated for the Republican nomination for congress in the Seattle district by John F. Miller, whom he defeated for the nomination two years ago. Roland H. Hartley, governor for eight years, was defeated for the Republican nomination by John A. Gellatly, lieutenant governor.

In Arizona Senator Carl Hayden, Democrat, was renominated. Gov. George W. P. Hunt, who is 73, lost the Democratic nomination to Dr. B. B. Mouer. The Democratic registration for the primaries was four times that of the Republicans.

Senator Ellison D. Smith was renominated by the Democrats in South Carolina over Cole L. Blease, former senator.

Big Democratic Vote.

A feature of the Michigan primary was the record number of Democratic votes cast. Approximately a quarter of a million Democrats went to the polls. In the Seventh congressional district Louis C. Cramton, Republican, lost the nomination to Representative Jesse P. Wolcott, who defeated him two years ago. The same fate befell Grant M. Hudson, in the Sixth district, when he was defeated a second time by Representative Seymour Person. The Republicans renominated Gov. W. M. Brucker. The Democratic nominee for governor is William A. Comstock, a wet.

In convention today Delaware Republicans renominated C. Douglass Buck for governor and Attorney General Reuben Satterthwaite for congressman.

Down in Texas the state Democratic convention declared Mrs. Miriam A. [Ma] Kennedy their nominee for governor and adopted a platform written by her husband, James E. Ferguson, who was impeached while governor 15 years ago.

FOES OF RUTH PRATT CHARGE SHE VIOLATES FRANKING PRIVILEGE

New York, Sept. 14.—Special.]—Opponents of Mrs. Ruth Baker Pratt, candidate for renomination for congress from the seventeenth congressional district, today charged that she had recently sent out improperly under her congressional franking privilege more than 70,000 letters to voters in her district. She inclosed a pamphlet in which she described the achievements of the Seventy-second congress up to date and incidentally, her own vote on important measures that came up while it had been in session.

Mrs. Pratt did not deny the allegation.

"I have no apologies to make," Mrs. Pratt said at headquarters of the Republican national committee. "If the occasion should arise I would not hesitate to do the same thing again. What I sent out was on congress business, a report to my constituents to enlighten them with regard to what the Seventy-second congress had accomplished."

Mae Murray's Sister-in-Law Files Suit for Divorce

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Mrs. Anna King, sister-in-law of Mae Murray, today filed a suit for divorce against William R. King on the grounds that for years her husband depended on his sister for his family's support and left his family without support when Miss Murray cut off his income. Mrs. King asks custody of the couple's sons, aged 8 and 6, and that their father be compelled to support and educate them.

VETS' FAMILY IS EVICTED; SEVEN SLEEP ON PORCH

Gustave Buesing, unemployed war veteran, stood guard over his furniture in front while his wife and six of their seven children slept on mattresses on the back porch of a neighbor's home at 2437 North Halsted street last night. Late in the afternoon their landlord had them evicted for being five months behind in the rent for their apartment at 2437 North Halsted street.

The six children range in age from 3 to 12 years. Five of them are girls. The seventh child, a 3 month old girl, is ill in the charity ward at the Children's Memorial hospital.

"This is not a stunt," the father said. "The charities have been helping us on food and fuel but they haven't the money to pay rents. We are in the street because we have no place else to go."

KILLED BY STREET CAR.

Sam Lisita, 45 years old, 5958 South Winchester avenue, was killed yesterday when he was struck by a street car at 59th and Lincoln streets.

BRIDGE CLOSED; CITY OPENS TRADE ANNEX ON OPPOSITE SHORE

Fullerton, Neb., Sept. 14.—(AP)—It's a lot of work, but business is business.

The Loup river bridge near here needs reflooring and the job will start tomorrow, taking about six weeks. Not wishing to lose the trade which comes to them from south of the bridge, Fullerton merchants are planning to set up a minature village on the south shore.

Cream, poultry and eggs will be bought there. The business men are planning to operate a bus from the north side of the bridge into town. A footbridge will be provided for pedestrian passage across the water.

VANDALS SMASH WINDOWS OF 4 CLEANING SHOPS

Windows in four shops of the Checker Cleaners, Inc., an independent concern, were broken early yesterday. Three men riding in a small sedan threw bricks through the windows at 934 West 79th street, 5859 and 6547 South Halsted street, and 5202 South Ashland avenue, witnesses said. After the description of the car was broadcast a Grand Crossing police squad fired 10 shots at a similar automobile in a mile chase, which ended in the escape of the suspects.

AS YOU DESIRE ME
your skin—index to youth!
to keep it enchanting, desirable
this much OLIVE OIL goes into each cake of Palmolive →
WHAT does your skin feel like? Touch it. Is it smooth, soft, vibrant. Is it young, firm, inviting? If not, how can you seem desirable, appealing? Remember, your skin is an index to youth.
Skin can be kept young
You can hold skin-charm indefinitely. But to do so you must follow expert advice. Just read the simple rule experts lay down. See how much it depends on the use of olive oil.
Olive oil glorifies skin
Use olive oil, beauty experts say, in soap. Use Palmolive—the one great soap whose beauty ingredient is largely olive oil. They ask you to use it faithfully, regularly. Rub its fine, youth-fostering lather right into the skin of your whole body.
Then—watch youth return
A fine, smooth skin . . . a youthful skin . . . will reward you. Because Palmolive—being composed so largely of olive oil—does smooth, soften, soothe the skin. It does tone skin, bringing tingling vitality to the surface. It does add that skin charm so aptly called "schoolgirl complexion" . . . the charm that makes you, keeps you desirable.

BOARD ORDERS $1,386,000 CUT IN SCHOOL COSTS

Savage Protests Playground Economy.

A reduction of $1,386,000 in educational, playgrounds, and text book funds was ordered by the board of education yesterday afternoon. The economies were made necessary by the $15,000,000 cut in the 1932 school tax levy last July.

The announcement of a proposed saving of $100,000 for playgrounds brought Trustee Joseph Savage to his feet. "This is false economy," he shouted. "We are constantly depriving the children of their rights. Now you are going to close up playgrounds."

Recalls Own Play Days.

"My understanding is that in order to make the reduction supervisors will be removed from four playgrounds but they will be left open," said Trustee Robert Carr. "You know when we were children we didn't have playgrounds, supervisors, or a lot of fine equipment. We just had an open space at the school and we made up our own games. It seems to be that in these hard times we should do everything to relieve the taxpayers' burden."

Herman J. Fischer, director of the bureau of recreation, told the board repairs and purchases would be curtailed throughout the playground system to bring the reduction to $100,000.

The trustees then voted for the reductions, with Mr. Savage dissenting on the playground fund. The proposals had been formulated by the subcommittee of the board of educational economy, headed by H. Wallace Caldwell.

Save $500,000 on Salaries.

The savings in other branches will be as follows: Text book fund, $150,000; operating costs, $426,000; substitute service work, $200,000; and salvage from teachers' salaries, $500,000.

Trustee Ernst Buehler moved that the board reconsider its action of last Monday when it voted favorably on Mr. Savage's motion to abolish the positions of forty-seven bath attendants, who he said were temporary employés.

The motion to reconsider was lost.

The board adopted a resolution asking the special session of the legislature to repeal the tax payment feature of the "N. S. F." check law, which security experts found impairs the salability of tax anticipation warrants. Charles B. Stillman, chairman of the joint conference of twenty-seven teacher organizations, told the trustees that twenty-two of the groups had voted for the repeal.

CITY EMPLOYES ARE TO BE PAID $1,900,000 TODAY

City Controller Szymczak called his office yesterday by telephone from New York and ordered that all city employés, including those of the municipal tuberculosis sanitarium, be given two weeks' pay today.

The pay rolls for the last half of June total about $1,900,000. Board of education employés will not be included in the pay roll. The funds for the city employés' pay day are available without the further sale of tax warrants through the accumulation in the corporate fund of city fees and tax collections not required for the redemption of warrants.

"We are negotiating for the further sale of tax warrants and city bonds," Mr. Szymczak said from New York.

Wilmette Raises Cash; Schools to Open Monday

The Wilmette board of education headed by Henry E. Cutler, decided to open the public schools next Monday at a meeting last night at the John Stolp school in the suburb. The opening date had been undecided pending the outcome of a drive to sell tax anticipation warrants. Mr. Cutler announced that $21,000 worth of warrants had been pledged and that subscriptions not yet reported probably would amount to $25,000 more. This will be enough cash to operate the schools until January, he added.

COURT REJECTS MASSEY'S PLEA TO QUASH WRIT

Richard J. Massey, official of a flavoring extract company, applied to Judge Joseph B. David in the Superior court to have set aside an order of sequestration upon which the furnishings of his home at 1526 Birchwood avenue, were seized several months ago, pending settlement of a $32,894 claim which the courts allowed his daughter, Mrs. Gwendolyn Massey Tibor, 1452 Fargo avenue. Massey posted a $5,000 bond following the seizure and has been allowed to use the furniture.

Mrs. Tibor obtained an order last November from Circuit Judge Daniel P. Trude, instructing her father to pay her the money under the terms of a divorce decree by which Massey was to pay Mrs. Laura Massey $40,000 in yearly installments, the payments to be continued to her daughter in the event of her death. Mrs. Massey died September, 1928, after less than $8,000 had been paid her, and the daughter charged that her father had refused to continue the payments. Judge David refused to quash the writ of sequestration, referring the case to Master in Chancery Fred Bernstrin for hearing. Massey contends that the furnishings are the property of his second wife.

SANITARY BOARD SEEKS $34,450,000 LOAN FROM R.F.C.

William Rothmann, attorney for the sanitary district, will leave for Washington this afternoon to seek a loan of $34,450,000 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation. A large trunk filled with supporting data for the board's application will be taken by the attorney, who will ask for an early hearing.

The funds would be used for completing the Calumet and west side and north side sewage projects. Thomas J. Bowler, president of the district; Ross A. Woodhull, chairman of the finance committee; Edward J. Kelly, chief engineer; James E. Sullivan, chief clerk; Attorney Rothmann, and others will attend the hearing.

URGE ONE PARK DISTRICT FOR ALL OF COUNTY

$1,000,000 Saving Seen in Merger Plan.

Consolidation of 56 separate park districts in Cook county under one metropolitan administration was proposed yesterday as the first recommendation to be made as a result of the state's inquiry into overlapping governments and excessive governmental costs in the Chicago area.

The recommendation was announced by State Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg, chairman of the committee on consolidation of local governments of the Illinois commission on taxation and expenditure. It was based upon a preliminary report on the park situation prepared by Griffenhagen and Associates, technical advisers to the committee.

The report of the technical advisers is not complete and is not to be regarded as indicative of the recommendation which Representative Schnackenberg's committee will make to the legislature, he said.

Sees $1,000,000 Saving.

"However," he continued, "the findings regarding parks are typical of many other departments of government, and are so striking that the proposals are worthy of the prompt attention of our citizens. Our Cook county park districts spend approximately $13,000,000 a year. It is estimated that at least $1,000,000 a year in overhead costs could be saved under a well organized, consolidated metropolitan park district."

The present status of park administration in the county is briefly sketched in the report as follows:

Chicago has three large park districts, the west, Lincoln and south parks, of which the first two are administered by commissioners appointed by the governor, and the last by a board appointed by the judges of the Circuit court.

Within the city are 19 smaller park districts, with elective commissioners. The city itself maintains 73 small parks, 37 playgrounds, 20 bathing beaches, and 4 natatoriums. The board of education administers 65 playgrounds.

The county commissioners are ex-officio forest preserve commissioners, administering that vast park area. There are 24 park districts, run by elective boards, in Cook county outside Chicago. In addition, nearly all of the 90 suburban cities and villages maintain their own park and playground systems.

"Systems Not Well Planned."

"Contrary to the general impression," says the experts' report, "the existing park systems are not even well planned for the entire metropolitan area. Each district calmly proceeds in its own way with little consideration of what overlapping and neighboring areas are planning.

"As a result, with the exception of the forest preserves and the large parks and chain of boulevards, so wisely planned in past decades, the park areas do not serve the citizens properly, and are not well located in respect to present population trends."

The report suggests that the proposed metropolitan park district, in which all of the 56 independent districts in and outside Chicago would be consolidated, be county-wide in area and administered by commissioners elected by all the voters of the county. Suburban towns and the city of Chicago would have the option of continuing to administer their own parks or of placing them under the new district.

De Lugach Answers Wife's Divorce Bill Charges

Frank De Lugach, real estate broker, filed a reply yesterday in the Superior court to the divorce bill in which Mrs. Ruth De Lugach, 9811 South Damen avenue, accused him of gambling away a $750,000 fortune. Denying his wife's charge that he was subject to "a pathological craving for games of chance," he made the same charge against her. He also charged that she was "so unintelligent that he never could consult her in business matters." Mrs. De Lugach asserted she helped him make his fortune in the real estate business.

THE FALL OF CONSTANTINOPLE

"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by Thomas Webb... inspired by the savage slaughter of 5000 Christian defenders—at the hands of the vengeful, barbaric horde of 250,000 men under the ruthless Mohammed II—1453!

—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes

They are not present in Luckies ... the mildest cigarette you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

"It's toasted"

That package of mild Luckies

"If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse-trap than his neighbor, tho he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."—RALPH WALDO EMERSON.

Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?

RELIEF PARLEY GROUP IS NAMED BY LEGISLATURE

Conference Will Be Held in Chicago.

BY PARKE BROWN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—What was considered the first ray of hope that this special session of the Illinois general assembly will accomplish something toward the relief of the unemployed of the state developed today.

The two chambers adopted a resolution creating a joint committee that will meet with the state emergency relief commission in Chicago next Monday in an effort to agree upon a specific program of revenue legislation designed to meet the commission's statement that it will need 36 million dollars for disbursement during the approaching winter.

It is possible also that this committee, or its representatives, will go to Washington to place the situation squarely before the board of the Reconstruction Finance corporation and endeavor to obtain the loan of additional funds to meet the crisis here.

Sees Sales Tax Doomi.

Until today, as many members have characterized it, the special session has "floundered" on the question of relief. The sales tax, the one measure calculated to bring in the amount of revenue sought, apparently had no chance of passage. In the senate, where it is up to the passing stage, there was no effort to bring action today, and in the house a resolution for the creation of a special committee on this subject was defeated overwhelmingly.

The senate did pass the Meents bill—which now goes to the house for concurrence — authorizing individual counties to issue their own nonreferendum bonds to be retired by their shares of the state gasoline tax. But this was considered inadequate, and it appeared that this would be another "do nothing" session until the creation of the special joint committee was authorized.

The need for this sort of leadership has been recognized ever since Gov. Emmerson, in response to the explicit demands of Atlee Pomerene, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, called the special session. But it took two weeks of scattering debate to bring definite action.

Fourteen on Committee.

The resolution provided that the committee consist of the presiding officers of the two chambers—Lieut. Gov. Fred E. Sterling in the senate and Speaker David E. Shanahan in the house—and six members from each house.

Lieut. Gov. Sterling named as his appointees Senators Richard J. Barr of Joliet, Martin R. Carlson of Moline, Arthur A. Huebsch of Brookfield, Cook county; James J. Barbour of Evanston, Thomas J. Courtney, and Francis J. Loughran, the latter two of Chicago. After a conference with Minority Leader Michael L. Igoe, Speaker Shanahan named as the house members Igoe, David Hunter Jr. of Rockford, Roland V. Libonati, Chicago, Elmer J. Schnackenberg, Chicago, David H. McCluggage, Peoria, and Michael Fahy, Toluca.

This committee is to meet with Edward L. Ryerson Jr., chairman of the emergency relief commission, at 10 o'clock next Monday morning and attempt to determine just what will be asked of the legislature and what of the Reconstruction Finance corporation to meet the needs of the next winter.

Legal Point Is Raised.

That the house is completely at a loss as to means of providing the funds sought by the relief commission was demonstrated during the debate when Representative Timothy J. Sullivan raised a legal point that might prove to be of far reaching effect in connection with such legislation.

Sullivan, a Springfield lawyer, said that he recently had had occasion to read up on cases based on the 14th amendment to the federal constitution and that what he had learned in doing so had raised in his mind the question whether taxation for relief purposes is constitutional. His argument in the house was prolonged but he boiled it down to a few words after the day's recess.

"The constitution prohibits confiscation of property," he said. "Now are we to say to one man who has a dollar that he must give half of it to his neighbor who is out of work? Isn't that approaching bolshevism and communism?"

Hostile to Sales Tax.

This argument, however, failed to upset the feeling of the law makers that extraordinary means must be exerted to meet the crisis of this winter. Still they continued to manifest their hostility to the general sales tax idea. When Representative Libonati of Chicago presented a resolution for the appointment of a special committee to investigate the sales tax in Mississippi and Pennsylvania he found himself the only member voting for his motion.

Most of the time of the house was devoted to a hearing on the bills of the state housing commission to replace slums with modern buildings in which apartments may be rented at a low price. While there was no denunciatory opposition to these bills, members of the house showed an antipathy to the socialistic, paternalistic idea, as they described it, involved in the measures.

In addition to this quiet but apparently firm hostility to the idea of the government engaging in the housing business, there was criticism of the almost unlimited powers of condemnation that would be conveyed to housing corporations under the supervision of the state housing commission.

Housing Program Backed.

The housing commission was represented here by Alfred K. Stern, its chairman, and the advocates of the bills included Daniel H. Burnham, representing the Commercial club; Miss Mary McDowell of the University of Chicago settlement, and Walter S. Dodd, former secretary of the Illinois legislative reference bureau, who is recognized here as a constitutional authority. Victor Olander of the state federation of labor was represented by George Ottens, who presented a resolution of the federation indorsing the housing program.

But the showdown came when Representative Igoe moved that the committee of the whole, wherein the hearing had been held, recommend that the housing bills be recommended for passage. A. B. Lager of Carlyle moved as a substitute that the bills be reported out without recommendation and his motion was passed by a vote of 26 to 17.

The senate held only a brief session and probably will not have a quorum tomorrow for the consideration of the sales tax or any other bill.

Chicago Measures Lose.

One of these was the act to permit the Chicago sanitary district to deposit its own securities for loans from the R. F. C. and the other was one that would permit the Cook county board to issue nonreferendum bonds for the $1,500,000 it expended in relief work before the state took over the job. County Commissioners Peter Kelly and George Miller spoke in support of the latter bill, but were heckled considerably.

While there must still be house concurrence, the representatives of Chicago teachers' organizations were cheered when the senate on the motion of the author, Senator Noah M. Mason, of La Salle county, passed by a vote of 37 to 0 the bill repealing the N. S. F. teachers' check law, which has blocked the sale of Chicago board of education tax warrants.

NOTICES MAILED ON AMENDMENT OF CONSTITUTION

City's Share of Cost to Be About $20,000.

Approximately 1,500,000 notices to voters that a proposal to adopt the "gateway amendment"—which would permit three amendments to the Illinois constitution each biennium instead of only one—is to be placed on the ballots for the Nov. 8 election were being mailed yesterday at the election commissioners' offices here.

As an economy measure the envelopes are left unsealed and 1 cent instead of three cent stamps will be used. Mrs. Mabel G. Reinecke, member of the election commission, said the cost would be about $20,000 and it will be borne by the city of Chicago, as similar notices sent in the county and outside the city will be under the charge of County Clerk Eweltzer and at county expense. Mrs. Reinecke said a provision in the constitution requires such notice and each county is required to stand the expense.

The legislature on June 13, 1931, ordered the question once more submitted to the voters. Mrs. Reinecke said that due to similar acts of previous legislatures notices of the same kind were sent at a cost to the Chicago election commission of $51,000 in 1926 and $54,000 in 1930. At previous elections the voters have shown they favor this proposed amendment, but because large numbers who voted for candidates did not vote on the question, it was defeated for lack of "a majority of all those voting in the general election," which is required by law. In the election of Nov. 4 1924, the vote was: For the amendment, 704,665; against, 397,835; but, inasmuch as 704,665 was not a majority of all those voting, the amendment was declared lost.

The notices ready for the mails call attention to another proposition for the voters on Nov. 8. There will be "an emergency relief" ballot, separate from the candidate ballot. The question will be on the issuance of $20,000,000 of state bonds to pay notes for money obtained for relief already given the needy, and a continuation of this work.

CONGRESS RACE SWINGING INTO ECONOMY MARCH

Candidate Questionnaires Reflect Tax Uprising.

An uprising of taxpayers against the growth of taxeating bureaucracy is finding its reaction among candidates for congress in all the states. Such is the indication of the early replies to the questionnaire circulated by the National Organization to Reduce Public Expenditures. George W. Rossetter, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce and chairman of the organization which is fighting waste in government, reported yesterday that candidates are pledging themselves to slashes in appropriations.

"With one exception," said Mr. Rossetter, "all the replies so far received have been from men who sat in the last congress. Each of them not only promises to help vote lower government budgets into being, but, in two instances, they state our organization is too conservative in asking a mere 750 million dollar slash in annual appropriations and that savings of more than a billion dollars annually are easily possible.

"The most interesting reaction we have run into is a tendency by congressmen seeking reelection to assure economies by eliminating overlapping bureaus and commissions and to use the knife on all federal salaries over $2,500 a year.

"Some of the very men who now state that too many commissions and bureaus have been created at Washington were among those who voted religiously in the past for millions of taxpayers' money to bring these same goverment agencies into being and to keep them going."

Rotary Joins Movement.

The Chicago Rotary club yesterday sent out an appeal to the 51 district governors of Rotary in the United States urging them to line up the 120,000 members in their 2,443 clubs behind the National Organization to Reduce Public Expenditures.

Representatives of the Chicago Retail Druggists' association, with 1,500 members, announced they would seek similar action by the National Retail Druggists' association when it meets at Boston on Sept. 26. The national group represents 30,000 store owners. The Wyoming Taxpayers' league announced it has started to organize that state for the movement.

HOLDS ELECTRIC RATE CUT WOULD BE HARMFUL

Madison, Wis., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—If the cost of government were reduced only 5 per cent the saving would pay the full residence electric bill of all persons in the United States, Dr. Warren Persons, consulting economist of New York, told the public service commission tonight.

Dr. Persons was called to testify by the Milwaukee Electric company in its effort to justify a rental stipulated under a lease from the Wisconsin Electric Power company through which it operates the Lakeside power plant in Milwaukee.

The testimony of the economist, who was a member of the National Monetary commission, an employé of the federal government in economic research and is author of several books on causes of and remedies for economic depressions, contrasted widely with the statements of other nationally known economists who were called by the commission in the Wisconsin Telephone company investigation to show a need for reductions in utility rates.

"By no flight of the imagination can it be said that the cost of electric service was any cause of the depression or now is a contributing factor retarding recovery," Dr. Persons said. "The cost of government is a much greater factor."

"Great harm would result to a company if rates were arbitrarily reduced and if it were not permitted to earn sufficient revenues to cover the cost of capital, because it would decrease the company's credit rating and would effect its security market. Such an impairment would compel the company to pay higher interest rates for many years. The public would be compelled to pay for the economic error."

that exact their final payments on the highways

EVERYBODY is being tempted by "bargain" prices in the tire market. These tires are attractively cheap—until the final cost is added up by disaster on streets and highways.

The General Tire and Rubber Company condemns the practice of lowering quality to meet price. Tires are not stationary merchandise. Tires deal with human safety. Tires carry human beings at modern speeds of 60 miles an hour—that's 88 feet a second.

The gruesome casualty list will increase in direct proportion to the volume of unsafe, doubtful tires sold.

Tires Built for 25 Miles an Hour Should Not be Driven 40, 50 or 60

Driving at 60 or better on tires built for 25 miles an hour is dangerous business.

Tires are the biggest single factor in driving safety. Blowouts and skidding account for an appalling number of accidents.

Unhampered by the dictates of big volume buyers General always has been free to mold its own policy—strict adherence to absolute Top Quality. That policy has not changed.

17.6% Increase in Sales Proves That People Still Want Quality

Every effort is being made to blind the public to quality with blatant appeals of price and misleading claims.

Everybody is not yielding to this price temptation. Proof? 17.6% more Generals were bought in the first six months of 1932 than in that same period of last year. Can any other tire manufacturer say anything like that?

Generals always were worth their difference in price, even when that difference was measured in dollars. Now the low cost of rubber and other materials brings General's Top Quality within range of any motorist.

General's success proves the soundness of sticking to Top Quality. The 17.6% increase in sales proves that people want the exclusive advantages of patented no-breaker-strip construction—full-length plies from bead to bead—blowout-proof and skid-safe protection—the luxurious comfort of 30% less air pressure—and the economy of General's famous big mileage.

THE GENERAL TIRE & RUBBER CO., AKRON, OHIO

Here's the Final Price

152,732 persons killed in only 5 years of automobile accidents.

66,100 killed and injured by cars leaving road.

$2,500,000,000 property loss each year—exceeding total cost of public school education.

That means a cost of $20 for every man, woman and child in the United States.

Caution

"There is hardly anything in the world that some man cannot make a little worse and sell a little cheaper and the people who consider price only are this man's lawful prey." —Ruskin.

TWO MORE VOTES.

While political prophets are interpreting the signs from Maine there is one result which is not speculative or hypothetical. Two congressmen will take their seats in the next congress who are pledged to prohibition repeal and Volstead modification. They will take the places of two who were not so pledged.

The gain is more than two votes. It is striking evidence of the scope and strength of the revolt against the prohibition régime. Maine was the first of the prohibition states. Now she joins dry California, Virginia, South Carolina in the movement for reform. Whether in November she goes for Hoover or Roosevelt she has gone anti-prohibition and two of her three votes in the house of representatives will be so cast. The full significance of the election as a portent of the presidential contest may be debatable. As a portent of the coming release from the rule of prohibition it is clear. As a gain for modification and repeal it is two votes in congress for the oldest prohibition state and also a reminder that the way to smash Volsteadism and get repeal on its way is not by party declaration but by putting in congress men who will vote for modification and repeal. The issue is not in the national contest. It is in the states. It is not a presidential issue nor a party issue in this election. The fight must be won by congressional votes.

MORE VIEWS ON JUDICIAL SELECTION.

Leaders of the New York bar have arrived at the conviction that something must be done to improve the method of judicial selection. The Association of the Bar of the City of New York has decided in favor of appointment by the governor, with confirmation by the senate. Judges have been elected since 1846. Some of the weakness of the elective system has been diminished in recent years by extending the term of judges to fourteen years, but in the city, at least, this has not prevented the operation of unscrupulous political influences. This is recognized by the association, which, after debating the report of a committee on judicial selection, passed a resolution in favor of appointment upon the ground that "the elective system has not actually transferred the power of selection of judicial officers from some person or group of persons to the people—as those who advocated such change in the state constitutional convention of 1846 contended that it would—but has merely permitted the electorate to vote for candidates selected by leaders or bosses of the various political parties, with no control by the electorate over the choice of candidates so selected, with the result that the elective system has usually resulted in the dominant party in each locality merely ratifying, by election, the candidates of such party, so selected."

Neither the committee report mentioned above nor the plan adopted seems to us very intelligent. The former adverts to the plan included in the unratified Illinois constitution of 1923, which provided that the governor should appoint to the Cook county judgeships, but only from a list submitted by the Supreme court. At the end of six years the incumbents would run for reëlection. The report disapproves this plan on the ground that it provides for a "recall election." We agree with the Journal of the American Judicature Society that the objection is insufficient. There is "recall" under the elective system, inasmuch as the incumbent must go into a free-for-all contest, in which political backing usually is decisive. But a compromise between the unqualified appointment plan and the unqualified election plan has been proposed under which after appointment the incumbent after a term of office would submit himself to the voters on the simple issue of retention or removal. In case voters refused approval the place would be filled by appointment. This seems to avoid the evils of political contest while retaining in the voters the power to retire a judge whose record they do not approve.

As we have said in other discussions of judicial selection, we cannot dismiss the dangers of the unqualified appointment plan or approve the complete surrender of the right of the people to get rid of judges whose conduct they have not approved. A survey of our history ought to remind us that the judiciary may be an agent of tyranny as well as the executive or legislative branch of government. The Volstead régime has offered us some recent examples. Vesting the power of permanent or long term appointment in the executive works well when the executive is able and conscientious, but we have had executives who were neither. It seems to us that the New York plan is ill considered. The federal analogy is not reliable, and, in fact, it may be seriously argued that the federal plan of straightout appointment confirmation might some day need qualification.

THE TRIBUNE is not advocating any particular plan. It is primarily for the experts, the bench and bar, to work out a better method than either the unqualified appointment or the unqualified elective system. It must be agreed that present conditions under the latter system are highly unsatisfactory. It should be possible upon the basis of more than a century of experience to devise a method which shall retain the merits of both the appointive and the elective methods. We do not think any uniform plan for all the state courts is politically practicable or perhaps even desirable, but the bar of each state should study its own conditions and try to frame a method acceptable to its people. The objective, at any rate, is a common one—namely: to remove judgeships from the political bargain counter and to provide a method of selecting judges which reduces political influence over the judiciary to a minimum.

THE MAIN BATTLE.

Citizens throughout the country who are organizing to force reduction of public expenditure and tax relief upon spending agencies will welcome and emphatically support Mr. Hoover's call upon the director of the budget for at least half a billion reduction in the estimates for next year. They will note also that, as the President points out, additional authority from congress is required to permit retrenchment on the scale which the situation demands. "While the executive," says Mr. Hoover, "can budget various activities upon the lowest possible basis, still a large part of the government activities are fixed by law and they must be budgeted for expenditure. In some of these cases the whole or part of the activities can be suspended only with the approval of congress." They will not have that approval unless the taxpayers and opponents of bureaucracy are organized and able to bring decisive pressure directly upon congressmen.

Exhortations to economy in general cannot avail against the special interests concerned with getting public money or with preventing the elimination of expenditures and activities. Many of these activities are plausible in themselves, established through good motives, but neither proper to the federal government nor consistent with the demands of public economy. Some will have the benefit of much amiable zeal, some the benefit of less admirable logrolling and pull. Adequate retrenchment, which is drastic retrenchment, can be defeated piecemeal and will be unless it has a definite program and a fighting organization of national scope to back it.

This organization is growing and must continue to grow if the fight for tax relief is to be won. The men who are active in this movement are carrying on the main battle for American economic restoration and American principles of government.

MAINTENANCE CHARGES FIRST.

The cause of the blowing up of the steamer Observation in New York harbor may never be known, but attention in the inquiry should be focused upon the inspection service which granted to a vessel more than forty years old a license to operate. The presumption should be that a ship that old is long past its period of usefulness. Only in the most exceptional circumstances, after a much more than casual inspection of hull and machinery, should such a ship be permitted to operate.

The need for rigid inspections is particularly strong in a time of business depression. When cash is hard to get, owners are tempted to skimp repairs and replacements. This is said, of course, with no knowledge of what the owners of the Observation may or may not have done to keep the ship in safe running order.

The financial difficulties of almost all the common carriers these days are unprecedented, but railroad, steamship and bus line executives must accept the fact that their first duty is to maintain their equipment in good running order. Wages, interest and dividends must be sacrificed, if necessary, to provide for maintenance.

Owners of private automobiles have a similar duty. The automobile owner who neglects to keep his brakes in good order and to have his car periodically checked for mechanical faults is guilty of carelessness that is nothing short of criminal. If he cannot afford to keep his car in a mechanically sound condition, he cannot afford to run it.

Editorial of the Day

ADVICE TO TEACHERS.
[Peoria Transcript.]

There was something unusual in the advice given to teachers of Peoria county at their annual institute session the other morning. Dr. Elbert K. Fretwell, associate professor of education in the teachers' college of Columbia university, did not offer the teachers the old "be good and you'll be happy" formula which has been the staple of teachers' institutes for years. Instead he talked to the teachers as if their task were not merely to instruct children but to educate them.

To this end Dr. Fretwell reminded the teachers that in any intelligent community, whether in the schoolroom, drawing room, or lecture room, a difference of opinion may be worth much more than a general agreement. He suggested that the teacher who finds intelligent disagreement in a pupil regarding any question of interpretation of facts or theories is doing incalculable harm if he attempts to make the pupil think as he does.

The little red schoolhouse, presided over by an incompetent martinet, not infrequently produced great minds, but generally because any form of strict discipline makes for rebellion. The modern schoolroom, where knowledge is made seductive, where teachers too often persuade children to agree with them rather than challenge them to disagree, tends to produce a mental softness which is unquestionably bad for the "self-corrective" process which Dr. Fretwell thinks is true education.

Easy methods of teaching are more often the worst foes of learning that can be found on intellectual battlefields. The evolution of modern education has been toward softer instruction—some of it, however, of the sort which deprives the pupil of opportunity to think for himself. Our school system has become increasingly diverse in its teaching aim. Thus, we urge the moral obligation to brush the teeth twice a day. Granting the wisdom of the brushing, it is nevertheless dangerous to make a moral issue of clean teeth, and it certainly does not make for mental agility and clarity to mold child minds into a single form by overly gentle persuasion which does not provoke thinking.

If there be any danger in modern educational methods it is not due to a lack of material for instruction. The simplicity of the three R's was not an intrinsic virtue, but when schoolrooms were less pliable institutions, when children learned by rote, a few braver mentalities clambered out of the ruck of mediocrity.

To accomplish the same end nowadays in a schoolroom of diverse and complicated educational intentions, much more is demanded of the teacher. Dr. Fretwell is persuasive when he suggests this demand is for mental agility, open mindedness, insatiable curiosity, and a kind of ironic doubt as to whether there are any eternal verities in mathematics, literature, or conduct.

Knowledge, in an age of speed, moves more rapidly than methods designed to impart it. A teacher who recognizes this is not likely to make the mistake of being sure he or she knows it all.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

MAINE

(According to new Democratic geography.)

Maine. The greatest state in the country! The greatest state in any country! The greatest state in the world! Gloriously situated in the northeast portion of our glorious nation. Bounded on the north by Canada; on the east by Happiness; on the south by oceans of joy, and on the west by the delighted cheers of the Democrats. The climate is most salubrious, healthy, inspiring, and sopping wet. Population, 118,958 souls and some Republicans. It is a most fertile state, everything growing to immense size, especially Democratic election majorities. State flower, the Forget-Me-Not. State motto, "Remember the Maine vote." State slogan, "Do with Might and Maine."

Ah, little children, nothing re-Maines to be said. And now that likker is coming back, let us pipe all hands on deck and splice the Maine brace.

Maine.

(From the new Republican geography.)

Maine. A bleak, cold country in the northeast corner of the United States of America, somewhere near Labrador. Discovered by Leif Ericson, who was so disgusted with Maine after living there a couple of weeks that he decided to go back to Norway and forget about discovering America. Inhabited by woodticks, Indians, small mouth black bass, porcupines, wolves, lumberjacks, rock scorpions, devilfish, and Democrats. State flower, the poison ivy. State motto, "Thiseo Issa Helluva Placeo." Principal occupations, sitting in front of the village store, clam digging, and the manufacture of antique hooked rugs and squirrel whisky. Climate, formerly bone dry, now soaking wet. The state originally belonged to the Indians, from whom it was bought by the first white settlers for a dollar and seventy-five cents in cash and nine strings of glass beads. The first settlers were cheated. The name "Maine" is from the Indian word "Meijeine," meaning a pain in the neck.

UP AND DOWN THE RIVER.

Up and down the river,
In these Autumn days,
Fairy dreams and voices
Haunt the grassy ways.

Still some posies linger
In the shady nooks;
Still the birds teach wisdom
Never found in books.

Daisies throng the meadow
Yonder where the sun
Shines as though the Summer
Had but well begun.

Up and down the river
Who could hint at grief—
Where dear, loving Nature
Speaks through every leaf!

Though tomorrow bring me
Care and shadows gray,
Up and down the river—

THOMAS CURTIS CLARK.

A RAILROAD COMPANY was held up in Boston yesterday and robbed of nineteen thousand dollars. Aren't robbers wonderful! They're the only people in the world who would ever suspect a railroad of having so much money.

SINCE JIMMIE WALKER went away the former hilarious custom of receiving distinguished visitors in New York by a grand escort of mounted police and flower covered motors up Broadway while the air was filled with confetti, pages out of the telephone books, and ticker tape has been discontinued. Heroes and other great men now have to fight their way through the crowds at the docks just like ordinary humans, and nobody greets them except cold, fishy-eyed customs inspectors and dry agents. And if any visitors insist on making a call at the city hall they'll find the door shut. But if they knock on the door long enough it may open and a janitor stick his head out and say: "We hain't buyin' no books er lead pencils today." Ah, how times have changed since Jimmie was Caliph of Bagdad!

BOTH POLITICAL PARTIES, to say nothing of our peerless leader, Norman Thomas, should proclaim a "I don't wantta throw away my vote week." Any party that can grab hold of those fellows is bound to win.

Stop, Jo Jo! There Seems Something Hidden in Your Words.

R. H. L.: The press reports that Mr. Hoover does not intend to make an extensive tour in connection with his campaign, but will confine his talks to the accomplishments made by his party in office. These two minutes speeches ought to go over big with the general public.

Jo Jo.

AND ANOTHER GENIUS, this time in Colorado, has invented a safety gate to go across highways at railroad intersections which he says will prevent motorists driving on to the track just as the fast express comes along. We have no faith in this new safety gate or any of the others. The only thing that will keep motorists from mixing up with fast expresses is for somebody to invent a robot to stand near the railroad track and leap automatically on to a car that is headed for the fast express, reach in and cut off the gas, put on the brakes, and shout at the driver: "You poor simp, what are you trying to do? Commit suicide?" And probably even this wouldn't do, for the autoist would probably soak the robot in the chin and tumble him in the ditch and tell him to go mind his own business, or wipe off his chin or something like that, and speed merrily on to meet the train.

EUROPE is seeking to pay off her war debts to the U. S. at the rate of ten cents on the dollar. They must have got hold of a lot of plugged dimes over there.

How to Keep Well By Dr. W. A. Evans

SERUM IN INFANTILE PARALYSIS.

THERE are a few new points in the care of infantile paralysis.

Serum from convalescents appears to have some value in the treatment of the disease and also as a vaccine for its prevention. There are some who do not accept this as proved, but they do not think it does any harm and they admit a possibility of good. On the other hand, many who used it last year are fairly enthusiastic about the results obtained. Its value is limited to use in the earlier stages of the acute disease. Nothing is gained by using it during convalescence, when the muscles are paralyzed and wasting.

Laboratory work indicates that this discovery may be broadened and put on a more practical basis in the near future. In these tests it appears that the blood serum of normal adults who have never had an attack that was suspected of being infantile paralysis, or who have no recollection of having been in contact with a case of that disease, can be used as a cure and as a vaccine as well.

If bedside testing proves the laboratory trials to have been correct an ample supply of the serum for all purposes becomes everywhere available. It will no longer be necessary to buy the serum of convalescents and to keep a supply on hand in the ice boxes of health departments and hospitals.

The basis of this suggestion is the discovery that babies are born with no resistance to infantile paralysis, but that by the time maturity is reached immunity to the disease has become almost universal. A small part of the immune are so because they have had the disease in typical form. A larger part have had the disease only in its atypical, or non-paralytic, form, and very much the larger part are made immune by exposure which caused no illness and which was never thought of.

It is possible to test this immunizing power in a well adult. Therefore, it may be that when we want to vaccinate or to give a curative serum we may select a parent or some other healthy appearing adult, test his blood for freedom from venereal disease, and for immunizing power against infantile paralysis, and if these tests are satisfactory use the serum on those we wish to cure or protect.

It is thought that infantile paralysis enters the body through the digestive tract and passes from there to the lymph system. Therefore, the disease starts as a digestive disorder, a diarrhea or constipation with fever. Careful examination may show enlargement or tenderness of the lymph glands. Most cases never go beyond this stage; the spinal cord is never involved, and paralysis and wasting never occur.

Therefore the very great importance of closely studying children who get digestive upsets with fever in the infantile paralysis season. Therefore also the importance of watching the sources of food supply of children during this season.

If the child is particularly apathetic, has expressionless eyes, and seems to be sicker than one would suspect from a simple bowel disturbance the family and physician should suspect infection with this disease. Careful palpation is liable to show that the abdominal glands and other glands are sore.

This symptom should increase suspicion. If the infection is getting beyond the glands and into the cord the child's skin becomes sensitive, he does not want to be held, if his back is bent even slightly he cries with pain. It is not until later that muscle weakness appears. Wasting comes still later. The disease may stop at any one of these stages.

CAUSE OF BELCHING.

Mrs. R. S. writes:

1. What is the cause of almost continual belching?

2. Is it serious?

REPLY.

1. Nervousness is the principal cause, especially in circumstances such as you mention. You probably swallow air and then return it. Some of that you swallow goes only half way down and then doubles back. Some stomach trouble causing irritation may bring on the air swallowing habit. There are many other causes. One is an infected gall bladder. Attacks due to that cause generally develop in the night. They come on several hours after eating. Gallstones is a cause. So are adhesions, ulcer, and constipation. Any case of reverse peristalsis may cause belching.

2. No.

SEE A DENTIST.

B. P. S. writes: My friend has a habit of sucking her thumb. This has hindered the growth of her jaw. When she shows her teeth there is a space in front that looks ugly.

She is now 18 and has had this habit up to the present time. Is there any chance of her jaw growing to the correct size if this habit is stopped?

REPLY.

The jaw can be straightened by a dentist. The speciality is called orthodontia. The teeth will not straighten themselves without help.

FOR CHIGGER BITES.

B. K. writes: What should be done for chiggers? This is a rather severe case. The bites are sore and inflamed and itch painfully. How long will this last?

REPLY.

SOMETIMES NECESSARY.

Elgin, Ill., Sept. 9.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My husband passed away some time ago, leaving all to me by will. We have two children, both of age. The will has been probated. 1. My lawyer says that I must furnish an inventory consisting of all the money I have received from and all the money still due on my husband's business accounts. Do I have to do this? 2. My lawyer also says that I must furnish another inventory consisting of all the moneys I have spent since my husband's death. Is this also true? R. A. D.

1. Your attorney is in a better position to advise you than we are, and we see no reason to doubt his ability or good intentions. We do not have the facts before us to determine whether probate proceedings are necessary. If they are necessary, then the filing of an inventory of the assets as of the date of the death and an accounting for your income and expenditures subsequent to the death would be the usual procedure. In some cases where the entire estate is going to one individual the account is dispensed with, the court being satisfied with a final report showing that taxes have been paid, etc.

APPLY FOR PERMIT.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—[Friend of the People.]—There is a large tree situated between the sidewalk and the curbing on the lot adjacent to mine and several branches extend over my property. During the summer months caterpillars continually drop from the tree on to my building and spin their cocoons, causing a very unpleasant appearance, besides causing damage. What procedure can I follow in order to have the entire tree or the overhanging branches removed? Will the city remove the tree? W. V.

I beg to advise that our inspector reports that this is a live and sound 40 inch willow tree in the parkway in front of this address. The tree is not dangerous, but is badly infested with tussock moth. The city cannot and does not remove any live trees, but we will be glad to give the owner of the property a free permit to have the tree removed at his own expense if he so desires.

WALTER WRIGHT,
Supt. of Parks, Recreation, and Aviation.

CAN COLLECT JUDGMENT.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A lawyer obtained judgment against my brother for $75 for fees. My brother has a small business, which has dwindled to such an extent that if $75 were taken in merchandise he would have to close up shop. Can this lawyer compel a sale of his goods? H. M. W.

Yes, he can.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

16 YEARS AGO TODAY.
SEPTEMBER 15, 1916.

BERLIN.—The Fourth Greek army corps, with headquarters at Kavala, has appealed to Berlin for protection and food, and on orders from the war department will be transported to lodgings somewhere in Germany. The Greek troops will be permitted to retain their arms and equipment and will retain their standing as neutrals. They will enjoy German hospitality until Greek soil is freed of allied invaders. The official statement dealing with the action of the Greek troops said that the army corps was left behind the left Bulgarian wing in the Bulgarian advance into Macedonia.

ATHENS.—The entente powers are not satisfied with the program outlined by M. Dimitracopulos, whose acceptance of the premiership was based on full power to control the national policy. M. Dimitracopulos has therefore abandoned his efforts to form a cabinet.

LONDON.—The reported evacuation of Varna, the Bulgarian Black sea port, the advance west of the Vardar river by the Serbians, and successes of the Rumanians in Dobrudja were the outstanding features of the Balkan situation as gathered from allied reports. From German sources it is declared that all allied efforts in the Balkan theater have been checked and that a general offensive on the part of the central powers may be expected soon. Two hundred thousand seasoned German troops, aided by 100,000 Austrians, will be sent to the aid of the Bulgarians and Turks now engaged on the northern and southern borders of Bulgaria.

PARIS.—On the Somme front the French have captured La Priez farm and enlarged other positions close to Combles, according to the war office statement. There has been hard fighting north and south of Bouchavesnes. Elsewhere quiet prevailed. The British have joined with the French drive in an effort to squeeze the Germans out of Combles. Progress north of Ginchy is reported. The Germans are counter attacking desperately to save Peronne. The French report that more German troops have been transferred from the Verdun front and that 20,000 Germans from the Verdun front led the attack on the Combles-Peronne line yesterday.

ROME.—The official war statement reads: "By a daring climb our troops succeeded in taking some important positions in the Zara valley in the Posina sector and on Monte Lagazuoi, in the Transvenanzes-Boite valley. At the head of the Felizon valley the enemy attacked in force one of our advanced posts on Panta del Foame and compelled it to fall back about 100 meters."

SAN FRANCISCO.—The Alaska Packers' vessel Star of Chile, en route from Bristol Bay, Alaska, to San Francisco, was reported to be on the breakers off Point Pedro, twenty-five miles south of the Golden Gate. On board the vessel are over 200 employés.

MARSHFIELD, Ore. — Fire destroyed the Pacific Coast company's steamer Congress two miles off Coos Bay bar and twenty-five miles off shore where the vessel, trying to run to port, was forced to stop by crippled machinery. Vessels which were rushed to the rescue as soon as the first wireless calls for help were received took off 253 passengers and the crew of 170 in small boats. The only ones suffering from the disaster are two members of the crew who were overcome by smoke.

EL PASO, Tex.—Reports received here by American mining men from Mexico say Villa bandits in western Chihuahua have captured an American motor truck train, with its guards, and seized $40,000 which was being sent to pay the American soldiers. The reports also say that Villa is sending forty-nine cannon north to bombard Juarez. Mexican army officials in Juarez and Gen. George Bell Jr., at Fort Bliss, say that they have received no reports of the Villista activity and do not credit the report.

CHICAGO.—A wisp of a girl bookkeeper and two frightened sons were left to face the music last night when a rioting mob of Russians, Lithuanians, and Poles surged about the private "bank" of Michale Michniuk at 1360 South Union street, who has faded away. Michniuk left early in the day after instructing John Michniuk, a younger son, to lock the bank. Examination of the Michniuk books revealed that the deposits were $47,000. In the vault remained only $119.

CAMERAS IN JAPAN.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—So the Japanese again are protesting the taking of pictures by Americans. I have spent some time in Japan and, except for one or two experiences of minor importance, I want to say I like the Japanese people very much. One does sense, however, an officiousness at times that dampens one's ardor and makes him apprehensive during his stay in Japan lest he unwittingly transgress in one form or another.

If he carry a camera he feels it belongs in the same category as does a gun in the U. S. A. If he should carry a small camera, the type which fits into the pocket, he fears to have it discovered in his pocket. It's best to carry a bulky camera, one which cannot be overlooked anywhere by even the sleepiest official, thus preventing one from taking it into territory which, unknown to the traveler, is forbidden ground.

Japan, especially Hondo, is a lovely country of which one wants to bring back picture memories. As far as its fortifications are concerned I never saw any, nor do I have any desire to do so, for to me they are not necessarily picturesque.

There is an old saying that one usually suspects others of what one himself is guilty. Can that be true in the case of the Japanese in the present instance? I have traveled somewhat extensively here and elsewhere and rarely, unless there was some particular item of interest in connection therewith, have I sought out fortifications. Even in my own U. S. A. I have seen few. They are here, I know, and I wonder how often and how minutely they have been photographed by Japanese. Have you ever observed a Japanese traveler in this country who has not in his hand or hanging from his shoulder at least one camera? I never have.

Has any one ever heard of a Japanese being arrested or being interfered with in any way in his photography? If we were as fussy on this point as are the Japanese long since there would have been a severing of diplomatic relations on this account.

I am sure the Japanese as a whole do not care a whit about Americans taking pictures of their country, and I am equally as certain that only the suspicions of some bureaucratic jingoes could interpret the action of the National City bank as an overt act, punishable by death or at least by fines. It's a pity!

CHARLES H. SCHELTER.

THE NOISIEST SPOT.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—Any one wanting to develop a good case of nerves or who possesses a complex for loud, devastating noises should ride on a State street surface car from State and Wacker drive to Grand avenue. Especially going over the bridge the noise rises to such a pitch that a boiler works going at full speed is a fair comparison. Experts at one time gave the blue ribbon to the neighborhood of Wells and Van Buren for being noisy, and now I ask that the honor be transferred to the good old State street surface cars going over the bridge at State street and the river.

CARL A. JOSSECK.

FROM A DIRECT MAIL ADVERTISING COMPANY.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—I have read your editorial regarding "The Postoffice Deficit" and am much interested in your statement that second class mail should pay its own way, and that any movement which will make this possible will have your hearty support.

The editorial is rather misleading, however, when you state that the deficit in the second class postage rate has anything to do with the newspaper practice of delivering newspapers in bulk to various towns to the local news distributors.

If the daily papers deliver bundles of papers direct to the train and if it is a fact that the work of the postal clerk is confined almost exclusively to throwing this bundle off at its destination, where it is picked up by the local news delivery agent, most certainly the newspapers are entitled to a very low rate for bulk shipment in this case, for it does not include any postal service whatsoever.

However, this is not what causes the deficit in second class postage system.

The second class postage which makes it possible to have the postoffice department do all of the work of distribution and delivery of individually addressed second class mail at one-twentieth of one cent each for local zones for pieces weighing one-half ounce or less, and one-fourth of one cent each for the eighth zone for pieces weighing one-half an ounce or less, is certainly not at all in line with the actual cost of this service.

The cheapest piece of mail carried under third class rate is one cent, which rate is only secured by the mailer doing the majority of the initial work, leaving only the final sorting and delivering for the postoffice department. This is four times as much as the highest rate for second class mail and twenty times as high as the same service for second class for local delivery. This is entirely out of line with the equity in the matter, because the distribution and delivery in each case costs the postoffice department exactly the same.

All of these matters were brought out in extensive reviews before the postal congressional inquiry, and have been brought to the attention of Postmaster General Brown.

These are the facts in the case and incontrovertible.

Your statement that the postal service should pay its own way in each department and that no class of mail should be carried at a loss deserves the very highest praise and commendation from all taxpayers. If you will use your influence and agree to have the second class mail lobby in Washington relinquish its present activities, and take a stand to show Postmaster General Brown that second class mail rates should be raised to cover cost, you will be doing a very honorable thing which will be very much appreciated by the taxpayers.

JAPS CELEBRATE AS MANCHURIAN TREATY IS SIGNED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Sept. 15 [Thursday].—At 9:10 o'clock this morning [10 p. m. Wednesday, Chicago daylight saving time] a protocol of historic importance was signed at Changchun, Manchuria, which henceforth becomes Hsinching, meaning "New Capital."

As with a wave of her magic wand Cinderella's fairy godmother changed a pumpkin into a golden carriage, Japan through signing the protocol let the world know that Manchukuo has become a full grown nation.

There was jubilation here over the event. About 20,000 students and ex-service men paraded through the streets as a prelude to a huge demonstration in Hibiya park at 1 o'clock this afternoon. Carrying rising sun flags and led by a brass band, the marchers proceeded to the imperial palace, where they shouted banzais. They then visited the Yasukuni shrine to the war dead.

Bar Celebrations in China.

But there will be no celebration by Japanese residents in China. The foreign office has instructed consuls there to forbid celebrations so as to avoid aggravating Chinese feelings.

The foreign office announced today that the protocol will not be deposited with the league of nations and for the time being will not be communicated to the powers. It will merely be published in the newspapers.

Showing signs of the strain of his duties, Premier Viscount Makoto Saito today remained in bed for the first time since his appointment. He is suffering from gallstones, the old ailment which inconvenienced him recently at the Geneva disarmament conference. While his condition is not serious, it is believed that after four years of careful living in retirement he has given in to four months of strenuous work, the last few days of which have been especially arduous in preparation for the recognition of Manchukuo.

Fear Riots in China.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Sept. 15.—[Thursday.]—Japan's recognition of Manchukuo today has again stirred up hostile Chinese feelings. Political and civilian organizations are clogging telegraph wires with circular messages demanding united action against Japan.

The Canton political council today demanded an immediate punitive expedition to Manchuria. The China Press, a local Chinese newspaper printed in English, published a paraphrase of the Japanese treaty with Corea in 1904 which preceded Japanese annexation, and declared that a similar fate awaits Manchuria.

Chinese officials throughout the country declared martial law last night, effective today and extending over Sunday, the anniversary of the Japanese seizure of Mukden. It is thus hoped to prevent incidents which would give the Japanese an excuse for further intervention.

Japan Concentrates Warships.

The Japanese also announced steps to prevent their nationals from giving provocation, but the situation is critical at most ports and the chief cities, particularly Shanghai, Hongkong, Canton, Hankow, Tientsin, and Peiping. Japan has concentrated extensive naval forces at Shanghai, Nanking, and Hankow. Reports of a naval landing at Nanking yesterday were denied.

The Chinese government has prepared voluminous notes preparatory to dispatching to Geneva and other capitals a protest of Japan's recognition of Manchukuo with the object of inducing the United States to call a conference of powers who signed the nine power treaty for preservation of China's integrity.

Mayor Wu Teh-chen of the Chinese city of Shanghai has prohibited public meetings between now and next Sunday, including church services.

TEN ARRAIGNED IN BOYS' COURT FOR AUTO THEFTS

CRIMINAL COURT.

Willie Stevens, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary; William Brown, larceny, 1 year in Pontiac reformatory; Louis Sanchez, contributing to delinquency, 1 year in the Bridewell; Charles Hamilton, robbery, 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary; Finney Pantello, robbery, 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary; Theodore Spain, larceny, 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary; Mike Birow, larceny, 1 year in the Bridewell, by Judge John J. Sullivan.

Prosecutors Joseph Orrico and John L. Murphy, who have been assigned to investigate automobile theft cases, made their first court appearance yesterday before Judge J. William Brooks in the Boys' court, where ten members of an alleged automobile theft ring were arraigned. The case was continued until Sept. 28 to allow police to find owners of automobile parts found at 5400 Schubert avenue.

If the defendants are found guilty, Prosecutor Orrico said, they will be finger-printed as part of a plan to keep complete records of all automobile thieves. Failure to take finger prints in the past of offenders who were given probation in the Boys' court allowed them to gain clemency on second arraignment, the prosecutors said.

Five of the defendants who were arraigned on larceny charges and their bonds are: William Lubinetz, 17 years old, 5249 Montana street, $10,500; Matti Rizzo, 18, of 2200 North Meade avenue, $15,000; Walter Tarnowy, 18, of 2152 North Austin avenue, $15,000; Robert Fleming, 19, $10,500, and Willard Madock, 18, $1,000, both of 2167 North Austin avenue. Four others were charged with disorderly conduct with bond of $400 each. Glenn Downard, 28, of 2845 74th avenue, Elmwood Park, was charged with receiving stolen property and bond of $1,000 set.

PORCH FALL KILLS BOY, 5.

Leonard Brandimore, 5 years old, 3300 West Van Buren street, died yesterday in the County hospital. He fell Tuesday while sliding down a banister on the back porch of his home.

PUBLISHER BEATEN ON CITY STREET; 2D TIME WITHIN YEAR

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Arthur Kasherman, publisher of the Public Press, was the object of a mysterious attack early today. It was the second time within little more than a year that he has been beaten up by unknown assailants on the street.

Kasherman had parked his automobile at 14th street and 3d avenue south, and was walking to an oil station to use a telephone when two well dressed men, about 25 years old, walked up back of him.

"Is this Art?" one of them asked.

Kasherman nodded. The pair then struck him several blows with clubs or pieces of pipe. He fell to the sidewalk and they concentrated their attack on his knees.

"They didn't say anything, just kept clubbing," Kasherman said. They left him so severely bruised that he was scarcely able to walk. He was treated at General hospital and then taken home.

Kasherman was attacked near the courthouse a little more than a year ago after he issued a weekly paper attacking vice and gambling conditions in the city.

Police today stopped sale of a local weekly publication, Brevities, explaining that they were carrying out orders of Mayor William A. Anderson. Editors of the publication asserted that the move amounted to suppression of their latest issue, in which city officials were criticized. They said they intended to resist the order.

PRISON INMATES KEEP IN PRACTICE HI-JACKING FOOD

Prison guards accompanied all food taken from the Stateville commissary to the penitentiary kitchen, a distance of 100 yards, yesterday. Other guards searched the penitentiary for 200 hijacked pork chops and a case of eggs.

The food mystery first arose last Monday when a trusty set out from the commissary pushing a hand truck loaded with a small barrel of pork chops. He passed a group of lounging convicts on the way to the kitchen.

"Look out," one of them called. "That wheel's coming off." As the trusty bent to investigate, some one struck him on the head. He regained consciousness to find the pork chops missing.

A second trusty started for the kitchen Tuesday with a case of eggs. He was urged to look at an airplane and when he looked up received a knockout blow on the head. He awoke to find his truck, minus the eggs, where he had left it. Two convicts have been placed in solitary confinement as suspected ringleaders.

"I don't think the boys are hungry," a guard said. "I think they're afraid they'll get rusty while they're here. Just practice, as I see it."

Head of Mormon Church Comes to Hospital Here

Heber J. Grant, president of the Mormon church, arrived in Chicago yesterday from Salt Lake City and entered the Presbyterian hospital. It is said he may be operated on by Dr. Herman L. Kretschmer.

PAUPER'S GRAVE MAY YIELD CLEW TO MISSING WIFE

Seek Permit to Exhume Human Torso.

New York, Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Westchester county today became one of the focal points in the efforts that are being made by Massachusetts and New York authorities to ascertain the fate of Mrs. Edith Du Bois, the wife of Charles Du Bois of Tuckahoe.

Whether she is alive or dead is not known, but the Massachusetts police believe she has been slain and are hunting for her body rather than for a missing woman. Her husband, arrested in Massachusetts Monday, was released Tuesday, after a charge of murder had been entered against him by the police.

Mrs. Du Bois disappeared about Aug. 10 from the Du Bois home at Great Herring Pond, Mass. Her husband, a former jewelry salesman, reported that she was killed in an automobile accident in Canada and also that she had disappeared with another man.

Seek Exhumation Order.

Dr. Amos O. Squire, chief medical examiner of Westchester county, said he would seek a court order tomorrow for the exhumation of a human torso found on Aug. 28 in the woods near the Du Bois home at Tuckahoe. The torso, from which head and legs have been severed, was buried in the potter's field at Eastview. The head was not found.

Officers of the First National Bank and Trust company of Tuckahoe, where Mrs. Du Bois had a safe deposit box, revealed that Du Bois had visited the bank on Sept. 7 and asked permission to open the box, saying that his wife had gone away with another man, taking $25,000 of his money.

The bank officers allowed him to open the box, but they were unable to tell whether he had taken something out of it or put something into it.

Had Girl Companion.

Du Bois left his Massachusetts summer home on Sept. 6 and drove to Tuckahoe, returning to Great Herring Pond Sept. 20. His companion on the trip to New York was Mis Grace Atwood, 23 years old, daughter of a wealthy box manufacturer of Middleboro, Mass. Tuckahoe neighbors said they saw a young woman in the garden and on the porch of the Du Bois home about that time.

Miss Atwood, police say, was the writer of one note found in the Du Bois cottage which intimated that she could marry Du Bois "now that all obstacles have been removed."

COMPTON, BACK FROM ARCTIC, FINDS COSMIC RAY IS ELECTRICAL

THE PAS, Man., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Dr. Arthur Compton, physicist of the University of Chicago, returned from the arctic circle today with what he said was evidence that the cosmic ray is electrical in nature and is not a wave, as Dr. Robert Millikan, California scientist, has been quoted as believing.

Dr. Compton said he believed his arctic experiments had produced other evidence which may have an important bearing on future cosmic ray investigations. Outlining his electron theory, he declared a difference of about 20 per cent existed in the strength of the rays at the equator and at the north magnetic pole.

"Obviously, if the north magnetic pole has any effect on the rays, they must be electrical in nature instead of a wave, as Dr. Millikan contends," said Dr. Compton. "The eclipse had no effect on the cosmic ray. Other work in the past has indicated this finding, but this is the first time it has been definitely confirmed."

Janet Lewis Pens Epic of Soo Country

Writes Sweeping Picture of Human History.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"The Invasion," by Janet Lewis. [Harcourt-Brace.] Published today.

THERE are countless epics of America still to be written, despite the fact that yearly the past comes more into creative American literature. It is almost as though we had reached that period in our national adolescence when our own roots become passionately of importance to us, when, after a childhood clinging artistically to our mother's and our aunts' apron strings, and an early adolescence when we scorned all leading strings of whatever origin, we had reached a later tense interest in our own selves, bringing into the expression of our conscious lives our first gropings.

For whatever reason, American literature is adding yearly to the artistic record of the beginnings of its national culture. Willa Cather, Elizabeth Madox Roberts, Joseph Hergesheimer, Edna Ferber in varying degrees of popularity and inherent beauty and understanding are only the obvious leaders of a really sizeable host of American writers who have dug in the roots of their native land for material for novels, who have stirred in their readers an increasing interest in those roots. Each year sees its outstanding fictional record of a past either forgotten or living only in the memory of the very aged.

Only lately we have had "The Years of Peace" and "The House of Vanished Splendor," both chronicling the past, but neither one a real epic in the sense that Willa Cather and Elizabeth Madox Roberts have written epics. "The Invasion," however, IS in the real epic "tradition" and will take its place among the lengthy panoramas of the past.

Janet Lewis has done in her first novel a sweeping picture of the human history of Sault Ste. Marie and its environs, of the slow, siltlike invasion of the Indian land and mind and character by the white men who came to trade and remained to become the fathers of the country. It is the story of John Johnston, an Irishman of family and education and fineness who went to the unknown west in 1791 and of the fruit of his brain and his loins. As a white man marries a white wife, not as many traders took to themselves Indian squaws, he married the daughter of the Ojibway chief, he became the sire of the countryside spiritually as well as, in small part, physically. "The Invasion" is the long, carefully set down tale of that lineage until the death in 1928 of the last of the line.

Miss Lewis has done an astounding piece of research work in "The Invasion." Her care, her meticulousness is evident in every paragraph. The minutæ of daily life are set down so completely that the reader is now and again overwhelmed by the very weight of the work that must have gone into the gathering of the material. Skillfully Janet Lewis weaves into her narrative extant letters from those early, unusually unrecorded days, quotes from existing documents and published books of the period without ever making the reader feel that he is himself ploughing through mere documents, but merely making him feel that he is reading a widely authenticated piece of literary work.

She has chosen the purely narrative form, with no more than the merest hint, rarely, of a recording of the conversation of her characters, or of their psychological reactions. She is telling the history of a period and a place and she chooses to tell that history in the terms of one human unit —the Johnston family—but she never diverges from her purely narrative method in that recital. She has chosen to record facts rather than emotions. Her style is keyed down to the factual, and even in the moments when there might be logically an emotional quickening in the narration Miss Lewis keeps her tale in the same low monotone.

That monotone is obviously of her own choosing, and it suits the material, but the only thing that keeps "The Invasion" from being a superb epic is that monotone. I find myself, unconsciously, comparing her to Willa Cather, who can write, for instance, a "Shadows on the Rock" which is in its material much more monotonic than "The Invasion" but which has a sheer ecstasy of style. Miss Cather's style is, on the other hand, quite different from that of Elizabeth Madox Roberts, who has also chosen the epic form. Miss Roberts has not achieved ecstasy in her style, but she has achieved a poignant poetry in it.

"The Invasion" is written in the most excellent type of plain narrative, but it lacks the ecstasy of the one and the poetry of the other of the two novelists with whose work hers will inevitably be compared.

Miss Lewis is the wife of Yvor Winters, poet, and the daughter of Edwin Herbert Lewis, author and educator in the finest, most human sense of the word "teacher." She was born in Chicago and has lived here most of her days, except for the summers which she has spent in the country which inspired "The Invasion."

Belts Carry Off Honors in Fashion Race

BY RHEA SEEGER.

OTHER things you ought to be thinking about are belts . . . belts to wrap around your slim, newly dieted waistlines . . . belts that will make a swanky sports dress even more swagger . . . the new leather belts that are rigged about the middle of your anatomy with two depression size harness buckles, two sections of perfectly braided leather thongs looped cleverly through a middle metal circle.

Brown calfskin combined with gold metal, black leather combined with bronze or silver metal, hitching gadgets are the newest combinations of this harness belt that will take the fancy of riders and walkers alike.

All afternoon dresses should have belts, so the ingenious belt makers have decided, and for once they have run circles around previous performances and the new collections are something to get a bit dizzy over.

Some wag has exhumed the old time silk bathrobe cord. He has glorified two medium sized sleek satin cords of this hitherto strictly boudoir necessity with silver metal clasps that are held with a jade green or lipstick red gallilth square holder. These are decorative accents for the crepe silk frocks.

Velvet belts are swanking it in every shop in town . . . wide, narrow, and not so narrow affairs, clasped with frosty silver discs, slots, circles in duet, and intricate interlacing links and so many tricky new things that unless you shop for them seriously and carefully you miss half the display.

Braided velvet ribbon belts have been revived . . . velvet ribbon laced through countless square slides or circles will do a good all round job for the best waistline of fall and winter. Knitted and braided wool belts that mix with every bright and cheerful as well as dashing color are what the wool dresses sigh for this season.

That slick, shining stuff called chromium has settled down to a dizzy whirl or two around the beltlines . . . you will see buckles and modernistic slablike clasps and slotted contraptions of this never dull metal on suede, leather, and even velvet belts. You'll see it combined with black, blue, wine, bright red, and brown . . . all these unusual contrasts being tremendously effective and chic for dull wool crepe dresses and as matching companions for handbags.

Suede belts are the belts to yodel for . . . a sweet little trill of a song will buy most any of them . . . they are slim and trim and do their best to keep your silhouette that way, too. One knockout model is about two and one-half inches wide with two dollar size circles for clasps. These must have been made expressly for the gal who can't decide between free silver or the gold standard, for one disc is silver, the other interclasped disc is gold . . . a stunning and well chosen pair for the belt buying budgeteers.

Another black and silver symphony that will glimmer almost sinfully against a dull black crepe gown has a clever suede covered clasp outlined with a shadow line of silver.

Glittering, glamorous rhinestone belts will grace picturesque evening gowns . . . you will buy them in two, three, or four strand widths. Shoulder straps to match will transform an old dinner dress. Bracelets fashioned in the same way in the two, three, or four strand width complete the ensemble.

Clanking metal belts are extremely popular . . . you can walk like a captive slave with lengths of light and not so light weight metal in links, circles, and oblongs rattling merrily and fashionably around your midribs.

Golden Gloves Fund Makes $2,000 Gift to Free Ice Charity

The Golden Gloves fund yesterday transferred $2,000 to THE TRIBUNE free ice fund so that the distribution of ice to destitute homes where there are small babies may continue throughout September or as long as summer weather continues. The Golden Gloves fund is from the proceeds of the Golden Gloves boxing tournaments conducted by THE TRIBUNE sports department annually.

An additional $1,329.68, composed of unused balances in THE TRIBUNE charities accounts, also has been turned over to the ice fund, giving that fund a grand total of $5,661.64. Another $1,329.68 from the unused balances was transferred to the Camp Algonquin fund to help finance the vacations of tenement mothers and children at the Fox river camp. This gives the Camp Algonquin fund a grand total of $6,997.98.

Hands Respond to Massage and Nightly Care

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

They say 'twas a queen of Spain, living centuries ago, who slept with her hands wrapped in poultices the night through. And those royal hands were held high with ropes [royal, let's hope] tied to the topmost flanks of the royal bedstead. This for a pair of royal hands to wave at the populace!

Our queens of royal hands don't need any such stringing up. Neither do they have to be to the castle manner born to wave a nifty pair across a room. We have that on old royalty, as we have a lot of other beauty preserving and beauty provoking measures they never dreamed of.

Speaking of more royal treatment of royal hands, they tell that one of the French Louis used to go to bed with his hands bound with red meat to make them beautiful. The silly! All he had to do was to wait a few centuries to be born into an era in which he might have purchased a pair of pink suede gloves chemically treated in which to encase his fragile digits nightly.

But I don't know why we're talking of queens and Louis' and their royal hands. We have enough hand business of our own to attend to.

Maybe it is because at this time of year hands may have to be put up for the night in something to get them into good contract shape quickly. There's no question that parking them inside gloves for the night after you've massaged and fed them well with a good hand cream will beautify them. There are cheap cotton gloves to wear two sizes too large, at least. Or, you can make hand protectors out of two thicknesses of cheap Turkish toweling. Or you can buy, as hinted above, a pair of grand pink suedish looking ones that are treated so the emollient does not seep through.

If you can't sleep with hands tied up, then you can manage a few moments before retiring, a few moments through the day to massage a good hand cream into the skin, for we unquestionably are getting on to the state of hand beauty cultivation that inspired the aforementioned queen to lie strung up for the night.

Festival Will Aid Catholic Social Center Activities

A fête as colorful as a market place of some old world city is planned by the Daughters of Isabella for Saturday and Sunday at the Catholic social center, Jackson boulevard and Sangamon street. Mrs. Emma Huising Wall is chairman. Thirty-two councils in Chicago and suburbs have been working for weeks preparing for the festival.

Each year a different social service institution receives the proceeds of the fête. This year Bishop Bernard J. Sheil has assigned the Catholic social center to the lodge. The center and day nursery was established 18 years ago. It cares for small children while their mothers work.

Postage Stamp Bourse Moves to New Quarters

The Postage Stamp bourse, formerly held every Friday night at the World's Fair club, 1258 South Michigan avenue, will be moved to 167 West Washington street, the Washington cafeteria, effective tonight. Meetings will be held on Thursday hereafter, according to G. W. Conrad, president of the bourse.

Miss Libby Chase Plans Circus to Close Season of Riding Class

Expects to Make Vacation Flight from England to India; Horse Show Opens Tomorrow.

By Judith Cass.

IT wasn't exactly the most propitious time at which to telephone Miss Libby Chase to ask her about plans for a circus when I called her yesterday at her riding stables in Lake Forest, for she had just come in from a five hour ride and picnic with seventeen youngsters and, as she said, she was "dead tired and in no condition to think about a circus," but she did say she was planning to have one as a sort of closing exercise for her riding classes.

It will be some time in October and if it is as successful as her children's horse show early in the summer it will be a great success from the standpoint of those taking part and those witnessing it.

Miss Chase takes some of her pupils out for a ride, a picnic, and games on horseback every Wednesday and Saturday and unless you have had a similar experience you cannot know what energy and endless patience one must have to manage successfully such an outing.

In addition to her regular activities she is in charge of the children's horse show at Fort Sheridan Saturday morning and she was planning to enter some of her pupils in the horse show at the Dunham Woods Riding club at Wayne on Sunday, but she has decided that "enough's enough" and so she is not going to take herself, ponies, and children to Wayne that day, just herself to be a judge and some children to be spectators.

Plan Flight to India.

In December after her classes are ended she and Alicia Patterson Brooks are going to start on a most thrilling adventure—"if I have enough money," Miss Chase qualifies her reply to a question about the plan—that sounds hazardous and dangerous to say the least. They plan to go to England by boat, although it wouldn't surprise any of their friends if they decided to fly, and then to fly to India to indulge in some pig sticking.

Flying is such a commonplace thing in the life of Mrs. Brooks that she thinks no more of hopping out to Chicago from New York than the ordinary mortal thinks of driving to Lake Forest from Chicago, apparently. Before Florence Noyes' wedding to George Senseney, in which Mrs. Brooks was a member of the bridal party, I'm told she flew out twice for fittings of the lovely and becoming yellow dress she wore.

Those chic dresses, by the way, which Miss Noyes' matron of honor and bridesmaids wore, were designed by the bride herself and all made by a little French dressmaker under the bride's personal supervision.

But to return to horses—the children's show will just be one performance of the seventh annual Fort Sheridan show which will be held tomorrow, Saturday, and Sunday in the new arena on a bluff overlooking the lake just southeast of the military reservation. The equestrian events, which are open to civilian and military entries, begin tomorrow afternoon at 2:30; Saturday morning from 9:30 until 12 there will be the children's show; that afternoon at 2:30 there will be another series of events, and Sunday afternoon the grand championship contests in four main events will be held. Every night at 8 o'clock there will be a military show.

Miss Edith Behr, Stanley Field, Frederic McLaughlin, Mrs. Charles H. Schweppe, Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, Brig. Gen. Frank C. Bolles, Admiral Wat T. Cluverius, Fred A. Poor, and Earle H. Reynolds are among the boxholders for the show.

Dunham Woods Show Sunday.

The Dunham Woods show is of a different sort entirely from the big one at Fort Sheridan, and since the championship classes are scheduled for Sunday at the military reservation show it won't interfere in the least with the smaller amateur show at Wayne.

Joy Morton II. of Geneva, who is chairman of the committee arranging the show, says that entries will be received up to show time, 2 o'clock Chicago time, and that there are no entry or admission fees, but that reservations for parking cars may be made through the club, St. Charles 36. Miss Chase, Mrs. Robert R. McCormick, Mrs. Seymour Wheeler, and Perry Dryden are to be the judges, and among those who have entered are the Mortons, the Drydens, Mrs. John E. Kuhns, the junior Edward D. McDougals, and a number of children from Geneva; Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Lindsay III. and young Robert Strom of Wheaton; Dr. Paul Magnuson of Barrington, the John N. Doles and the George Woodruffs of Wayne, the Clarence Adamsons of Aurora and the Frederick Mills family of St. Charles. Mrs. Wirth S. Dunham, Mrs. Charles C. West, and Fred Veysey have worked with Mr. Morton in arranging the show.

Party for Miss Acher.

Mrs. Ernest G. Kilroe of Lake Forest is entertaining a party of young people at the buffet supper and dance at the Onwentsia club tonight for her eldest daughter, Alma Louise Acher, who has chosen to go to New York this winter to study dramatic art instead of staying at home and making a debut and taking part in all the debutante good times.

Miss Acher was graduated from the Holton Arms school in Washington last June and then took a trip to Europe, so she has been back in Lake Forest only a short time. She leaves for New York around the first of October with her mother and Mary Acher, who will be a student at Holton Arms this winter.

Frances, the baby of the family, will be at school in Lake Forest until cold weather, when she will go to Winter Park, Fla., with her mother and Mr. Kilroe. Mrs. Kilroe is a niece of Mrs. Arthur T. Aldis and a sister of Mrs. Alma Louise Dickson of Lake Forest.

The Walter R. Kirks will have some guests at the Onwentsia party tonight for Miss Janet Kirk, daughter of Mrs. Willing D. Kirk, who is to be married to Robert H. Ripley a week from Saturday. Next Sunday Miss Ann Small and Miss Joy Fairman will entertain at the latter's residence in Winnetka with a kitchen shower for the bride-to-be.

Mrs. Stanislaw Szukalska of Hollywood and her little five and a half year old daughter, Kalina, are at the White Hall on Delaware place for a fortnight, seeing relatives and old friends of Mrs. Szukalska, the former Helen Walker.

Arthur Meekers Have Guests.

The Arthur Meekers, who will remain at their Santa Barbara residence until some time next month, have had as their guests out there Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wallenstein of New York, formerly of Chicago. Mr. Wallenstein is the first cellist with the New York Philharmonic orchestra and both he and his pretty, young wife, who is a concert pianist, were immensely popular socially during their residence here.

After vacationing in various and distant places, members of the Ennis family are getting together again, but only for a brief time. Mrs. William S. Ennis and Miss Margaret are just home from a month in Maine and Margaret is busy with preparations for taking a course in journalism or short story writing or something in the literary line at Northwestern.

William, the eldest son, is on his way back from having spent the summer on the Ennis ranch in California, where he achieved quite a reputation for perfecting a gopher trap, I hear; Lambert, the middle son, is just back from abroad, but is planning to return soon to Cambridge to work for his M. A., and George, the youngest boy, is going back to the University of Illinois for his sophomore year.

Mrs. Clair E. More has returned from a Canadian motor trip and is at the Drake for the winter, having rented her apartment on Delaware place.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Peacock III. of 504 Barry avenue are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter at the Passavant hospital on Sunday. Mrs. Peacock is the former Miss Edna Mae Tubbs.

Bride

MRS. C. E. FRANKLIN.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Erlenborn of Oak Park announce the marriage of their daughter, Elva Ruth, to Dr. Charles E. Franklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Franklin of Cincinnati, on Sept. 6 at Indianapolis. Dr. and Mrs. Franklin will be at home after Oct. 1 at 320 Wisconsin avenue, Oak Park.

The Murder of Caroline Bundy

By ALICE CAMPBELL.

SYNOPSIS.

Neil Starkey, American biographer, is engaged by Caroline Bundy to compile the life and letters of her late father, a famous English biologist. Neil is mystified by the peculiarities of Miss Bundy, who is broken in health and in great mental distress. She has hired a photographer, named Tilbury, as bailiff, and he and his wife, a common, illiterate couple, occupy the lodge. Neil meets Natasha Andreyev, beautiful, but fiery tempered, who is apparently Miss Bundy's secretary. Neil plans to call on two friends, Giles Gisborne, vicar of a parish a mile distant, and his sister, Rachel.

INSTALLMENT IV.

INCREDIBLE BEHAVIOR.

Bath, of course, was no distance at all from this place. Neil wished now he had asked the garage man who the former owner of the car was. He had a grudge against him, anyhow, every time he started the wretched thing up. The engine was as tiresome as a balking mule.

He spent an hour trundling gently through the stone bordered lanes, delighting in the unpeopled desolation and the beauty of the green hills, rolling smoothly one upon the other like waves of the sea. Yes, Somerset was a romantic, stimulating country, with something eerie about it in this soft half light. He felt ready to believe all the legends grouped about its soil—King Arthur and his knights, Joseph of Arimathea and the blossoming staff, even the apocryphal story of the hidden grail itself.

Neil Starkey was a born nomad. Since wresting a brace of degrees from Princeton university he had been in many quarters of the globe, contriving to do his literary work wherever, so to speak, he hung his hat. Conspicuous success in biographies, however, threatened to curtail his liberty, for writing people's lives is a stick-in-the mud job. In the present instance, however, it was not so bad. He knew the south sea islands and Morocco, but the west of England was new territory, a fact which had possibly influenced him in his selection of Theodore Bundy as a suitable subject. Besides, he would make money out of the old man, his particular handling of this sort of thing being, luckily, much in vogue.

Stars pierced the dusk when he dipped into the hollow where nestled the village of Bishop's Paulton. Crossing a tiny market place, he passed between a lopsided inn and a Norman church to halt before a Tudor cottage. This was the vicarage, and here was the vicar himself, throwing open the door and extending a large knuckled hand in welcome.

"Ah, Starkey! Back from the sea and home from the hills? What about gathering a little moss in our midst by way of variety?"

"Just my intention. Miss Bundy has given in."

"Has she? By Jove! That's amazingly sensible of her."

Giles Gisborne's height towered above Neil's own six feet. Rough hair bristled on his arrogant head, grizzled brows overhung his irascible eyes, and his loose stride was nervously buoyant. He did not suggest the ecclesiastic, and indeed was rather more concerned over archaeology than religion.

"Not lecturing, I see," remarked Neil, as he was stripped of his Burberry.

"No, worse luck. Curate down with mumps. He would be, drat him! Rachel!"—in a thundering voice—"come and see the prodigal, burnt black as a Moor."

A handsome woman of fifty answered the summons and surveyed the guest with penetrating dark eyes. She was dressed in warm crimson, with a band of old garnets round her smooth olive throat. Her straight lips twitched into an amused smile.

"It won't come off, will it?" she inquired, looking at Neil's bronzed complexion with approval, "because I expect you'll be wanting to wash. Giles, show him the bathroom, and mind you give him a clean towel."

Neil felt instantly one of them. He laughed and followed his host, who clattered up the narrow stairs, talking incessantly.

In the low ceiled drawing room a wood fire flickered on waxed mahogany and early Staffordshire ware. Books sprawled open, a cat was curled up in the largest chair, and a maid was just setting down a decanter and glasses.

"Sherry? It's good stuff—comes from the cellars of my old college."

As Neil sipped the amber liquid warm comfort so lulled his senses that the questions he had meant to propound slid back into the background of his mind. Not till roast duckling, young peas, and apple tart with thick cream had sunk into a dulcet past did he recall his recent experiences, and before he had mentioned them a diversion occurred. In the lane outside the engine of a powerful car whirred, and a second later the servant bent over her mistress with a whispered message. Rachel glanced quickly at her brother.

"It's Tasha," she said, with a note of question.

"Well, why doesn't she come in? Fetch her in, Polly."

"She won't stop, sir," answered the woman. "She only wants a word with Miss Rachel."

The latter rose.

Tasha! That must be the girl at Stoke Paulton. Now, thought Neil, he was going to learn something; but although he waited patiently, consuming his final crumb of ripe Stilton with an expectant air, nothing was said. His companion was frowning moodily into a box of cigars, and when he did speak, it was at a tangent.

"So you think you can make an interesting book out of Bundy?"

"I ought to, now the public's waking up to his real value."

"Ah, quite so! Rum old bird in some ways, sort of Darwin, Gladstone and William Morris rolled into one. Went off the deep end a bit towards the last, though that needn't concern you. Always kept his daughter under his thumb, anyhow. Carrie worshiped the ground under his feet, but at the same time was terrified of him. What's your opinion of her, by the way?"

"I hardly know." Neil spoke hesitatingly. "Last fall I thought her absolutely calm and phlegmatic, but now she seems very excitable and full of crotchets."

"Humph—you don't surprise me. Not that I've seen anything of her for months, but I've heard she was decidedly—broken." As the vicar said this he shot a keen glance at his guest.

"By the way," said Neil, "have you any idea who those two oily little Cockneys are who have moved into the lodge?"

"Moved into the lodge!" Gisborne exploded in an angry snort. "Do you mean to tell me she's actually got those people on the premises? In what capacity, pray?"

"There you have me—but if it's any help, I did hear the butler say something about a new bailiff."

"Bailiff—fiddlesticks! The fellow's a cheap photographer. Has, or did have, a shop in Glastonbury. Why, he knows less about running an estate than you or I. Carrie's stark, staring mad—absolutely gone off her chump!"

He continued to mutter till Neil interrupted him.

"And who is the foreign girl up there? Tall, good looking——"

"Who, Natasha Andreyev? That's she talking to Rachel now. She's Carrie's niece."

"Niece!" It was Neil's turn to stare incredulously.

"Precisely. She's half Russian. You see, Bundy's second daughter, Sophie—attractive wench she was, quite another stripe from her sister—ran off with a temperamental Russian she picked up at the Sorbonne. Good family, but a spendthrift. There was a row, Bundy handed her over what money was coming to her and never saw her again. Chap murdered in the revolution, Sophie drifted back to Paris with two children, a boy and this girl, to support. Ran a hat shop. Two years ago she died. The son stayed behind, and Natasha came to live with her aunt."

"Miss Bundy adopted her, did she?"

"Not at all. Tasha's a secretary-chauffeuse—works jolly hard for her keep. Not very happy, either, I'm afraid. I dare say it's very dull for her, especially now Carrie's behaving so peculiarly—but that's only hearsay, of course."

"She didn't strike me as particularly docile," Neil threw out as a feeler.

"Docile?" Gisborne laughed. "Why, Tasha's as intractable as a wild pony. Good girl, though, and capable."

The casement was ajar, the breeze from the garden fluttering the curtains inward and making the candle flames flicker and dance. From the outer darkness two voices floated in—Rachel Gisborne's, and a second which Neil recognized. He listened and caught the words angrily uttered: "O, you'll see! There'll be no holding them now, no shaking them off. Leeches, both of them, sucking her blood! I told you, didn't I, how she's given them the little roadster? Actually made them a present of it—and now the lodge to live in, all done up with fresh paint and new cretonnes——"

A ripple of mirth broke in on the tale. "Tasha, I do believe you're jealous," said the older woman teasingly. "Own up—aren't you?"

Make a Jungle of Hollywood in Film Craze

Animals Parked on Every Studio Lot.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 14.—It's jungle time in Hollywood, and the lions are roaring, the hyenas laughing, the leopards leaping and the snakes sneaking on practically every back lot in the film colony.

There never yet has been such a rage for films of one main type at all the studios.

It's hard to say whether "Trader Horn" started it, or Cooper and Schoedsack with their "Chang" and "Rango," or whether Johnny Weissmuller restarted it and Frank Buck gave it added impetus, but an observer cannot visit a single studio where they are not hiring wild beasts and building rock caves and tropical jungles somewhere around the studio grounds, or on location spots accessible to Hollywood.

Maybe I've missed some of them in skimming over the series of tropical jungle films now in the making, or preparing here:

At MGM "Kongo" just being finished, with Walter Huston doing Dead Legs Flint, the paralyzed man who rules the heart of Africa with legerdemain tricks performed in his wheel chair, in the rôle he originated on the stage. Lupe Velez, Virginia Bruce, and Conrad Nagel also appear in this one. Also "Tarzan and His Mate" is soon to start, with Weissmuller and Maureen O'Sullivan again. And then there is "Red Dust," an Indo-China film with more human love motive than wild beast adventures, as is to be presumed with a cast including Jean Harlow, Clark Gable, and Mary Astor.

At Radio-RKO "Kong," with Fay Wray, Bob Armstrong, and Harriet Hagman, another of Merian Cooper's dramatizations of foreign people, ferocious animals and striking scenery, just completing and "The Most Dangerous Game," recently completed.

At Universal "Nagana," with Tala Birell and Melvyn Douglas.

At Paramount "King of the Jungle," to start soon, following "Island of Lost Souls."

At Fox, Elissa Landi has just finished "Passport to Hell," and Peggy Shannon and Spencer Tracy in "Painted Woman," both with tropical wild life sequences.

At United Artists, Douglas Fairbanks in "Mr. Robinson Crusoe."

Among the independents, Sol Lesser of the Principal Pictures corporation, has announced a whole series of African jungle films.

Lionel Barrymore told them at the MGM studio that he wasn't feeling any too comfortable. Asked why he said he was suffering from "Rasputinitis." It causes a tingling of facial nerves and comes from wearing a phony Russian beard all day.

Ivan Lebedeff is going to start wearing his monocle again. A woman autograph seeker is responsible. She walked up to him in a café and asked him: "Will you write your name on my napkin, Mr. Gable?"

NEW YORK SOCIETY

Some wise and witty soul once opined that the size of a man's bank account grows in indirect ratio to the size of his wife's garbage can—the larger the garbage can the smaller the account.

Every day even the best organized cuisine is bound to have left-overs—bits of meat, fruit, vegetable or soup stock which some member with an unexpected lapse of appetite failed to eat. Also, if the mistress of the kitchen is a sagacious planner, there will be—not left-overs, but what I prefer to call "cooked ahead foods."

Purposely, if we run our household with this scheme in mind, we will cook sufficient potatoes, say, so that those left over from dinner will just combine with the ground remains of the roast pork to form crusty croquettes for tomorrow's luncheon. A few tablespoons of cooked peas, green beans, and carrots will make a luscious salad half a day after their first appearance.

Meats especially may stage comebacks days after their initial debut and be quite as elegant and distinguished in their new form as ever they were in the original.

However, since meat toughens most distressingly with overcooking, make sure that low heat and short cooking are your guides in dealing with second day meat dishes. If hubby with an agile knife has been trained to carve off the next day's meat from the dinner bone while you perform on the dishes, specify the variety of chunks you wish hewn. Thin slices for stews, thick for many casserole dishes, diced for curries, ground for croquettes and patties, and minced for salads, rissoles and such is the prescription. If the meat is quite fatty in the tissues, chop off the firm, white fat and save for use in suet puddings, larding dry meats, and vegetable cookery.

The softer fat may be chopped fine and boiled with a little water. Let stand and skim off for use in deep fat frying of croquettes and fritters. Bones, gristle, and unserviceable pieces of meat may be chopped and simmered with sliced carrots, potatoes, onions, celery, and seasonings for a delectable soup stock.

Cake and cookies which have lost their pristine freshness are the ideal base for a score of palate tempting fruit or sauce puddings. Even scraps of bread and rolls may be saved down to the last heel and crust by drying and grinding or conjuring into puddings, dressings, and what-not.

Second day meat opportunities are widespread and alluring. Bubbling hot ragouts, tangy pickle and veal sandwiches, meats in ramekins, in scallops and in casseroles. Beef and bacon patties . . . chicken timbales with celery sauce . . . stuffings for tomatoes, pepper, and cabbage . . . hash, creamed dishes, rice or macaroni ring fillings, croquettes, meat sauces, omelets—but you name them while we tap out our best recipes for dishes from meat "cooked ahead."

MOLDED CHICKEN LOAF.

1 package sweetened lemon flavored gelatin.
¾ cup finely minced chicken.
¾ cup finely chopped English walnuts.
¼ cup finely chopped green pepper.
1 cup finely chopped celery.
2-3 cup stuffed olives, sliced.
¼ cup minced pimiento.
½ teaspoon salt.
Dash of white pepper.
2 tablespoons white vinegar.
Dash of tabasco sauce.

Remove all fat from the stock and pour stock over the gelatin. Mix thoroughly and let chill. When partially set stir in the other ingredients which have been blended together. Mix until thoroughly combined and turn into a cold, wet loaf pan or fancy molds. Serve on crisp lettuce or escarole with a cream mayonnaise dressing.

ROAST BEEF SOUFFLE.

Turn one cup of evaporated milk into a sauce pan and heat with one cup of water, stirring until smooth and hot. (Two cups whole milk may be substituted for water and evaporated milk, but the flavor is not so interesting.) Pour the hot liquid over five tablespoons each of butter and flour which have been blended over a low flame. Add one-half teaspoon salt, a dash of pepper, one-half cup fine bread crumbs, and cook till thick and smooth. Now add 1¾ cups of ground roast beef, four egg yolks, well beaten, and a few drops of onion juice.

Finally, fold in the stiffly beaten whites of four eggs and turn into a buttered casserole. Bake in a moderately slow oven (325 degrees F.) in a pan of hot water for half an hour. Serve with chili sauce.

Special Class Doesn't Make Child Proud

Gives Him a Feeling of Responsibility.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

"Putting gifted children into a special class will make them conceited," is an expression of opinion we often hear.

The idea of putting gifted children into a special class always arouses a certain amount of opposition. This idea of its fostering conceit is one more objection to add to those we have listed at other times.

Those who have had long experience with these special classes say that there is no sign of such a result. But instead of answering the argument myself, I would rather let you hear what those eminent in this field of special education have to say.

These experts even state that the contrary is true, urging that a child will more easily become conceited when he is the brightest in his room than he will in a special class where he is with twenty-five others who are equally bright—a very strong point, it seems to me.

What people who make this objection about conceit overlook is that gifted children's classes have teachers who are gifted, too—gifted in handling these children, so that they know how to handle their material, as you might say. We find then, to quote, that: "The gifted class is as amenable to the atmosphere the teacher creates as any other group.

"Any tendency toward undue feeling of superiority is held in check by the constant recognition of the idea of responsibility."

Gifted children must eventually know that they are brighter but, "This knowledge, however, is render l harmless by combining with it the idea of responsibility."

The special classes really do then, a very fine thing because they make it possible to develop in our schools: "A group of citizens having the ideal attitude toward the social group, with ability, and a sense of responsibility."

These quotations are from the report by the White House Conference on Special Education, which the Century company is publishing in book form.

Two Husbands Experience the In-Law Trouble

Doris Gives Counsel to Each.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

A fifth anniversary and they're due to celebrate it apart. In-law trouble. The man wants to send flowers in rememberance of those happy days when a separation was an incredible thing to contemplate as happening to them. If he sends them to his mother-in-law's home, he knows they'll land in the ash can.

If he sends them to the wife's place of business, would she be embarrassed? Would she be angry?

"I feel my wife is still my friend," the husband adds plaintively. "And I'll never get over her. I love her!"

I'd stake the money on the flowers and send them to the office. I'd be careful to choose the flowers sentimentally. Something she liked particularly well. And I'd ask her for a dinner date, and a chance to talk things over. I'd plead with her to come away from the in-law roof and start all over again. And I'd tell her how much I loved her.

That's for "Pete," and good luck for your fifth anniversary day!

To you, "Bill," with your in-law problem, send that mother-in-law of yours some flowers with a note of apology. It's coming to her from you. Getting drunk and speaking your mind, though you regret your speech, calls for a sincere: "I'm sorry!" Don't you suppose that mother-in-law of yours has a case against you, too? How can any mother see her daughter's husband coming home drunk and not be resentful for the girl?

Why shouldn't she be resentful when she sees that you have money for liquor and none for her girl's support? Granted you are discouraged about your job, you are only one of thousands who've had to change their mode of life to meet the new salary emergency. What if the older woman has means? You didn't earn her money for her, did you?

She sounds to me like a woman who'd do anything to help in time of need were she given the kindly consideration due her. But if you run up against an obstacle in life, it's you not your in-laws who are expected to mount it. Better buck up, "Bill," and show the two girls—mother and daughter — that they'll never have cause to be ashamed of you again.

Hutchins and Wife Return After Journey to Europe

President Robert Maynard Hutchins of the University of Chicago and Mrs. Hutchins returned to the campus yesterday from a two months' vacation trip in Europe. They took a trip on a canal boat in Holland, visited Switzerland, and later went to Paris. President Hutchins had little comment to make on his trip, saying, "I went for a rest, and that was what I got."

Illinois M. E. Conference Reduces Superintendents

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 14.—(AP)—The Illinois Methodist conference voted today to reduce its districts from ten to eight, following the advice of its new bishop, Ernest Lynn Waldorf, and endorsing a plan considered for several years. As a result, a complete shakeup of the geographical alignment of districts was in prospect for Sunday. At that time the bishop will announce the new districts. The ten districts contain about 50 charges each. The eight will average about 65 each. Bishop Waldorf asked for the change in order that he might have "the best possible superintendents in each district." The bishop also favored the move from the standpoint of economy in salaries of superintendents and also because hard roads and automobiles have made rural charges more accessible.

Leonard Firestone Weds Polly Curtis in New York

New York, Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Leonard K. Firestone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey S. Firestone of Akron and heir to tire millions, was married today at the Church of the Ascension on 5th avenue to Miss Polly Curtis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elroy Curtis of South Orange, N. J. The ceremony was simple, with only members of the two families in attendance. Raymond G. Firestone was his brother's best man. The couple sailed on the Ile de France for their honeymoon.

Freshmen Introduced to Campus at Loyola

Freshmen were introduced to the campus of Loyola university yesterday at the annual Freshman day exercises. The day's events opened with assembly in the gymnasium, where addresses were given by the Rev. Robert M. Kelley, S. J., president of the college, and the Rev. William A. Finnegan, dean of the college of arts and sciences. Alex Wilson, former Notre Dame star and new track coach, was introduced.

Be Individuals, Chase Advises U. of I. Freshmen

Opens Week Set Aside for Beginners.

Urbana, Ill., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Freshman week on the University of Illinois campus opened here tonight with President Harry Woodburn Chase telling the freshmen that with the 14,000 students the university has more opportunities for individual treatment and direction than the small college which he attended.

"We try to deal with the individual and not in mass formation," Dr. Chase said. "The university tries to regard you as a person and not as a unit in a machine."

He explained that he attended an institution with an enrollment of 700 or 800.

Dr. Chase admonished the freshmen not to lose their perspective in the complexity of present day university life.

"Your success in the real sense is not measured by the number of organizations you belong to or the number of activity points you obtain. It is measured by the kind of people you become and by the intellectual stimulation which you receive.

"Don't lose your individuality," he advised them. "Don't become just an echo of somebody else or of some little group. It isn't the business of universities to turn out standardized models. Here in the midst of all this stimulating environment don't shut yourself up in a few conventional types of doing things over and over again in the same outline and ignore all this world that is open to you. Live. The opportunity is yours."

Explorer Describes Great Beauties on U. S. Highways

Carveth Wells, explorer and author, spoke not of the wonders which he has observed in tropical jungles and the frozen arctic, but of the beauties which await tourists along the motor highways of the United States in his lecture last evening at the Morrison hotel. The lecture is the first of a series which Mr. Wells will make on a 10,000 mile airplane tour of thirty states in the union. Mr. Wells was welcomed when his plane arrived in Chicago by Wesley I. Nunn, advertising manager of the Continental Oil company. His lecture tour is under the auspices of the Conoco travel bureau. A number of his lectures are to be devoted to the attractions of the Century of Progress exposition in Chicago.

Illinois-Iowa Kiwanians Pick Aurora for Meeting

Bloomington, Ill., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—The convention of the Illinois-Eastern Iowa Kiwanis district closed here today with the selection of Aurora for the 1933 convention. George W. Fleming of Hyde Park was elected governor of the Illinois-Eastern Iowa section. John Coleman of Mount Carmel was elected treasurer.

Paris Designs an Apron Frock for the Movies

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Since aprons were taken out of the kitchen and put on the beaches last year, they have been turning up at all sorts of queer places and times. Like the independent woman they deny their place in the home. Being tied to apron strings is no longer a jibe to be afraid of. Even the most fashionable Parisienne sophisticates are going in for the apron dress in its many versions. And now this homey style is going into the movies.

In the sketch today you see the newest apron frock, designed by Mme. Schiaparelli for Gloria Swanson to wear in her next film. It has a foundation, which is a perfectly normal dress, made on simple lines, in white crinkled crêpe. The apron, like all self-respecting ones, completely covers the dress in front and ties on around the waist and neck. It has a V shaped neckline and a square, dotted plastron effect on the bib. It is made of white crinkled crêpe, dotted with navy blue, and has a wide navy blue border.

The small sketch shows the back of this frock, with the apron extending just half way around at the back. You will notice it is just slightly longer than the foundation. The apron provides an excellent way of transforming summer frocks into fall ones.

NEW RED REVOLT FLARES IN CHILE; LED BY AIR CHIEF

Army Marches on Flyers; Can't Catch Them.

BY NORMAL INGREY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, Sept. 14.—Chilean revolutionary events took a dramatic turn today with the result that tonight the country faces another Red menace, created by Commander Arturo Merino Benitez. Benitez, with most of the air force, rebelled against the military combination headed by Gen. Bartolme Blanche which yesterday overthrew provisional President Carlos G. Davila's Socialist régime.

The air commander is anxious to don the Red cloak which was forcibly stripped from Col. Marmaduke Grove by Davila when the latter assumed power and, either because he was not consulted in the composition of a new government or because he did not consider the new lineup sufficiently radical, raised the standard of revolt in the principal aviation camp, El Bosque, five miles south of Sanjiago.

Declare War on Rebels.

Provisional President Blanche, disgusted with the course of events, vacated the presidential palace and returned to his home. A hurried meeting of generals, admirals and carabineer chiefs followed and Col. Pedro Lagos was appointed supreme military commander with a view of taking combative measures against the rebel airmen.

Troops were quickly mustered and with tanks and other modern war paraphernalia moved to El Bosque, which they surrounded. The soldiers found the camp deserted.

The rebels, anticipating the move, had transferred the whole force of 57 war planes to the naval air base at Quintero, near Valparaiso, and the northern base at Ovalle. The aviators at these two bases sympathized with the air leaders' extreme program.

Airports Are Recaptured.

The rest of the armed forces, including the navy, however, remained loyal to the new government and this afternoon Gen. Blanche was sufficiently impressed by the show of unity that he decided to continue in charge of the government as provisional president.

Tonight a combined land and sea operation, in which the battleship La Torre and the Maipo and Lancers regiments participated, recaptured the Quintero airport, the government also claimed to have recaptured the base at Ovalle. Loyal forces also are in control of the El Bosque and Colina fields, near Santiago, and the southern airport at Temuco.

In every case, however, the rebel airmen escaped with their machines and have now developed into "phantom flyers." Their present whereabouts are unknown.

One of the rebel planes was destroyed while landing at Colina airport, where some of the rebels stopped after deserting El Bosque, when a bomb it was carrying exploded. Lieut. Pardo was killed and his companion, Lieut. Araya, gravely injured.

New Cabinet Formed.

A new cabinet was formed tonight by Ernesto Barros Jarpa, former special envoy to Washington. The cabinet is of civilian complexion except for Gen Luis Otero, minister of war, and Admiral Juan Montalva, minister of navy.

Gen. Otero assumed charge of the operations against the rebel airmen. His main strategy is to destroy stocks of gasoline at every aviation camp, thus forcing the rebels to remain in the air until their fuel is exhausted, when it is hoped they will surrender. For many months gasoline has been a rationed commodity in Chile, difficult to obtain.

Complete order prevails in Santiago and other cities, but a great deal of radical propaganda is being conducted among trade union elements, who see in Commander Merino and his rebel airmen the possibility of a new pink government.

GEN. MAC ARTHUR PAYS GOOD WILL VISIT TO AUSTRIA

Honors War Dead of U. S. War Enemy.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Austria, Sept. 14.—For the first time since the world war, a commanding officer of an allied army will pay an official visit of good will to the defeated central powers when Gen. Douglas MacArthur arrives here tomorrow from Prague, Czechoslovakia.

The American chief of staff will let bygones be bygones, the local press points out tonight, for one of his first official acts tomorrow will be to lay a wreath on the Austrian army's memorial to the war dead. On Saturday he will visit the tomb of Field Marshal Conrad von Hoetzendorf, commander-in-chief of the Austro-Hungary army in the world war, and there also place a wreath.

Will See Austrian "Army."

Austria today welcomed the friendly gesture of Gen. MacArthur's visit, but officials half apologized for not having much in the way of an army to show him. The treaty of St. Germain limits the Austrian military forces to 32,000 men and officers, but since hard times set in the number has dwindled to 18,000.

William Miklas, president of the republic, will entertain Gen. MacArthur at lunch tomorrow at Ballhausplatz, where Austria's ultimatum to Serbia and the subsequent declaration of war plunged the world into the struggle were drawn up.

SOVIETS SEE HIDDEN AIMS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Sept. 14.—The soviet Russian press also is finding hidden American aims concealed in Gen. MacArthur's tour of Europe.

The Moscow Izvestia connects Gen. MacArthur with the visit to Paris of Senator David A. Reed, close friend of President Hoover, who is alleged to have been having private conversations with Premier Herriot about the German memorandum demanding permission to arm.

Moscow Pravda [Truth] claims that the United States is endeavoring to arrange a new lineup of European countries in order to weaken France and bringing pressure to bear to compel France both to disarm and also to sign a trade agreement with America.

BATTLE FOR FORT IN CHACO JUNGLE RAGES IN 6TH DAY

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Sept. 14.—(AP)—An army communique today said the Bolivian troops fighting for control of strategic Fort Boqueron, in the Chaco jungle, held their original positions through the sixth day of intense fighting against Paraguayan troops.

Paraguay Claims Success.

ASUNCION, Paraguay, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Tonight's military communique announced that Paraguayan troops continued to fight successfully in the Fort Boqueron area of the Chaco. It was added that Bolivian reinforcements had been annihilated before they had a chance to relieve their besieged comrades.

VON HINDENBURG ORDERS YOUTH OF NATION TO TRAIN

Launches Semi-Military Move in Germany.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 14.—President Paul von Hindenburg today decreed the formation of a "national board to develop the physical fitness of youth" under the chairmanship of Baron Wilhelm von Gayl, minister of interior, and Gen. Edwin von Steulpnagel, retired.

The youth of the country has heretofore been drilled in such organizations as Adolf Hitler's National Socialist "brown shirts," the Steel Helmeters, the Republican Reichsbanner organization and the communist sport clubs. All of them gave semi-military training and taught hatred of other political groups.

Plan to Develop Comradeship.

Today's decree resulted from a decision to form a nationwide youth organization, excluding only the communists. The purpose, it was announced, is to develop such qualities as self-control, comradeship and readiness for self-sacrifice, as well as to "strengthen love of the Fatherland."

Through mass training the authorities assert they hope to unite youths of the opposing factions, thus aiding in ridding the nation of interpolitical violence.

Diplomats in Berlin fear the French will interpret the movement as the beginning of the organization of a new army, since it is well known that field drills, as practiced today, include hand grenade practice, anti-gas practice and other military maneuvers.

Voids Von Papen Ouster.

President Von Hindenburg wrote Hermann Goering, National Socialist president of the richstag, tonight that Monday's vote of nonconfidence in Chancellor Franz von Papen's cabinet was "unconstitutional and void."

Upon receiving this statement, the reichstag committee for the preservation of parliamentary rights, which functions even though the reichstag is dissolved, resorted to the provision of the constitution which permits conversion into an investigation committee vested with "extraordinary powers" when it considers the constitution is in danger. It is demanding that Von Papen and other ministers appear before it as witnesses.

Today's motion directed against Von Papen was carried only by the communists and National Socialists, who form a majority of the committee.

Centrists to Aid Von Papen.

The Ruhr industrialists and Catholic organizations are bringing pressure to bear on Centrist leaders to make peace with Von Papen. Since they hold the party's purse strings it is expected that the Centrists will effect a reconciliation with the present government, especially after today's meetings of the reichstag committee made the Centrists aware that an alliance between the Hitlerites and communists would be strong enough to swamp any bourgeois government in Germany under parliamentary rule.

SON STILL HELD AS SEARCH FOR MOTHER FAILS

Galesburg, Ill., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—The strange disappearance of Mrs. Alice Boyer, 47 year old divorcée who lived on a farm near here, today was as much of a mystery to local officers as it was last Friday when first reported. Search for her was renewed after relatives learned that the nude body of a woman found in the canal at Joliet was not that of Mrs. Boyer.

Mrs. Boyer's 21 year old son, Arvid, who was arrested yesterday for questioning, is still in the Warren county jail at Monmouth.

A straw stack a quarter of a mile from the Boyer home burned mysteriously today. Officers said they will search the ashes as soon as they stop smoldering.

It was learned today that Mrs. Boyer was virtually penniless at the time of her disappearance. Her former husband, Abel Boyer, checked through her bank accounts and learned that the money received for her corn has all been accounted for.

Part of Mrs. Boyer's dwindling bank balance was used to clear her son of charges that threatened when he forged the name of Charley Carlson, neighboring farmer, to a check, it has been learned.

Pilot and 2 Youths Die in Minnesota Plane Crash

Glenwood, Minn., Sept. 14.—(AP)—A pilot and two youths getting free rides for passing out handbills were killed today when an airplane crashed two miles east of Glenwood. The dead are: Ray Dibble, 35, Graceville, aviator. Lawrence Austin, 18, Glenwood, and Sidney Thompson, 17, of Lake Pelican. Dibble apparently was planning to land, when the plane at a height of about 300 feet, suddenly went into a spin.

THREE NATIONS POSTPONE DEBT PAYMENTS TO U. S.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Notice was given to the treasury today by the representatives of Poland, Estonia, and Latvia that these three nations will postpone payments on the principal of their debts to the United States for two years.

Announcement that the three governments would take advantage of the option contained in their respective debt funding agreements with this country was made tonight by Secretary of the Treasury Mills.

The United States accordingly, on Dec. 15, when the European war debt payments are due, will not receive the $1,125,000 due on principal from Poland, the $90,000 due from Estonia, and the $37,000 due from Latvia.

The two year period of nonpayment will commence on Dec. 15 and the payments postponed will bear interest at the rate of 3½ per cent.

Treasury officials were waiting tonight to learn whether other debtor nations would follow the lead thus given them.

DIVORCES MAY BE NEEDED TO HOLD U. S. JOBS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Miss Ruth Taunton, secretary of the National Woman's party, said today that actual divorces may provide the only means for some husbands and wives to retain federal jobs under the national economy act.

She said fifteen men and a score of women had visited her headquarters since Saturday's ruling of the civil service commission that maintenance of separate homes by husband and wife, both on the federal pay roll, would be regarded as an attempt to evade the "husband and wife" section of the economy law.

GERMANY ORDERS START ON THIRD 'POCKET' CRUISER

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

WILHELMSHAVEN, Sept. 14.—The navy shipyard here has received an order to start construction on Germany's third pocket battleship by Oct. 1. The first installment for the construction of this "Cruiser C," as it is officially called, was appropriated by the reichstag under Chancellor Heinrich Bruening, but, owing to Germany's budgetary difficulties, had to be postponed for the time being.

It will be built on exactly the same 10,000 ton model as Cruisers A and B, the first of which, when launched last summer, created a stir among naval experts abroad, as, owing to its amazing speed and relatively heavy guns, it upset the calculations upon which the London naval treaty is based.

OUIMET'S 30 FOR NINE HOLES SETS AMATEUR RECORD

Westland, Lehman Are Eliminated.

Ouimet's Card

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 14—[Special.]—Francis Ouimet's card for his record breaking first round in the National Amateur golf tournament today follows:

Par—out	444	345	443—35
Ouimet—out	343	244	343—30
Par—in	444	3	***
Ouimet—in	444	2	***

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—At the end of the dreaded 18 hole matches today, Francis Ouimet, defending champion, and two former title holders, Chick Evans, winner in 1916 and 1920, and Jesse Guilford, the 1921 king, held three of the eight places in the quarter-finals of the national amateur golf championship.

FRANCES OUIMET.

The other five contestants in tomorrow's play are C. R. Somerville, former Canadian champion; William O. Blaney, former New England amateur title holder; Johnny Fischer, young Cincinnati star who won the intercollegiate crown this year; Johnny Goodman of Omaha, and Maurice J. McCarthy Jr. of New York.

Never has there been such a brand of tournament golf as Ouimet played to crush George Voigt, his first round opponent, 6 and 5. The bespectacled veteran played 13 holes in 44 strokes, an average of five over 3's for the stretch, on which par is 50. For the first nine holes he needed only 30 strokes, shattering all scoring records. Voigt was one over par for the distance played and yet was completely routed by the Bostonian's devastating golf.

Beats 36 Year Record.

Thirty strokes is the lowest score for any nine holes in the 36 year history of the amateur tournament. Ouimet compiled the total with five birdies and four pars. It was one stroke better than the old record established years ago by Jerome D. Travers and equaled by Bobby Jones in the final round of the 1927 tournament. Jones was in the gallery today. At the end of the nine holes he described Ouimet's play as "utterly beyond belief unless actually seen."

In the second round Ouimet had to fight to the last ditch to save himself from being eliminated by Sidney W. Noyes, young Yale golfer. The match went to the last green, with the outcome in doubt until Ouimet holed a 25 foot putt for a birdie 3 to win 1 up.

Westland Eliminated.

Somerville's two victims were John F. Brawner Jr. of Washington, who won a place in the championship bracket in a play-off with Willie Turnesa of New York, and Jack Westland

SECOND ROUND.

Ross Somerville, Canada, defeated Jack Westland, Chicago, 3 and 2.
Chick Evans, Chicago, defeated Milton Warner, New Haven, 5 and 4.
Jesse P. Guilford, Boston, defeated William Chapin, Rochester, N. Y., 4 and 3.
Maurice McCarthy Jr., New York, defeated Charles Yates, Atlanta, 2 and 1.
Johnny Fischer, Cincinnati, defeated Robert Grant, Weatherfield, Conn., 4 and 3.
Francis Ouimet of Boston defeated Sydney Noyes of Ardsley, N. Y., 1 up, 19 holes.
Johnny Goodman, Omaha, defeated Charles Seaver, Los Angeles 2 and 1.
William Blaney, Boston, defeated Gus Moreland, Dallas, 1 up on 22d hole.

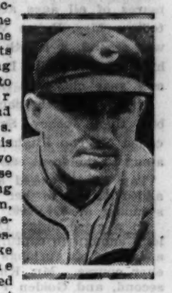
OTT, LINDSTROM DRIVE IN ALL OF NEW YORK RUNS

Bruins Keep Lead of 5½ Games.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 14.—Home runs by Mel Ott and Freddy Lindstrom this afternoon accounted for all the runs made by the New York Giants in accomplishing a ten inning 4 to 3 victory over Pat Malone and associate Cubs. Ott knocked his homer with two runners on base in the first inning and Lindstrom, back in the lineup after a hospital layoff, broke up the game when he cracked Malone's first pitch in the tenth inning to send the ball into the upper deck of the left field stands.



MARK KOENIG.

It was the second successive extra inning defeat of the Cubs by the Giants, their third setback in three days and their second in three days to be established by a homer. Despite all these dire things the league pace setters lost no ground in the pennant race, and continue to lead the second place Pirates by 5½ games. The Cubs now can clinch the pennant with 7 victories in their remaining 11 games, even though the Pirates win their remaining 12 contests.

Koenig Out Until Series.

Shortstop Mark Koenig suffered a recurrence of his old wrist injury when sliding into second base after his double in the ninth inning and will be out of the lineup for the remainder of the regular season. Manager Charley Grimm announced that physicians hope to have Koenig in shape for the world series.

Tomorrow the Cubs and Giants wind up their 1932 series in a single game and the Cubs must win to restore the .500 pace they set for themselves when they left home on the current pilgrimage.

Aside from the letdowns at each end of the contest, Malone pitched a rather handsome game, allowing the Giants only six hits, no two of which came in the same inning during the span between the first inning and the tenth.

Hubbell got tougher and tougher after the Cubs tied the score in the sixth, and in the eighth and ninth innings, the period in which the Cubs had planned to break up the game, he rebuked them by striking out five assorted heroes.

Cuyler Goes Hitless Again.

The biggest element in the failure of the Cubs today was the continued confusion of Kiki Cuyler in batting matters. Ki won four of the five recent Cub victories over the Giants in Chicago almost single handed, but he has failed to get a hit in 14 times at bat here.

Today Ki's routine outs especially were distressing. In the fourth inning the Cubs made one run after he had supplied the first putout, in the sixth inning they made the tying run after he had supplied the first out. In the seventh he supplied the third out, letting what would have been the tying run die on second, and in the tenth he supplied the first out when his only well hit effort of the series found a nestling place in Ott's glove. With Ki not hitting the Cubs do suffer, indeed.

In contrast with the slump of the able Mr. Cuyler, however, was the revival of Riggs Stephenson, who recently showed slumpish tendencies in Brooklyn. Of the nine hits off Hubbell, Stevie made three, which added to his three in yesterday's second game, is rather pleasing, even though the Cubs lost both clashes.

Off to Good Start.

When the Cubs pushed off in the first inning by making a run without the semblance of a base hit it appeared they were in for an afternoon devoid of the anxiety which usually attends games pitched by Hubbell. Herman walked on five pitches and on the first pitch to English stole sec-

FOOTBALL OPENS TODAY IN BIG TEN, AT NOTRE DAME

Maroons to Play First Game Sept. 24.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Western conference football teams open practice this morning in the campaign to determine who will succeed to the title now held by Northwestern, Purdue, and Michigan. The University of Notre Dame, which also observes the Sept. 15 rule for practice, begins drills at South Bend.

With these universities in action, all sections of the country will be football minded, for the ranking teams of the east, south, and far west have been at work for several days.

Maroons Start Sept. 24.

First games are set for Oct. 1 with the exception of the University of Chicago. Coach Stagg, starting his 47st year on the Midway, will have double drills for nine days. This arrangement is possible since the fall quarter of the university does not start as early as the fall semesters in other conference schools. Stagg will send his team against Monmouth college Sept. 24 and then rest on Oct. 1, using two weeks to prepare for the game on Oct. 8 at Yale university.

The conference universities are permitted only eight games.

Until classes begin the Chicago football team will live in the new residence halls south of the Midway.

The squad will be one of the smallest in Chicago history, but every man on it is regarded as of potential use to the varsity this season. All of them have had previous experience as regulars or reserves, or have participated in practice as freshmen.

One letter man of value probably has been lost for the season. Bob Wallace, a speedy half back, is ill with diphtheria and is not expected to be strong enough to play.

Fifty-five to Report at N. U.

Fifty-five players are expected to report to Coach Dick Hanley at Northwestern this morning. For three days the squad will have double practice sessions. The Wildcats open their season Oct. 1 against Missouri and meet Michigan at Ann Arbor the next Saturday.

"We are just as confused over our probable strength as anybody else," Coach Hanley said yesterday. "Spring practice showed us that we cannot replace our losses in the line defensively. We have nobody to measure up to such linemen as Riley, Marvil, Engebretsen, and Evans. We hope to make up for this situation by speeding up our offense.

"Our back field should work in with this idea. We have a pair of fast backs in Rentner and Sullivan, while Olson's kicking will prove a great help. The middle of our line figures to be our weak spot. It will take our first two games to figure how we are going to shape."

May Scrimmage This Week.

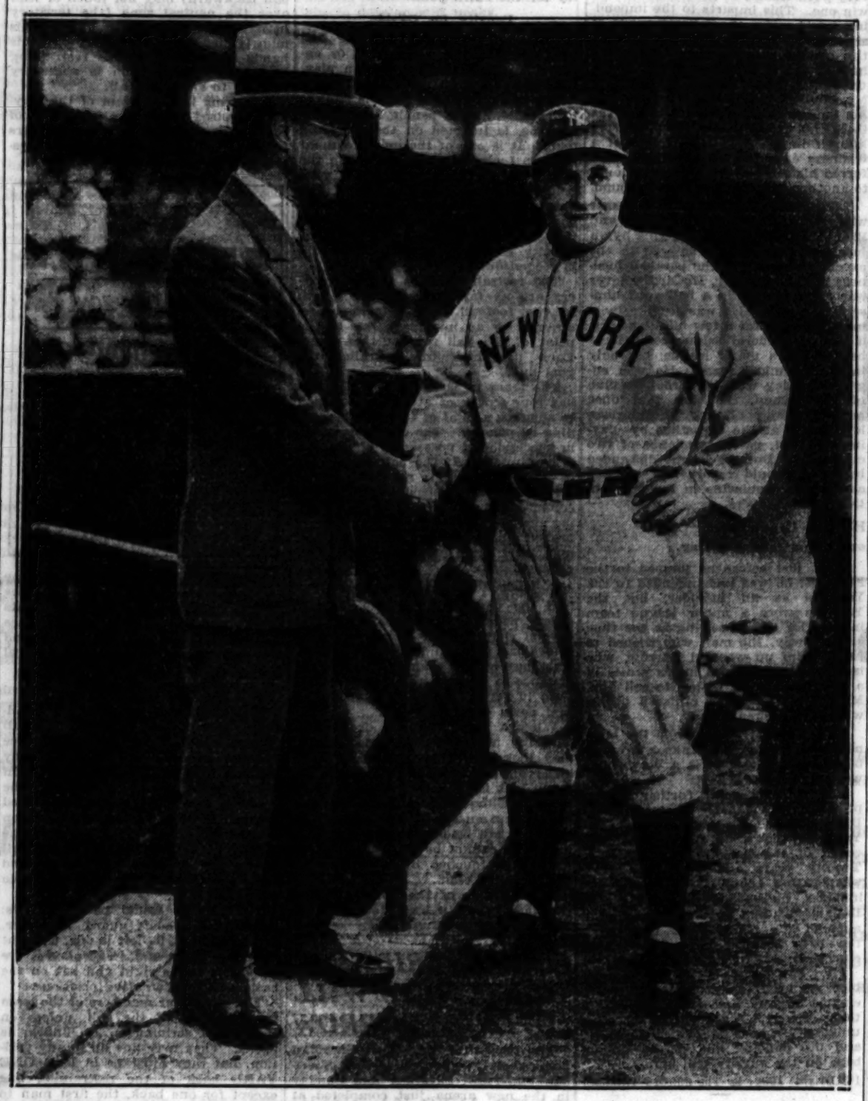
The Wildcats may get their first scrimmage before the week is over. A first string back field for such an occasion probably would consist of Rentner and Sullivan, half backs; Olson, full back, and Potter, quarter.

Two coaches are starting their first seasons in the Big Ten while another, Dr. Clarence Spears, who takes charge at Wisconsin, is coming back to the conference after two years at Oregon.

Bernie Bierman, Minnesota graduate and coach at Tulane last fall, replaces Fritz Crisler at Minnesota. Crisler now is coaching at Princeton. He hasn't lost all contact with the conference, however, for Princeton will meet Michigan this fall at Ann Arbor. Ossie Solem, for 10 years coach at Drake university, assumes charge at Iowa, replacing Burt Ingwersen.

Interest will center on activity at Purdue, which rates with Michigan and Northwestern in importance because of the 1931 championship. Minnesota and Ohio State are expected to have strong elevens, while reports from the remaining universities, Indiana, Chicago, Illinois, Wisconsin and Iowa, indicate that competition throughout the conference will be better balanced. Chicago is quite hopeful of improvement. Iowa apparently has been hard hit by ineligibility of talent.

AND THAT GOES FOR US, TOO, JOE



William Harridge, president of the American league, congratulates Manager Joe McCarthy on his success with the Yankees, who are the 1932 champions. All Chicago seconds Mr. Harridge's praise, for the Yankee boss is the same McCarthy who piloted the Cubs to sensational success for the five years ending in 1930. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Cubs Need to Win 7 of 11 Games for a Sure Pennant

The defeat of Pittsburgh yesterday by the Boston Braves, although it did not increase the Cubs' margin over the Pirates in the National league pennant race, made Chicago's task of clinching the championship just one game easier. The Cubs now must win only 7 of their remaining 11 games to finish in first place, even if the Pirates win all 12 of their remaining contests. If the Cubs win 7 and lose 4 while the Pirates sweep their schedule, the final standing will be:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Chicago	91	63	.591
Pittsburgh	90	64	.584

If the Cubs win 6 of their 11, the Pirates would still gain only a tie by winning 12, while anything less than 12 would leave Chicago in undisputed possession of first place.

Should the Cubs win only 4 games and lose 7, the Pirates still would have to win 10 out of 12 to tie the Cubs and 11 out of 12 to nose them out by one game. If the Cubs lose all of their 11 games, they can still win the pennant if the Pirates do not win more than 5 of their games. An even break for the Pirates while the Cubs were losing all would give Pittsburgh merely a tie for first place.

McCarthy Has Little Color, but a Record Hard to Beat

[This is the second of a series of sketches of players on the Yankee team who will oppose the Cubs in the world series.]

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 14.—The career of Joe McCarthy, the manager of the Yankees, is an oft-told tale and I wish I could jazz it up by describing him as a full-blooded Sioux Indian who made four touchdowns for Carlisle against Harvard. But Mr. McCarthy is no Indian. Mr. McCarthy does not attend tribal dog-barbecues attired in a dress suit of rooster-feathers. Mr. McCarthy happens to be an amiable and unexciting Irish-American out of Germantown, which is a dull and placid suburb of Philadelphia. He never rose above mediocrity in athletics and, for unique or amusing characteristics, doesn't even eat crackers in bed.

Mr. McCarthy was a busher until Bill Veeck, the president of the Cubs, heard of his executive ability in the fall of 1925 after the Cubs had finished a bang-up last. The Cubs were owned by the richest and spendingest magnate in baseball, the late William Wrigley Jr., who had a sensitive ear for advertising values and a boyish ambition to own a world champion ball club.

McCarthy had been in Louisville ten years, seven years of that time as playing manager and bench manager and he had won two pennants. But more impressive than his record in the statistics was his way with men which was firm, efficient, sympathetic, helpful and generally successful.

He was on his way west to San Francisco for a little world series when he was accepted for the job. When he reported for work he was given a credit for $250,000 and requested to spend it on ball players. He knew some ball players who would help the Cubs, but couldn't buy them because they weren't for sale on any sane terms so, after diligent shopping at the slave blocks in the winter season, he had to turn back most of the $250,000. He then went about improving his club by developing minor leaguers, which is the hard way, and turning a little helpful trade here and there.

He Moved Right Into the First Division.

The Cubs moved up into the first division in his first season and McCarthy was away on a prosperous career in Chicago, finally winning a pennant in 1929. But he lost the world series in rather ludicrous fashion to Connie Mack's Athletics and, not to dance around the subject, Wrigley, who had no patience with failure, fired him in 1930.

But McCarthy never sulked. After all, Wrigley's firm had thrown the rock into the bushes which flushed him out in the first place and he had had five years of good advertising and pleasant employment at an average of about $25,000 a year. Moreover, the good reputation which he had estab-

16 DAILY DOUBLE CUSTOMERS TAKE HOME $974 EACH

Donday and Sand Boot Reward Backers.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Sixteen of the folks in the crowd of 9,000 ran an old shoestring into a Persian rug out at Lincoln Fields yesterday when they coupled up Donday and Sand Boot in the daily double.

Those sixteen lucky ones lined up at the windows with broad smiles on their faces. And why not? Each collected $974 for a $2 ticket.

Among them were S. Keating from the stock yards, who lives at 11209 Lothair avenue in Morgan Park, and Charles A. Hansen, 1838 North Wells street, a salesman.

Bernice Takes No Chances.

Mrs. Bernice Knight, from the north side, stepped up and cashed two tickets. She owned one of them. She had split the other one with Helen Scott, a neighbor. They didn't give their addresses. "We don't want any one to know we won all that money," said Mrs. Knight.

It was the highest daily double return of the Lincoln Fields season and was made possible when Donday paid $61.66 in the second race and Sand Boot returned $47.08 when he captured the third. The daily double pool, while a record breaker, did not measure up to what a $2 parlay would have amounted to on the pair of long shots. A two dollar parlay wagered through the mutuels would have paid $1,575.

Donday, owned by C. A. Marrone of Maryland, ran away from his field in the second race. He beat the stoutly backed Sis Agnes by six lengths. Town Limit was third at the end of six furlongs. Sand Boot just lasted to beat Upon by a nose in the third race. The track was dry on top but heavy and sticky underneath and just to the liking of the two mud runners.

Peabody Collects, Too.

Stuyvesant Peabody, president of the Lincoln Fields Jockey club, was another holder of a winning ticket.

The best race on the program was the Mohawk purse, a dash at a mile and a furlong. Whipper Cracker won it by ten lengths. He was ridden by Monte Parke, a brother of Ivan Parke, America's champion jockey of a few years back. It was the first race Monte Parke, who weighs only 75 pounds and is only 18 years old, ever had ridden.

A more experienced jockey might have given his mount a breathing spell here and there along the journey. But the youngest of the Parkes was too anxious to win to let Whipper Cracker rest at any stage of the journey. So he made a runaway of the race.

Whipper Cracker had lots of backers. He would have had more if a more experienced rider had been in the saddle. He paid $8.08 for a two dollar ticket, and was at $6.30 to place and $3.60 to show.

Tickets Give McCarthy a Few Worries

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Winning a pennant has its little irritations for a manager. Joe McCarthy, now of the Yankees, but previously of the Cubs, will vouch for this. He discovered it—for the second and most convincing time—yesterday when he brought his Yankees to Chicago, after they technically had clinched the American league pennant the day before in Cleveland.

Mr. McCarthy had telegrams of congratulation bulging from his pockets and in his hands. Some of these well wishing notes prove boomerangs. The senders thereof will ask for series tickets—as a special favor for an old friend. Photographers also kept the Yankee boss on the trot. He posed without complaint in the same dozen or more positions he has posed for the last seven years.

For no particular reason McCarthy has forsaken the customary four in hand and has become addicted to the bow tie. He wore one yesterday morning when he arrived and had another about the inner fold of the soft collar last evening. A writer, thinking of the impending world series, warned him that the late Sir Thomas Lipton wore the same neckgear on this side of the Atlantic and never did win back the America's yachting cup.

"You can't scare me on superstitions," said the Yank leader. "I go for them where only myself is concerned. I won't walk under a ladder. But superstitions mean nothing when a group is involved. I've heard fellows holler because somebody threw a hat on a bed, but we've won double headers the next day."

On the subject of winning ball teams, past and present, McCarthy is more candid than you might expect. He hasn't seen the Cubs of 1932, but he thinks his Cubs of 1929 were far superior.

"This year's team just powdered its way to a pennant," was his way of putting it.

Neither does he regard his present Yankee aggregation quite as formidable as the Yankee winner that boasted Ruth at his best, Bob Meusel, Herb Pennock, and a few others. On this basis you might think McCarthy isn't worried about losing to the Cubs, but he isn't at all cocky. He has a lot of respect for the north side pitchers and the man he fears most is Charley Root.

"I've never seen Warneke," said McCarthy, "but the games he has won on low scores and the few times he has been knocked out is enough to prove that he is somebody. Funny thing about him, though, considering his great record, is that he strikes out so few batters." [Warneke has averaged less than four strikeouts per game.]

In discussions of his pitching selection for the world series opener McCarthy still is artfully dodging. However, he predicts it will be either Vern Gomez, the southpaw, or Charley Ruffing, the big right hander. He doesn't subscribe to the idea that because the Cubs are mainly a right handed hitting team they will find a southpaw easier than a right hander. Nevertheless he probably will lead off with Ruffing.

When the Yanks' record for this year was brought up McCarthy mentioned something he claimed all the statistically inclined writers had overlooked.

"We haven't been beaten four times in a row all season," he declared. "We lost three in succession a couple of times."

Another Yankee achievement was the winning of 62 games out of 77 on their home grounds. They lost four to Washington, three to St. Louis, two each to Philadelphia, Cleveland, and Detroit, and one each to Boston and Chicago. That probably is a record. And yet the Yanks comprised the poorest double play team in the league. They made their entire first western trip this season without perpetrating a twin killing.

McCarthy's ambition always has been to be mixed up in boxing. He managed preliminary fighters when he was a young fellow around Germantown, Pa. In Cleveland he had a call from Jack Dempsey and confessed to the ex-champion that he always had wanted to be identified with padded mitts.

"That's funny," replied Dempsey; "I always wanted to be a ball player."

New York, Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Top Flight, C. V. Whitney's queen of fillies, ran a mile in 1:37 4-5, with 126 pounds up, to win the 62d running of the Ladies' handicap for fillies and mares of all ages at Belmont Park today. Mrs. Payne Whitney's Parry was second, a length and a half behind, and Mrs. John D. Hertz's Risque, a 4 year old, was third.

Risque made the pace to the stretch, but then Jockey Sonny Workman called on Top Flight and she moved along to the front easily.

Top Flight closed at 4 to 5. She added $2,275 to her winnings, now standing at $275,400.

In a close finish Dorsays held on long enough to capture the last race, a dash of six furlongs down the Widener course. Mr. Khayyam finished second, and Golden Fate, a paddock tip, brought up third. The winner was ridden by D. Bellizzi and was favorite at even money. He covered the distance in 1:11 3-5.

Greentree stable's Bangle, which has been running far below his form in other seasons, ran a good race in the Bowling Brook steeplechase, winning easily. Silverskin was second and Teakwood third. Silverskin, the favorite, stumbled at the water jump. Spar, an early leader, also stumbled, losing his rider, Thorndike. The winner paid 3 to 1.

Roman Candles Will Break Up Bird Chorus

BY BOB BECKER.

Although fireworks are usually associated with the Fourth of July, several communities in the central states may have to use Roman candles this month to fight large concentrations of blackbirds. The use of spouting Roman candles at sunset when the birds begin to swarm into their roosts, is considered one of the best methods of attack. A bombardment of this type invariably scares the birds away without killing too many of them.

A recent report from a little town in Indiana indicates that blackbirds already have become a nuisance in localities surrounding the Great Lakes. Every autumn these birds gather in large flocks. After a brief conference they select some marsh or clump of trees as a roost. If this roost happens to be in or at the edge of a village or town the clamor of approach and departure of the birds makes life miserable for everyone within hearing distance of this roost.

Rowdy, These Blackbirds!

We doubt if any group of birds has a better time than the blackbirds, martins, and swallows after nesting duties are over. These species get together for a spree preceding migration. Of all of them, the blackbird is the rowdiest. Because of these rowdy qualities and the fact that blackbirds frequently become pests, the biological survey has taken time to study various methods of routing the big flocks from roosts which annoy communities.

The survey has found that plenty of Roman candles shot into the trees just as the birds are assembling usually sends the flock on its way. But fireworks do not always work.

Smudge Pots Are Successful.

Another stunt that may be tried is the use of smudge pots placed in the trees. The fumes from the pots have been found successful in scattering the birds. The average irate citizen who has been losing sleep because of the noise made by the birds reaches for a shotgun. A shotgun bombardment, preferably at sunset, and not after dark, when the birds are settled down for the night, is the most common offensive against the blackbirds. However, the shooters frequently find city or town ordinances prohibit the use of firearms within the corporate limits. That was the case last fall in the Fox river valley.

Abe Espinosa Gets Record 69 on Medinah No. 3 Course

Abe Espinosa, Medinah Country club professional, established a new record for the No. 3 course yesterday by shooting a 69 over the layout. The course is considered one of the hardest in the United States. The former record is 75, made by Gene Sarazen on Labor day. Espinosa had a 34 on the first round and came home with a 35.

IT'S RECORD, NOT COLOR, IN CASE OF JOE McCARTHY

lished with the Cubs now recommended him to Jake Ruppert, the second best spender in baseball, who brought him right into New York at a wage of about $30,000.

Mr. McCarthy Never Played Much Baseball.

Now, two years after his dismissal for losing a world series, McCarthy will move back into Mr. Wrigley's yard, from which Mr. Wrigley has departed, with an earnest wish and a very good chance to prove that he can win one. This imparts to the impending world series the delicate garlic of a grudge, but it must be admitted that the grudge exists largely under the hats of the customers and not in the temperate and businesslike soul of Mr. McCarthy. He has never run out his tongue at the management of the Cubs and, on the whole, has conducted himself in the dignified manner of a business executive who simply transferred his services from one big house to another with satisfaction all around.

Like Pants Rowland, the busher who managed the White Sox, and Branch Rickey, the tent meeting hymn howler who has done so well in the executive branch of the baseball business in St. Louis, Mr. McCarthy never was much shakes in a ball yard himself, in person. He was technically a major leaguer for a few minutes once, if the old Federal league could have been called a major league, but only in the technical sense. He was engaged to play with the Brooklyn club of that group, the club that once established an all-time all-American low record at the turnstiles by staying to a net, paid, attendance of two customers. But the league disbanded before he could report and he was assigned to Louisville in the distribution of the players.

He Is a Graduate on Banjo, Tap Dancing.

Once, just before he jumped to the Federals, he was recommended to the Yankees as an infielder, but the Yankees were a minor league team in a major league setting at the time and anyway, the man who wished to peddle him up was Ed Barrow, who is always most lavish in his praise of a player when he wishes to sell him. Mr. Barrow does not praise a player whom he desires to buy.

At present Mr. Barrow is the business manager of the Yankees, proving beyond doubt that it is a very small world after all.

Proving this point further is the presence of James [Tomato-Face] Burke on the coaching staff of the Yankees, the same Burke who was coach of the Cubs under McCarthy. Twenty years ago when McCarthy was beating about the bushes as an infielder, he hopped into a bush in Indianapolis and Mr. Burke, the manager of the team, made him carry the bats because he couldn't play enough infield to earn his hire.

Mr. McCarthy is 44 years old, blocky, with a protuberent chin, enough dignity and great determination. He is a graduate of Niagara university, where he studied the banjo and tap dancing and played second base on the varsity ball club.

HOLDS TICKET TAX DOESN'T APPLY IN STATE SCHOOLS

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 14.—(AP)—The federal amusement tax cannot be assessed on admissions to athletic contests at state institutions, the Iowa attorney general's office held in an opinion given today to W. H. Gemmill, secretary of the state board of education.

Assistant Attorney General Neill Garrett, who investigated Supreme court decisions of various states, said the provisions of the tax law were unconstitutional as applied to athletic games the proceeds of which go, wholly or in part, to a state school.

As a sort of reward for their pennant clinching effort on Tuesday, Joe McCarthy, Yankee manager, laid off the bulk of his regular talent and employed shock troops in the various vacancies yesterday. This should have been a break for the White Sox, but it wasn't. The shock troops carried on much after the manner of their more talented mates and not only whipped the south siders but also carried away the skilled Ted Lyons, who had hoped to present the new champions with their first shutout of the campaign. The score was 3 to 2, but the argument really wasn't that close.

Vernon Gomez, the Yankees' ace left hander, will warm up for the world series by pitching to the Sox today. He will be opposed by Paul Gregory.

Walter Brown, a lad of some 200 odd pounds, who also rates as a second stringer, was the cause of the Pale Hose being more or less helpless. As it was only his second start of the season, he was anxious to conduct himself like a comer. He did, at least for eight innings, during which he surrendered only six hits, all scattered. He couldn't carry the good work through the ninth, so the Sox dodged a shutout with two runs and had two more on the bases when Bob Seeds fanned for the final touch.

Bad Day for Hitters.

The going was so tough for Yank and Sox batters alike in the first few innings that a base runner was a rarity. The Yankees got two on when Hoag and Crosetti singled with two out in the second. Lyons gave them a better chance when he walked both Chapman and Gehrig to open the fourth. Byrd sacrificed, putting the men on third and second. They stayed there when Hoag fouled to Kress and Crosetti grounded to Appling. Another opening loomed for the Yanks on two singles and a bad throw by Appling that put runners on third and first with two gone in the fifth. Lyons emerged from this threat on Chapman's roller to Hayes.

In the same five innings the Sox were restricted to five base runners by Brown, who is large enough to be a couple of fellows.

Funny Double Helps.

The end of Lyons' ambition to give the Yanks their first whitewashing of the season came in the sixth on one of these peculiar twists of play that arise frequently to annoy the Sox. After two had been disposed of Hoag boosted a fly to short right and Sullivan dashed out to get it. He managed to reach just the right spot for the catch, but he didn't hold the ball. Because it was more a matter of luck than anything else that he got close to the ball, it was recorded as a double. A moment later Hoag scored on Crosetti's single to center.

Brown's double, his second hit, brought on the two run disturbance in the seventh. He lined one safely to the right field scoreboard to open the inning. Lyons tightened up long enough to fan Farrell and suppress Lary on a fly to Swanson, but then walked Chapman, bringing up Gehrig. The latter thumped a long fly to left and, when Swanson turned around in the wrong spot, the ball dropped for a double, Brown and Chapman scooting home.

Mr. Brown Bears Down.

Brown spoiled his own chances for a shutout. He plunked Grube with a pitched ball after two were out in the ninth. Fothergill batted for Faber and singled into center. Norman did the same and Grube scored. Fothergill turned over his running job to Jones, who steps a bit better. Hodapp batted for Hayes and singled to left, sending Jones home. The fun ceased shortly afterwards when Seeds missed his third swing.

RUTH TO REJOIN YANKS AGAINST A'S WEDNESDAY

New York, Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Babe Ruth, who has been idle due to a slight attack of appendicitis, will report to Manager Joe McCarthy at Philadelphia next Wednesday, ready to see action in the two-game series against the 1931 American league champions, it was announced from the office of the New York Yankees today.

One week ago today Ruth was rushed home from Detroit with the fear that he had been stricken with appendicitis. At that time it was doubtful whether the famous home run hitter would be able to participate in the forthcoming world series, which will be his tenth in the major leagues.

BRAVES DEFEAT PIRATES, 5-2, FOR SECOND STRAIGHT

Boston, Mass., Sept. 14.—(AP)—The Braves executed the first triple play made in Boston in several years today while taking the second straight game of the final series with the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5 to 2.

The triple play came in the fifth inning. Lloyd Waner opened with a single to center and his brother Paul hit safely to right, bringing up Comorosky. He hit a hard smash over second which Bill Urbanski gathered in on a running catch. Urbanski touched second to double Lloyd and his throw to Jordan at first caught Paul off that base.

Sox Are Nearly Ready to Concede Cellar to Boston

The White Sox last night were about ready to concede the cellar championship of the American league to the Boston Red Sox, although the Chicagoans still have a mathematical chance for the coveted honors which go annually to the best losers.

Much of the gloom around the south side last night came from the Red Sox's valiant showing yesterday. They lost to Cleveland by the tremendous margin of 9 to 0, while the Sox were beaten only one run, 3 to 2.

How can you outlose a team like that?

The Red Sox now trail the White Sox by 5 games and have 12 games to play. The Sox must go through with 14 more contests.

Boston can clinch the cellar by losing only 9 of its remaining games. Then, even if the White Sox lost 14 straight the standing would be:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Chicago	44	110	.286
Boston	43	111	.279

However, Boston has been playing inconsistently of late and may win more than 3 of its 12 games. This is the factor that may knock the Chicagoans right into a cellar championship.

Supposing that the Red Sox win 6 and lose 6, a dizzy pace, to be sure. Then their standing would be:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Boston	46	108	.299

In order to nose out the Bostonians for last place the White Sox then would have to lose only 13 out of 14 starts, in which event their standing would be:

	W.	L.	Pct.

Giants' Home Runs Defeat Cubs, 4-3, in Ten Innings

ond and ran on to third when the surprised Mr. Hogan threw the ball inaccurately. Herman held third while Hubbell threw out English, but scored on an eyelash decision after Ott had caught Cuyler's short fly. Stephenson also flied to Ott.

Along Comes Mr. Ott.

The Cub lead didn't last very long. After Moore had flied to Cuyler, Critz singled to right center and stopped at second on Terry's single to center. Ott then smacked Malone's first pitch high into the right field upper deck for that homer No. 35, scoring Critz and Terry ahead of him.

The Cubs scored their second run in the fourth inning. After Hubbell threw out Cuyler, Stephenson singled to left and stopped at second on Demaree's second hit, a single to center. Grimm singled to right, Steve scoring and Demaree stopping at second. Hartnett fouled to Terry. Then Koenig tapped to Vergez, and Demaree permitted himself to be tagged by a backhand swish, just as third baseman Walters got him in Boston a week ago.

Hartnett's Hit Ties Score.

In the sixth the Chicagoans tied the score. After Cuyler again had supplied the first out, Stephenson singled to center. Stevie was forced at second by Demaree, but Grimm walked. Hartnett singled through short and Demaree came home with the tying marker while Grimm reached third. Koenig forced Hartnett.

From the end of the first inning until two were out in the sixth Malone held the Giants to two infield singles, one by Lindstrom with one out in the third and the other by Terry with one out in the fifth. Neither reached second.

With two out in the sixth Vergez doubled along the left field foul line with two out, but the threat ended when Koenig made a sweet stop of Hubbell's grounder to deep short and threw him out.

Herman Dies on Second.

In the seventh Herman was safe on an error by Vergez and reached second on Woody English's infield out. He died on second when Cuyler fouled to Terry.

Terry knocked his third single with two out in the seventh, but Ott obliged with a foul to Grimm.

The Cubs didn't offer much resistance in the eighth. Stephenson flied to Moore, Damaree was called out on strikes, and Grimm fanned.

With one out in the eighth Hogan dropped a Texas leaguer into short center and Allen was put on to run for him. G. English was thrown out by Herman, Allen stopping at second. Vergez was given an intentional pass. Then English threw out Hubbell.

The Cubs developed a sizeable threat in the ninth, though Hubbell struck out the side. After Hartnett had fanned, Koenig doubled to right center. Mark injured his troublesome left wrist as he slid into second and was replaced by Jurges. Malone fanned, but Herman singled to deep short, Jurges stopping at third. Then English fanned.

Demaree Ends Cub Chances.

Cuyler started the tenth with a liner to Ott, his 14th hitless time at bat during the Giant series. Stephenson singled to left, but Demaree grounded into a double play, Critz to English to Terry.

Then came that sock by that injured Chicago citizen, Mr. Lindstrom.

Bush Seeks 19th Victory Today in Last with Giants

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 14.—Guy Bush will be sent after his 19th victory of the season in the final with the Giants tomorrow afternoon. He will be opposed by the plump Fred Fitzsimmons.

Dr. Andy Lotshaw, the Cubs' trainer, says that if there is anything wrong with the Cubs' batting eyes it is caused by the daily frequent peepings at the Pittsburgh-Boston scores. The scoreboards at the Polo grounds are placed on the upper deck façades. This has caused several of the nervous Cubs to develop stiff necks.

The Giants have signed a pitcher named Al Smith. Al is a dry, but, even so, is expected to be a favorite in New York.

After tomorrow's game the Cubs will dash to catch a 7 o'clock train for Philadelphia, where they will play a single game Friday and a double header Saturday to conclude the eastern phase of their travels. No one has forgotten the woozy nature of the Saturday double header the Cubs had in Philadelphia on Aug. 6. The Cubs won, 10 to 9 and 10 to 8, but how they suffered.

After Demaree today had been trapped by the trick tagging stunt near third for the second time in a week, Coach Charley O'Leary called the young man for a little lesson on how to protect himself from the maneuver. Frank said he would be careful the next time.

Indians Get 15 Hits; Beat Red Sox, 9-0

Cleveland, O., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—The Indians hammered out a 9 to 0 triumph over the Boston Red Sox today, led by Burnett, Averill and Cissell. The three sluggers collected 10 of Cleveland's 15 hits. Cissell had four in four times at bat, Averill three out of four and Burnett three out of five, including a homer. PRINCE SAUNDERS WINS DECISION OVER DELMONT

Prince Saunders, colored lightweight, won a ten round decision over Danny Delmont last night in the main bout at the Northwest stadium.

About $00 watched Saunders come from behind to earn the verdict. Delmont had a slight advantage at the end of the fifth round.

DVONCH KNOCKS OUT CARLSON IN OPENING ROUND

Duffy Dvonch, Great Lakes heavyweight boxer, went into the final round in the Central A. A. U. senior boxing championships last night at the Western stadium by knocking out John Carlson, Arcade gymnasium, in the first round. Dvonch will meet Frank Ketter, Belle Plaine Athletic club, for the heavyweight title next Tuesday.

Lenny Cohen, Trafton's gym, and Max Karpman, Biggerstaff Athletic club, will meet for the flyweight title next Tuesday night.

Ouimet Shoots Record 30 in Amateur Golf

of Chicago, last year's runner-up. Westland entered the second round by soundly beating a fellow Chicagoan, Johnny Lehmann, 7 and 6.

Pairings in the quarter finals tomorrow, and the order in which the twosomes will tee off, follow:

9:30 a. m. and 1:30 p. m.—Chick Evans, Chicago, vs. Jesse P. Guilford, Boston.

9:40 a. m. and 1:40 p. m.—Ross Somerville, Canada, vs. Bill Blaney, Boston.

9:50 a. m. and 1:50 p. m.—Johnny Fischer, Cincinnati, vs. Francis Ouimet, Boston.

10 a. m. and 2 p. m.—Maurice McCarthy Jr., New York, vs. Johnny Goodman, Omaha.

Ouimet and Voigt held the gallery in a spell this morning as they fought out a contest designed to go down in history as one of the greatest ever played. Ouimet made a spectacular start when he holed a ten foot putt for a birdie 3 on the first hole. Voigt had a four and then sank a 10 footer himself for a birdie 3 on the second hole to square the match. This was the last chance he had against Ouimet's invincible golf.

On the third hole Ouimet put his second shot dead to the pin for another birdie and became one up. The margin grew to two up when he laid his pitch shot within a yard of the fourth hole for a 2.

They halved the next hole, but on the dog leg sixth, Ouimet came out of the rough to within four feet of the cup and again holed the putt. He did the same thing on the seventh, taking a 3. He missed a twelve foot putt for a birdie 3 on the eighth, after Voigt had partially stymied him, and took a par three on the ninth to be out in 30. Voigt, who finished one under par, was 4 down at the turn.

Voigt was in trouble on the tenth, Ouimet winning the hole with a par 4. On the eleventh and twelfth Ouimet again casually took his par. The match came to a sudden and dramatic end on the short thirteenth when Ouimet, four feet from the hole on his tee shot, sank the putt for a 2.

FRANK PETROLLE BOXES ROSS ON COLISEUM CARD

Barney Ross vs. Frankie Petrolle [10].
Frankie Wallace vs. Paul Dazzo [8].
Jackie Sharkey vs. Sammy Levine [8].
Nick Scialaba vs. Pat Flowers [6].
Harry Schuman vs. Clifford Greenwood [6].

Barney Ross, Chicago lightweight, and Frankie Petrolle, junior welterweight, meet in the ten round windup at the Coliseum tonight.

BARNEY ROSS.

Four bouts, two at eight rounds and two at six, will compose the balance of the card, which will be the first presented in the Coliseum since last September, when King Levinsky beat Joe Sekyra. It also will be the first show Jack Art has promoted in over two years.

Petrolle is making his first appearance in Chicago. He is a younger brother of Billy Petrolle, the Fargo Express.

Frankie has been fighting professionally for four years. He sprang into the limelight following two victories over Bat Battalino.

Frankie Wallace, Cleveland featherweight, and Paul Dazzo, a former Golden Gloves champion, meet in the eight round semi-final.

Jackie Sharkey, Minneapolis 126 pound boxer, and Sammy Levine of the west side, are matched in the other eight round encounter. Two six round encounters will bring together Nick Scialaba and Pat Flowers, and Harry Schuman and Clifford Greenwood.

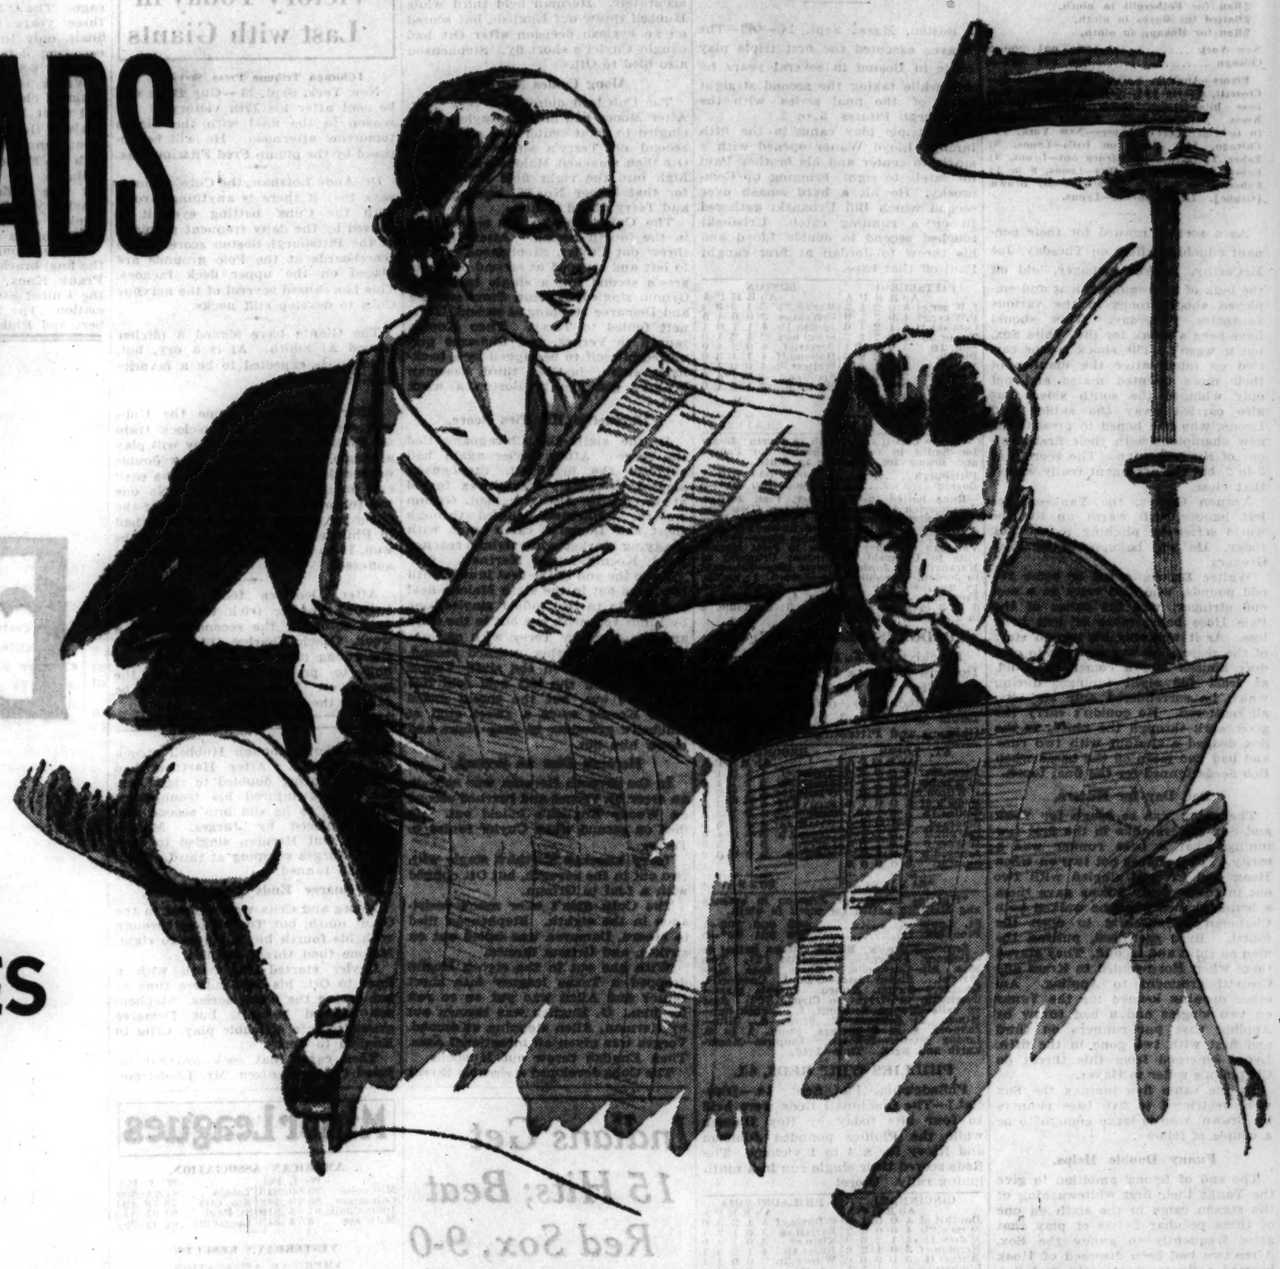
Why Chicago Tenants PREFER TO LOOK FOR THEIR APARTMENTS IN TRIBUNE WANT ADS



IT'S THE EASIEST AND QUICKEST WAY TO FIND CHICAGO'S BEST VALUES

Better apartments—and more of them! That—in brief—is the whole story of why Chicagoans prefer to look for their new homes in Tribune Want Ads.

* * * * *

IT'S the easiest and quickest way to find Chicago's finest apartment values. Landlords and rental agents select their most attractive apartments for their advertising in the Tribune. They do so because the Daily Tribune is Chicago's most popular newspaper, now has 200,000 more circulation in the city and suburbs than any other, reaches more families in every income group, and produces best results.

You get the benefit. Hundreds of attractive places to live in. And it doesn't matter how much rent you want to pay! $25—$50—$150—$250—the Tribune carries the choicest list at every range of rents.

The Tribune saves you time. It saves you energy. Apartments are conveniently grouped. And—when you choose your apartment from these columns—you have the satisfaction of knowing you have chosen from the cream of the market!

Agents! Landlords!

Have you investigated the Tribune's new low rates on running copy? Do you know that they are now the lowest per thousand readers since 1920? Call Superior 0100—Ad-Viser, for full information.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

JOSEPHINE QUINN DIES SUDDENLY; TEACHER 40 YRS.

Widely Known for Rescue of Wayward Boys.

Miss Josephine Lorraine Quinn, 56 years old, of 524 Surf street, a teacher for nearly 40 years in Chicago public schools, died yesterday in the John B. Murphy Memorial hospital. Death resulted from a cerebral hemorrhage suffered Monday as she resumed her duties as assistant principal of the Kelvyn Park Junior High school.

Miss Quinn, in addition to her duties as a teacher, which she began at the age of 16, was active in reclaiming wayward boys. Police officers at half a dozen stations near which she taught at one time or another made a practice of paroling boys caught in petty offenses to her. In all she was given credit for "straightening out" hundreds of youthful offenders.

First Choir Chaperon.

Miss Quinn was also known as the first choir chaperon in the world. She held that post with the boys' Paulist choir of St. Mary's church, 9th street and Wabash avenue, when the choir went to Paris in 1912 and won the international choir contest there. Father Eugene O'Malley, present choirmaster, was a boy soloist in the choir then. He recalled yesterday that Miss Quinn boxed his ears in Paris for indulging in forbidden sweetmeats.

Miss Quinn was one of the founders of the Chicago Teachers' union and was long a member of the National Education association. She was active in the campaign to obtain pay for the teachers and at the time of her death was one of those urging participation of the board of education in application to the Reconstruction Finance corporation for funds to rehabilitate Chicago slums, holding that slum eradication was an urgent educational activity.

Hold Funeral Saturday.

Miss Quinn was born near Hyde's Mill, in Iowa county, Wis., where her parents were pioneer settlers. Three brothers, Frank M. Quinn of Chicago, James E. Quinn, Dolton, and Louis P. Quinn, Ridgeway, Wis., and two sisters, Miss Helen P. Quinn of Chicago and Mrs. James Laughlin of Ridgeway, survive.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Saturday in St. Bridget's Roman Catholic church at Ridgeway, followed by burial in the Catholic cemetery there.

CHAS. H. GABRIEL, 76, NOTED AS COMPOSER OF HYMNS, IS DEAD

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Charles Hutchinson Gabriel, 76, composer of more than 8,000 hymns, expired at the Hollywood home of his son, C. H. Gabriel Jr., today after illness which followed grief at the death of his wife one year ago.

CHARLES H. GABRIEL.

Mr. Gabriel, who was born in Wilton, Ia., in 1856, resided for most of his life in Chicago, where his interests included a music publishing firm. He retired to the Pacific coast in 1925 and resided in Berkeley.

He was the author and composer of the famous "Glory Song," "Brighten the Corner Where You Are," "Since Jesus Came Into My Heart," and "There Is Glory in My Soul." Thirty million copies of his "Glory Song" were published.

Mr. Gabriel was married in San Francisco to Amelia Moore, daughter of a pioneer California family, in 1888. She died in April, 1931, and her husband's health thereafter declined.

Besides his son, Charles Jr., a newspaper man formerly on The Chicago Tribune, he is survived by five sisters—Mrs. Nellie Kaye, Mary Hedges, and Melita Rich of Cedar Rapids, Ia.; Mrs. Elgiva Harris of Chicago, and Mrs. James Dunkel of St. Paul, Minn.

PHILADELPHIA SCHOOLS SHUT; FEAR PARALYSIS

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 14.—[Special.] — Declaring twenty-one new cases of infantile paralysis reported today to be a "very serious matter," Dr. J. Norman Henry, director of public health, announced the further postponement of the opening of all Philadelphia schools until Sept. 27.

This date, he said, was "conditional" upon an improvement in the situation. The opening of schools had been delayed first until Sept. 20.

Three more deaths from the disease were reported today, bringing the total since July 1 to 59. There have been 555 cases reported.

Hoover Proclamation Sets Oct. 11 as Pulaski Day

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—(AP)—President Hoover by official proclamation today invited the nation to commemorate next Oct. 11 the 153d anniversary of the death of Brig. Gen. Casimir Pulaski, who died of wounds while serving under George Washington.

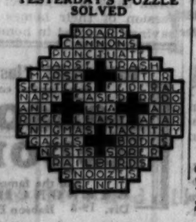
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



M'KEE CARRIES BATTLE TO HOLD OFFICE TO COURT

Mayor's Plea Opposed by Tammany Man.

New York, Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Supreme Court Justice John E. McGeehan reserved decision today after counsel for Mayor Joseph V. McKee and Tammany Hall had presented arguments before him in their legal battle to determine the right of the mayor to hold office until Jan. 1, 1934.

John Godfrey Saxe of the Tammany law committee opposed the contentions of former Gov. Nathan L. Miller and Harold R. Medina, counsel for the mayor, that under section ninety-four of the city charter an election for mayor cannot he held this fall.

The controversy was waged in the form of two mandamus actions, one seeking to compel the board of elections to hold an election for mayor this fall, the other seeking to restrain the board from holding such an election.

Mr. Medina, a former law partner of the mayor's, who is associated with Mr. Miller in this case, argued the mayor's case from the standpoint of the city charter.

The Greater New York charter forbids a special election for mayor this year and provides that in the event of a vacancy the president of the board of aldermen shall serve out the full term, former Gov. Miller said in his argument.

OPINION HOLDS AUTO LOTTERIES ARE ILLEGAL

Corporation Counsel Sexton ruled yesterday that the sales promotion schemes in which automobiles or other merchandise are given to holders of lucky numbers are illegal. He held that practically all of the sales plans, which have become popular within the last few months, are lotteries.

"It is a well settled rule of law that any scheme or device whereby the amount that a customer is to receive is dependent upon luck or chance constitutes a lottery and hence is illegal," the opinion prepared by Assistant Corporation Counsel and approved by Mr. Sexton read.

The opinion was delivered to Commissioner of Police Allman, who inquired as to the legality of a merchandise sales scheme proposed by Isaac Mandelstein for the sale of coupons at 1 cent each to merchants, who would issue them free to customers. Each week 100 prizes of $10 cash would be distributed to the holders of certain numbered coupons. While the opnion was given in relation to this scheme, its wording was held to be applicable to practically all the free merchandise schemes.

TURKISH PRINCESS HERE; TO STUDY AT ROCKFORD

Princess Esma, a great-granddaughter of the Sultan Abdelkader of Algeria, who has come to this country from Turkey for a year's study at Rockford college, arrived at the Hotel La Salle last night. She will leave for Rockford this afternoon.

Coming on a scholarship, she plans to study philosophy and journalism. As a correspondent for an English and a French newspaper, she is probably the only woman reporter in Turkey.

Although an Algerian, she explained, she is a Turkish citizen and was educated in schools there, including the Constantinople Woman's college in Istambul, where her studies included history, philosophy, literature and journalism.

Fasts 57 Days in Effort to Starve Out His Asthma

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Louis Garden, 47 year old Rosemont miner, tried to cure his asthma by fasting. Physicians at the Weston State hospital, near Clarksburg, reported he had been received into that institution today after fifty-seven days of fasting and that his mind was clouded. He received medicine and nourishment and may survive.

TAKE BODY FROM RIVER.

His wrist slashed, the body of Nels Nelson, 65 years old, 2370 Cisbourn avenue, unemployed, was taken from the north branch of the river at Fullerton avenue yesterday. Nelson's watch was still running.

WOMAN INDICTED AS HABITUAL CRIMINAL FOR THE FIRST TIME

Miss Dorothy Kerwin, 38 years old, was named yesterday in the first indictment under the habitual criminal act ever returned against a woman in Cook county. She was charged with the theft of a purse from a woman shopper in a loop store.

The habitual criminal act may be invoked against any second offender thought to be an incurable criminal. Conviction carries a mandatory maximum sentence. If found guilty, Miss Kerwin would be sent to the women's penitentiary at Dwight for 10 years.

Miss Kerwin, known to police as a pickpocket, has been arrested a score of times under 13 aliases. Her first trouble with authorities came in 1928, when she was sentenced to serve 1 to 10 years by Judge Harry B. Miller for taking $23 from the purse of Kathryn Todd, who lived at 11452 Forrestville avenue. She was released from the penitentiary in July of this year. On Aug. 6 she was arrested in a loop store after she had seized the purse of Miss Marie Simpson, an employé of the Binkley Coal company, 230 North Michigan avenue.

MRS. O. L. BLAIR'S FUNERAL WILL BE HELD TODAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Ophelia Lawrence Blair, who died Tuesday morning in her home at 5120 South Keeler avenue after a two months' illness, will be held at 11 a. m. today from the chapel at 4227 Cottage Grove avenue. Burial will be in Elmwood cemetery. Mrs. Blair, a writer, poet, and lecturer, was 78 years old. She was born in Russellville, Ky.

Mrs. Blair was educated in Louisville, was tutored in languages in the Frankin [Ky.] Female college and later did newspaper and magazine work in Little Rock, Ark., specializing on woman suffrage.

She was the founder of the Southern Women's club here, and honorary life president. Mrs. Blair formerly was secretary of the Archer Avenue Civic league. Surviving are two sons, M. L. Blair of Cincinnati, and John M. Blair of Albion, and her stepmother, Mrs. Lucy Lawrence of Owensboro, Ky.

RETURN VERDICT OF ACCIDENT IN HURLEY DEATH

A verdict of accidental death was returned yesterday by a coroner's jury investigating the death of Mrs. Florence Amberg Hurley, wife of Edward N. Hurley, former head of the United States shipping board and chairman of the board of the Hurley Machine company. She was killed Sept. 6 when an automobile in which she was riding, driven by her son-in-law, William A. Ryan, was struck by an Illinois Central freight train at the Butterfield road crossing at Berkeley.

No relatives attended the inquest, which was held at 1158 North Clark street. James G. Condon, attorney and member of the law firm with which Ryan and his father, Andrew J. Ryan, are associated, represented the family.

W. W. Norton, Accountant, Dies in Wilmette at 73

William W. Norton died suddenly of a heart attack in his home at 614 Central avenue, Wilmette, yesterday. He was 73 years old and had been an accountant with the Illinois Steel company for 30 years until his retirement three years ago. He is survived by a son, Howard E., and two brothers. Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon in the chapel at 1118 Greenleaf avenue, Wilmette. The body will be sent to Lockport for burial.

George A. Jenkins, Veteran Actor, Dies at Age of 71

Columbus, O., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Another of the old time minstrel men, George A. Jenkins, 71, died at his home today. The aged trouper, on the stage since he was 18, was a black faced fun maker with Al G. Fields for years. He served with Fields as an end man, a singer, and a dancer.

BANKERS URGED TO ADVERTISE TO BUILD BUSINESS

New Jersey Delegate Wins Prize.

Financial advertising was described as a necessity and not a luxury by H. A. Lyon, advertising manager of the Bankers Trust company of New York, in an address to three hundred delegates to the convention of the Financial Advertisers' association in the Congress hotel yesterday.

"If a financial institution wishes to continue in business it will find advertising of great help," he said. "Advertising will help financial institutions to confine the field of finance to trained and legitimate bankers."

Allard Smith, executive vice president of the Union Trust company of Cleveland, declared that banks must start immediately on a persistent campaign of advertising built upon a program of educational copy that is persistent and steady. "We must use advertising to help restore universal public confidence in banks," he said. "Last minute advertising is an attempt to lock the stable after the horse is gone."

Low Pressure Selling.

Roy Booth Jr. of the National Shawmut bank of Boston described the present as a period of "low pressure selling" as contrasted with the recent "high pressure era." He urged more cultivation of existing customers.

Jacob Kushner of the United States Trust company of Paterson, N. J., won a contest for the best three minute talk on "How I'm Meeting Present Business Conditions" at a luncheon yesterday. He said that in 1930 there were 16 banks, 35 building and loan associations, and six bond and mortgage companies in Paterson, a city of 138,000 persons. The scene was set for failures.

"As the largest commercial bank in the city, we realized that the responsibility of leadership fell on us," he said. "Together with the other large banks, we entered into an agreement to help any local bank in distress. Soon thereafter a bank became involved. This group immediately guaranteed its deposits and with our president as its head took over the management of that bank. A few weeks later a second bank experienced difficulties and a similar guarantee of deposits followed.

Holds Business Structure.

"We increased our newspaper advertising and we received splendid cooperation from our newspapers. All our 16 banks, 35 building and loan associations, and six mortgage and bond houses still are open and doing business."

Six representatives of Canadian banks were registered at the convention yesterday among the more than 300 delegates. This is the largest representation from Canada in the history of the organization.

Doctor Who Attended Birth of British Royalty Dies

LONDON, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Sir Henry Simson, who probably brought more famous British children into the world than any other contemporary doctor, died yesterday of a heart attack. He was 60 years old. Sir Henry was in attendance at the births of Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret Rose, children of the duke of York.

Drowning at Oak Street Beach Called Suicide

A verdict of suicide was returned yesterday at the inquest into the death of Harry Vercamp, 41 years old, 1008 West 80th street, a former employé of the Foreman Trust and Savings bank, whose body was recovered from the lake at Oak street early in the day. Vercamp had been unemployed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 14.—Speculative bonds, especially the railroad section, retreated further today as late selling came into the market to spoil the effects of early stability. Carrier numbers slumped 1 to 3 in the last hour. Sellers apparently took their cue from weakness in commodities and liquidation of shares on the stock exchange.

The upset in the speculative sector, however, had little effect on high-grade liens, the better class railroad, industrial and utility numbers showing impressive resistance, as did the treasury and foreign lists.

Speculative Bonds Weaker.

Speculative bonds for the most part churned about uncertainly in the forenoon before giving way to a fresh spell of weakness. Having recovered late yesterday from their lows of the reaction they were unable to extend their gains appreciably during early trading. Carrier obligations affected most acutely in the late selling included such issues as Baltimore & Ohio 4½s, due 1960; Chicago and North Western convertible 4½s, Erie refunding 5s, issues of Missouri Pacific, New York Central refunding 5s, Nickel Plate 6s and others.

Foreign Bonds Fare Better.

There was a decidedly better tone to the market for foreign bonds, led again by the whole German list which was, in turn, inspired by a sharp recovery in reich obligations. Danish 5½s advanced above 86 on an odd transaction which brought the price more than 27 points above the year's low. At the same time Copenhagen 4½s, advanced four points, which increased the total recovery to 28 points. German agricultural bank bonds were strong, especially the 6s.

Italian 7s sold at substantially higher prices on a few transactions.

Public offering of $4,000,000 of refunding gold bonds, 6½ per cent, due May 1, 1942, of the California-Oregon Power company, a part of the Standard Gas and Electric system, was made by a group headed by the Chase-Harris-Forbes corporation. The bonds were priced at 93, to yield more than 7½ per cent.

Holland Furnace.

Will you please send me information on the common stock of Holland Furnace company?—A. L. E.

Holland Furnace company was incorporated 26 years ago. It is the largest manufacturer of warm-air furnaces. It has recently developed air cooling and conditioning systems. Sales are effected mostly through its 576 branches.

A large proportion of its business is replacements. Results in this division have been adversely affected by generally reduced purchasing power of the public. The drastic decline in building has curtailed the sale of new equipment.

Net loss for the twelve months to June 30, 1932, was $248,000, against net profit of $713,000, or $1.43 per common share, for the preceding twelve months.

For the fiscal year ended March 31, 1932, sales were $13,214,000, a 22.7 per cent decline from sales of $17,086,000 for the preceding fiscal year. Net income was $266,609, or 41 cents per common share, against net income of $1,676,000, or $3.67 per common share, for the year ended March 31, 1931. Net income in the 1930 calendar year was $1,655,000, against $2,202,000 for 1929 and $1,245,000 for 1928.

On March 31, 1932, current assets were $10,824,000 and current liabilities were $1,572,000, a ratio of 6.88 to 1. Cash was $380,000, accounts receivable were $1,511,000, instalment contracts receivable were $6,769,000, and inventories, at the lower of cost or market, were $1,841,000. Notes payable were $300,000. Working capital was $9,252,000, against $10,449,000 the year before.

Funded debt totals $2,422,000. There are outstanding 11,055 shares of $7 cumulative preferred [par $100] and 429,351 shares of no par common.

A dividend of 25 cents per common share was paid July 1, 1932. The Oct. 1, 1932, common dividend was passed. The preferred deserves a fairly good rating. The common is speculative.

Consolidated Mica Hill Mining.

Among some old papers I find certificates of Consolidated Mica Hill Mining corporation, incorporated in Illinois in 1877. Are they of any value?—T. W. E.

A letter received by this department on March 18, 1918, from Lewis G. Stevenson, then secretary of state of Illinois, reads as follows:

"I am in receipt of your letter of March 16, relative to the above corporation.

"In reply I would advise that the name of this corporation was changed to American Nitrogen company July 9, 1908. The charter was canceled April 15, 1914, for failure to make the annual report required by statute."

The company is dead.

N. Y. Central May Take Lackawanna.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 14.—The New York Central railroad has decided to obtain working control of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, according to information obtained in authoritative quarters today.

While the terms for an exchange of securities have not been worked out, it will only be a matter of time before a formal announcement of the action will be made.

In some quarters this was considered as the chief cause for the more optimistic statement issued following the meeting yesterday of eastern railroad executives who are discussing consolidations of major lines in this district.

Two Plans Involved.

The interstate commerce commission's earlier plan to consolidate the eastern carriers assigned Lackawanna to the Chesapeake and Ohio and Nickel Plate system, but the later four system plan proposed by the New York Central, Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio, and Chesapeake and Ohio, assigned Lackawanna to the Central. The interstate commerce commission amended that plan so as to divide control of the Lackawanna.

The Central has acquired, through purchase at various times, something in excess of $7,790,000 par value of Lackawanna stocks which are held by Securities corporation, a wholly owned New York Central subsidiary.

At the close of 1930 the company owned a large interest in Lackawanna, and since that date large purchases of the stock have been made in line with the four system plan.

A merger of the two roads would bring together the Lackawanna, with total assets of more than $200,000,000, and the New York Central, with total assets in excess of $1,800,000,000.

May Improve Status.

The earnings position of both New York Central and Lackawanna now indicates that material improvement may be expected, preliminary figures for the former covering August showing an advance over July and a shrinkage in the decrease when compared with the corresponding month a year ago from that shown in July.

In the case of the Lackawanna, where the tonnage of freight moved is almost 60 per cent in coal, the approaching movement of coal promises improved results.

Indicated net railway operating income of Central for August is slightly better than $2,000,000, with a deficit on fixed charges of something more than $1,000,000.

It is estimated in some quarters that New York Central will earn this year about $40,000,000 of its $60,000,000 fixed charges, while there has been no increase in the road's bank loans.

SELLING AGAIN SENDS CHICAGO STOCKS LOWER

Selling again broke over the Chicago stock market yesterday, sweeping stocks to lower levels on a turnover which reached 94,000 shares.

Selling centered in shares which have recently shown conspicuous strength. Bendix was forced down 2¼ points under the liquidation and Borg sold off to 10.

Rather heavy trading in Middle West Utilities common was a feature of the trading. The price was lower, with most of the stock changing hands at 37½ cents a share. Commonwealth Edison recovered a point of its previous day's loss. The preferred stock of Central and Southwest Utilities, subholding company of the Middle West system, broke 7 points to 10.

Losses were shown in other classes of stocks. Swift International, Marshall Field, and Union Carbide each sold off.

Schulte Cigar Store Chain Plans to Readjust Leases

New York, Sept. 14.—(AP)—The Schulte Retail Stores company, a large tobacco chain store organization, announced today that a "radical adjustment of its leases is imperative" as a means of bringing store rental costs in line with present conditions.

TREASURY TO BORROW $1,285,848,500 DURING THE CURRENT MONTH

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—(AP)—A total borrowing of $1,285,848,500 in the September financing of the government was announced today by Secretary Mills.

The secretary said that the treasury had accepted $834,401,500 of the $4,351,749,900 of subscriptions to its offering of 3¼ per cent five year treasury notes dated tomorrow, and had accepted $451,447,000 of the $3,069,449,000 subscriptions to the 1¾ per cent certificates of indebtedness which run for one year.

CONVERSION OF FRENCH BONDS TO FACE FIGHT

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Sept. 14.—That the French conversion of government bonds probably won't have the desired unanimity when parliament votes on the plan over the week-end was made evident today by an article by Leon Blum, leader of the Socialist party, in his newspaper, Populaire.

Blum indicates the Socialists feel that small holders, who have already lost 80 per cent of the value of their bonds in the revalorization of the franc, are being ill treated and, unless especially compensated, the Socialists won't support the measure.

Le Temps in an editorial ridicules this stand tonight, quoting the civil code to the effect that "perpetual rentes essentially are redeemable." Temps asks why Socialist have such scruples, since "for them private property is the source of all evils and amputations of capital always are salutary."

The conversion plan will affect about 85,000,000,000 francs' worth of rentes with a budgetary economy of about 1,300,000,000 francs annually plus about 700,000,000 francs derived from a separate agreement with the sinking fund. The new rentes will comprise only one type for the various kinds being converted.

ROYAL BOARD TO ASK BILLION CAPITAL SLASH

Canadian Nat'l R. R. Report's Target.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 14.—The Montreal Daily Star, in a special dispatch from Ottawa, says the report of the royal commission on railway transportation, at work a year, is to be transmitted to Premier Bennett tomorrow. The report touches the Canadian Pacific railroad, but deals chiefly with the Canadian National system.

Four important recommendations are expected:

1. Both C. P. R. and C. N. R. to retain their separate characters.

2. The appointment of a board of three members, one to be appointed by the C. P. R., one by the C. N. R., and the third, who shall be chairman, will be the chairman of the railway commission.

3. Reduction of the present C. N. R. board of directors from 16 members to a smaller number.

4. Recapitalization of the C. N. R., probably at $1,600,000,000, with the understanding that drastic efforts be made to have the road earn its carrying charge on that reduced figure.

Would Cut Off Billion.

The present capitalization stands at approximately $2,600,000,000.

The foregoing recommendations indicate that an exhaustive analysis shows the situation presents difficulties which are attributed to two main causes—namely: shrinkage in the volume of the traffic and unjustified and ruinous competition. For the first the only cure is the return of better times; for the second, the arbitration board is prescribed.

The board of arbitration, as the commissioners propose it, will be a long step along the road to a railway dictatorship in Canada. It will have power to recommend economies on both roads and, while it will hear representations from the roads in respect to any steps which it may propose, it will be so powerful that its recommendations will be virtually mandatory.

For Special Cases.

In cases of exceptional difficulty of adjudication, the master of the exchequer court is to have the power to name two additional members. In order that the board may be kept free of any suggestion whatever of politics, no one is to be eligible for membership on it who, within the last five years prior to his appointment, has been either a member of parliament or a civil servant.

SEARS-ROEBUCK TO START BANK PLAN FOR BUYING

An innovation in banking and merchandising was announced yesterday by Sears, Roebuck and company and the Sears Community State bank with the completion of plans for a "shopping savings" service for the Sears Chicago retail stores.

Under the new system, starting Sept. 19, savings depositors of the Sears Community State bank, an affiliate of the mail order and retail merchandising house, may use their passbooks in making purchases at any of the seven Sears retail stores in Chicago.

The amount of the purchase will be charged off on the book, just as a withdrawal is charged off at a bank.

To provide proper identification of passbook holders, savings customers will be photographed at the bank. A special camera, which not only takes a picture of the passbook holder, but also photographs his signature and other identifying information, has been installed there. The identification card including the photograph is made part of the passbaak.

States Seek Laws to Favor Federal Anti-Slum Loans

BY SCRUTATOR.

With Illinois and other states preparing legislation that will permit them to take advantage of government loans for slum clearance and low-cost housing projects, considerable discussion of that phase of the federal relief program has arisen. The rush for legislation developed from the fact that only New York state had laws under which such housing projects could be carried out.

Both the National Association of Real Estate Boards and the American Construction council have sent out letters to their members, state governors and mayors of the principal cities calling attention to the importance of enacting measures which will enable housing corporations to get loans through the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Limits Scope of Loans.

The basis of federal loans, however, has raised some questions, as it provides for borrowing only by "corporations formed wholly for the purpose of providing housing for families of low income or for reconstruction of slum areas" and such corporations must be "regulated by state or municipal law as to rents, charges, capital structure, rate of return and areas and methods of operation." Finally, the projects must be self-liquidating.

New York housing corporations are limited to 6 per cent dividends and required to restrict rentals to $12.50 per month per room in the borough of Manhattan. As that might not be considered a low rental in other communities, it devolves on other states and cities to fix their own standards.

May Affect Public Revenues.

"How this provision is administered is of great importance, if such projects charging less than economic rent as may be set up are not to be destructive of private property in the vicinity and are not, incidentally, to reduce the taxable base for local government," Herbert U. Nelson of Chicago, executive secretary of the real estate association, points out. "It is hoped that plans can be worked out with respect to the terms under which the loans will be made so as not further to upset rental conditions in the cities affected and so as to enable private business engaged in housing as well as limited dividend corporations to take advantage of the loans."

The National Association of Building Trades Employers deals with another phase of the subject by saying: "Blighted and semi-blighted areas are the most promising fields for new construction. Land is accessible at bargain prices and considering lower building wages, housing projects could be erected to rent at reasonable levels and give the investor a fair rate of return."

Widely Used in England.

While slum-clearing is not a new idea in this country, it is better developed in England. The London Times recently commented on the fact that the state-assisted housing program has never paid its way and that the cost to the taxpayer this year will exceed $40,000,000.

"It is notorious that one unexpected and unintentional result of the subsidy system has been that in some cases the taxpayers and ratepayers have been paying in order that people as well off or better off than themselves may live in houses at uneconomic rents," it adds. However, the United States government does not propose to subsidize slum-clearing, but merely to make loans to qualified private corporations.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 14.—The stock market fell again in the late trading today. While the popular inclination was to blame the break on the fresh dip of commodity prices, some observers thought it could be tied up, like that of yesterday, with politics, having reference to rumors that Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt's speech at Topeka, Kas., could be interpreted as bearish from the Wall street viewpoint.

Net losses in the active list ranged as high as 8 points, with most of the so-called pivotals off from 3 to 5 points. Utility and railroad shares were sold in heavy volume and both groups tumbled abruptly.

Some of Principal Declines.

Some of the more pronounced declines of the day included Atlantic Coast Line, off 9¼; Case Threshing Machine, down 8¼; Pere Marquette, 7⅞; Boston and Maine, 5; International Harvester, 5⅝; Auburn Auto, 5¼; Industrial Rayon, 4¾; American Telephone, 4½; Allied Chemical and Dye, 4½, and Coca Cola and Delaware and Lackawanna, 4 points each.

Tuning Up

We are making more and more loans of $600—$800—$1200—to a splendid class of executives—managers—and to excellent families who find the kind of loan we make and the way we make it, admirably suited in tuning their affairs to the times.

We are glad to have the opportunity to "fill the gap" in this period when things are on the mend. We are anxious for more and more of such opportunities to be useful in this great city.

PRICE OF WHEAT DECLINES AGAIN ON LARGE SALES

Rumors Fill Market with Uncertainty.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Liquidation by holders of wheat, both large and small, carried wheat prices off 2¾@3c yesterday after a fractional early advance. Stop loss orders were uncovered in profusion on the way down. The break did not culminate until the December had sold at 52c, or 8c under the high of last week, and at the inside futures were only 2¼@2¼c above the season's low point.

Numerous rumors were current after the close as to the cause of the selling movement, but they lacked confirmation. The most readily accepted belief was that the trade both in the east and elsewhere feared that Gov. Roosevelt in his speech scheduled to be delivered after the close at Topeka, Kas., would advocate further farm relief.

Strong Buying Is Lacking.

There was a very apparent lack of aggressive buying after the wheat market started downward. Buying against bids checked the decline for a moment, but later the sellers of the bids were forced to protect themselves. Stop loss orders in some instances were executed well below limits, and it was not until shorts started to cover that the market showed a disposition to rally.

Another wave of selling appeared in wheat immediately before the close. The finish was within a fraction of the bottom, with net losses of 2@2¾c. September was 48¾c at the last, the lowest it has been since Aug. 3 and compared with the season's low of 46⅝c. December was 53¼@52⅝, and May 57⅝@57¾c at the close.

There has been a feeling of uneasiness on the part of some trader for several days, and the failure of the wheat market to have a rally of consequence since the December sold at 60c, following the announcement that the farm board was out of the market, tended to increase the bearish sentiment. The supply and demand position continues to be regarded as extremely weak. Despite yesterday's sharp break there was no export demand of consequence for American hard winter, although some business was understood to have been put through at the Gulf.

Canada Sells Wheat Abroad.

A tremendous export business was put through in Manitoba wheat during the day, sales being variously estimated at 2,000,000 to 4,000,000 bu. According to some reports the aggregate was the largest for one day in several years. The United Kingdom was said to have been the leading buyer, with the bulk of the grain to go out via the Pacific coast.

Removal of hedges against the export sales were effective in holding the Winnipeg wheat market around Tuesday's finish a good part of the day, but it weakened toward the last with Chicago and closed 1¾@1¼c lower, with all deliveries at a new low for the season. The December was 52⅛c in Canadian funds at the last, or ¼c under Chicago. Liverpool closed ⅝c per bu higher, with December at 57⅝c.

Grain traders in commenting on Gov. Roosevelt's speech at Topeka, Kas., which was received after the close, regarded it as the equilization debenture fee plan in a new form. They expressed the belief it was impractical as far as helping the farmer was concerned.

Corn Sold for Export.

Corn showed relatively independent strength early, reflecting reports of export sales of 56,000 bu white corn to Scandinavia from the seaboard, but liquidation developed later and the December and May dropped 1¾c from the early high to a new low for the season, while September sold at 27c, equaling the inside figure so far. Closing sales were at net losses of ½@1c, with September 27¼c, December 29½c, and May 34⅝c.

According to trade gossip there has been more export business passing in corn than reported. In addition to the white grain reported sold during the day there were intimations of further business. Some yellow corn is understood to have been sold out of Buffalo and also new grain was said to have been taken at the Gulf for November-December shipment. The country sold 70,000 bu to arrive, while the east was practically out of the market.

Oats failed to get as low on Wednesday as they did the previous day, closing unchanged to ¼c lower, with the September finishing at 15c, the lowest figure of the season. According to available records the lowest price at which cash oats ever sold in the Chicago market was 11c in January, 1843, or 6c under the inside price paid yesterday. December finished at 17⅝@17¾c and May at 20⅝c. Rye was off ⅝c with wheat. September closed at 30⅞c, December 33⅜c, and May 38⅝c.

MOST OF CORN SAFE

Condition of the corn crop has been favorable for maturity and the bulk of it is safe from frost over the greater part of the country, says the government weekly weather and crop report. It is almost entirely matured in the north central states and much cutting has been done for silloes. The crop has suffered severely from drought in south Atlantic states and in southwestern sections, especially in Kansas and eastern Oklahoma.

North Dakota crop report says production was decreased due to prolonged drought, which did not end until well after the middle of August, and temperatures were above normal, which forced crops to an early maturity.

The Red river valley suffered more from drought than did most of the other sections of the state, the drought causing considerable damage to late crops, especially corn, flax, and potatoes.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today: Cattle, 6,000; hogs, 19,000; sheep, 19,000.

The cattle market continued its advance yesterday. Top steers moved up 10c more to $10.35, making the highest mark since last January. This price equals the highest sale in cattle during the period May to September, 1931, and stands 10c above the high point of September last year. Since the low time three months ago, the top cattle price has advanced $2.70 or 35 per cent.

The seasonal advance in top sales during this period in 1931 amounted to $1.85 or 20 per cent. In 1930 there was a sharp summer and fall break in cattle prices.

Receipts Are Smaller.

Receipts were short again yesterday and tonnage lighter than usual owing to the larger share of light steers in the run. Prime weighty beeves set the pace early and maintained the lead over other classes and grades all day. Eastern buyers paid the new top for 1,284 lb steers, but encountered a lot of local competition in this class. Wilson also obtained a top load that averaged 1,194.

Ten dollars soon became a common price for highly finished weighty beeves. The bulk of all steers sold within a wider range of $6.75@10.00, making a mean price of $8.35, which is 10c above the highest weekly average this year. More buying orders swung into butcher stock and boosted cows and heifers mostly 25c. Top yearling heifers reached $8.60. There was a fair supply in the stocker and feeder division, but prices held firm at $4.50@7.00. Seasonal loads of choice feeders reaching $7.25@7.35.

Hogs Suffer Decline.

Hogs commenced to lose ground slowly after a strong to shade higher opening yesterday. Before the finish the market had been stripped of its slight strength and all classes closed at the low point of the session. Although the market was been rather unsettled all week, both the top and average prices have remained unchanged for three consecutive days, at $4.65 and $4.20, respectively. Owing to a gradual change in the character of receipts, quotations in various classes have been undergoing a readjustment. Some kinds are selling 10@15c above last week's close, while other classes are slightly lower for the week.

Sheep Receipts Small.

Sheep receipts yesterday were second smallest for Wednesday since July 20 and below any corresponding day in recent years. This decrease saved the market from a drubbing when wholesale lamb quotations broke to the lowest point since last May. Packers were bearish and pointed to the cut in values of lamb carcasses in making demands for a lower market. However, live costs were fully up to the preceding session and the clearance of the short supply was fairly early. Spots were considered stronger. Most sorted natives sold at $5.75@6.00, while bulk of range lambs went for slaughter at $6.00@6.25. A few specialties in the native class reached $6.50. More feeder lambs arrived yesterday and cleared quickly at $5.00@5.25, the highest prices of the season.

EGGS HIGHEST IN YEAR

New high marks were reached again on egg futures on the Chicago mercantile exchange yesterday, October going to 20½c and November to 21¼c. Net gains at ¾@1¼c figured $75 per car and $105 per car, respectively, in the two deliveries. Trading not only made a new high for the year in this commodity but was the heaviest since Oct. 8, 1930. The November price advanced to the highest level since a year ago today, when the market broke below 21c. No refrigerator egg contract has sold that high until today. November butter remained dull, gaining ¼c. Buying in eggs started with a rush and continued with but slight pause throughout the session. Overnight storage figures and early receipts proved bullish and new buying came out in heavy volume, aided by short covering. Realizing was extremely heavy. Even a less favorable four market storage report did not materially dampen the bullish enthusiasm. Sales: Butter, 23 cars; eggs, 385 cars. Prices follow:

COPPER SALES BELOW 6 CENTS MADE ABROAD

New York, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Further easiness developed in the foreign price of copper today. Sales were reported abroad at quotations ranging from 5.82½ to 5.92½ cents a pound, against a recent price of 6.25 cents, but volume of business at the lower level was so small that the trade said it attached little significance to the concessions.

Copper Exporters, Inc., held at 6.25 cents, with no sales reported. The London futures market, which dipped sharply yesterday, rallied slightly, but closed at prices equivalent to less than 6.25 cents.

Domestic producers continued to ask 6.25 cents, although it was reported that some metal was available under that figure.

OFFICIAL WEATHER FORECAST.

The official forecast for today and tomorrow and yesterday's table of records follow:

Wisconsin—Partly cloudy to cloudy, possibly a few local showers in north portion, cooler in northwest portion Thursday; Friday partly cloudy or cloudy and cooler.

Indiana—Generally fair, warmer Thursday; Friday unsettled and cooler.

Lower Michigan—Increasing cloudiness and warmer, possibly followed by local showers in north portion Thursday, with showers Thursday night or Friday, cooler Friday.

Upper Michigan—Unsettled with local showers, cooler in northwest portion Thursday; Friday mostly cloudy and cooler, possibly local showers.

Why pay more Than Household's low rate?

Cash loans up to $300 to husbands and wives at reasonable rates. Loans above $100 up to $300 made at a rate less than the usual small loan rate.

If you are keeping house and can make regular monthly payments, you have all the security needed for a Household loan.

Quick service. Strictly confidential. Husband and wife only need sign. No endorsers. 20 months to pay.

Commonwealth Customers—PAY LESS—for LOANS

COMMONWEALTH'S rate on amounts above $100 is substantially lower than the lawful rate usually charged.

THE personal property which nearly every family owns and the signature of husband and wife enable one to secure any amount up to $300 quickly and easily.

You get the full amount of the loan, and up to 25 months to repay. Interest at the REDUCED RATE is charged only while you keep the money.

Also Salary and Auto Loans.

STUDEBAKER OFFERS 1932 AND 1931 CARS AT REAL SAVINGS

We have a number of recent models, in all popular makes, that have only been driven a few months apiece. These are offered at TREMENDOUS REDUCTIONS for quick sale. 5 days' driving trial goes with each sale.

'31 STUDEBAKER ROADSTER. Here is a Free Wheeling Six with very smart appearance and sparkling performance. Spacious rumble seat and many valuable extras. The finish, upholstery, and tires appear brand new. Only $475.

'31 BUICK 8 SEDAN. This Buick is a real beauty and was driven a comparatively short time. The finish glistens like a new dollar and the upholstery is luxurious. Has a sweet running motor. Reduced to $545.

'32 DE SOTO ROADSTER. It really must be seen to be appreciated. Has Free Wheeling, Floating Power, dual horns, wire wire, side mounts, chromium tire covers, etc. Only driven a few thousand miles. Today, $575.

'32 ROCKNE SEDAN. It was used as a demonstrator for less than 60 days. Every detail of the interior and exterior is in the original new condition. Carries our regular full guarantee. Don't miss this one at our reduced price of $585.

'31 STUDEBAKER SEDAN. A Commander 8. Free Wheeler, with gilded wire wheels, and a wealth of extras. The finish has not a mar on it; the upholstery appears unused, and the motor is smooth and powerful. The car was owned by an official of this company who gave it the very best of care. A remarkable value at $805.

'31 PIERCE-ARROW VICTORIA. It's a fine pace, with wire mounts and extras galore. Was owned in conjunction with two other costly cars so this beautiful Pierce-Arrow saw very little service. It will certainly give the next owner new car satisfaction at $1,250.

'32 BUICK SEDAN. Equipped with wizard control, wire wheels, dual horns, etc. It surely looks and runs as though it were never driven a mile. Now can be purchased at only a very short time. It's 100% throughout. Reduced to $985.

'31 STUDEBAKER SPORT COUPE. It's a President 8 with wire wheels, side mounts, rumble seat, driving light, etc. Has lowdown, silent, powerful power and pep. Free Wheeling. Carries a 30 day free service guarantee. Will not remain long at $895.
